

SEEKING PEACE IN MEXICO

MEXICAN GOV'T

Appoints Peace Commission to Treat
With the Revolutionists

WASHINGTON, May 3.—The appointment by the Mexican congress of a peace commission to treat directly with the revolutionists for a cessation of hostilities is regarded by state department officials as very significant. It is believed by them to indicate that the Mexican congress, wearied of the long drawn out insurrection, has determined to act on its own initiative in endeavoring to terminate the war. No indication has reached here as to whether President Madero has given his approval to this action of congress.

Conditions in Salina Cruz are becoming very serious, according to state department reports today. Below Juchitan a bridge on the Pan-American railroad has burned. The British cruiser Algerian will arrive at Mazatlan on the west coast of Mexico in about a week to take aboard any British refugees who may desire to leave Mexican territory during the present trouble. Although the vessel's itinerary after she leaves Mazatlan was not made known to the state department it is probable, say officials, that the Algerian will follow the same course as the United States army transport Buford. Similar service is being performed on the east coast by the British cruiser Melpomene.

MEMORIAL SERVICES

For Victims of the Titanic Disaster Held at Halifax

HALIFAX, N. S., May 3.—Memorial services were held today for the Titanic victims and were largely attended. The Protestant service was attended by the lieutenant governor, a number of members of the legislature and relatives and friends of the victims in the city. The Catholic requiem mass was said in the presence of the archbishop of Halifax. A large number present were relatives of the victims. There were burial services this afternoon at Protestant and Catholic burial grounds. The cable steamer Mifia yesterday picked up two more bodies, Joseph Finney of Liverpool, England, and Thomas Mullins, a steward.

The services this afternoon were attended by 100 seamen from the Canadian cruiser Niagara. Of the 59 unidentified dead to be interred, seven were women. Fifty-six were placed in one common grave at Fairview cemetery while the three others were buried in the Mount Olivet cemetery.

EMILE BOAS DEAD

NEW YORK, May 3.—Emile Boas, resident director and general manager of the Hamburg-American line, died early today at a hotel in this city.

Mr. Boas was 55 years of age. His son, who was in El Paso, Texas, has been sent for.

TRIAL OF LIQUOR CASE GREEN VS. HOSMER

Occupied Considerable Time of Case Called to Trial in the Superior Court Today

Patrick Curran who conducts a store in Brouillette street in North Chelmsford was arraigned before Judge Pickman in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with the illegal keeping of liquor on March 21.

According to the testimony offered Mr. Curran has a store in the front and his son resides on the second floor. Officers Herbert H. Richardson and James R. Gookin testified to finding a small quantity of whiskey, beer and several empty cases in the house and also that they had observed men enter the place on two Sundays previous to the date of the complaint.

The defendant and witness for the defense claimed that the liquor found was used for medicinal purposes and not for sale. The court after considering the evidence found the defendant not guilty and ordered him discharged. Lawyer William A. Hogan appeared for the defendant and the government was represented by Lawyer Frederic A. Fisher.

Alleged Bunco Steerer

Frank B. Nagel, who claims to be a book agent, was arrested in Manchester, N. H., yesterday for the local police. Inspector Charles Ladlamme went to the upper city in the afternoon and brought the man back to this city and he was arraigned in police court this morning on two complaints, one charging him with the larceny of $22 belonging to Walter E. Bartlett in March, 1906, and the other charging him with the larceny of $10 from Sidney I. Ladlamme. Inasmuch as the government did not have the witnesses present and counsel for the defense was desirous of a continuance, the case was continued until next Wednesday, the defendant being held under $400 bonds for his appearance at that time.

It is claimed that the defendant worked worthless checks on the parties who brought the complaint and then disappeared. Several days ago Mr. Sidney Ladlamme was in Manchester, and recognizing the defendant, asked him for the money which was due him on the check and the defendant paid him. The matter was reported to the police and the arrest was made yesterday.

Placed On File

The case of Kazimer Komleczny of Dracut, charged with building a fire in Dracut in violation of the law, which was heard last week, came up this morning for arguments. The question of guilt hinged on the acceptance of the law of 1905 and the subsequent amendment to the law in 1911. It was admitted that the law of 1905 had been accepted by the town but the amendment had not been accepted. The man admitted that he had been burning sprouts and then when the fire got beyond his control he and members of his family were fighting it in order to keep it from spreading and they kept the blaze under control until the fire department arrived.

The court found the man guilty of the offense but inasmuch as he had no intention to damage any other property the case was placed on file on consent of counsel for the government.

Drunken Offenders

Harry N. Davis, a blind man, entered a plea of guilty to a complaint charging him with being drunk. He was sentenced to one month in jail.

John H. Quill was fined $5.

The jury in the case of Katherine Burns of Woodstock, N. B., vs. William B. McCarthy, executor of the will of Margaret Finegan, which came to a close at superior court yesterday afternoon, reported a verdict in favor of the plaintiff this morning in the sum of $956.28. The suit was brought by Katherine Burns for the recovery of alleged wages due her by the late Margaret Finegan.

Defendant Won

The next case taken up was that of Katherine McNamara vs. the B. & M. railroad company. The plaintiff sued to recover for the death of her son, Thomas Fitzpatrick, who fell from a platform at the round house in Howland street where he was a coat shaver on the night shift. In this case the jury rendered a verdict for the defendant company on order of the court. John P. Vahey for the plaintiff, and Trull & Wier for defence.

Green vs. Hosmer

At the conclusion of the latter trial, the case of William J. Green vs. Chief J. S. Hosmer of the local fire department was called. In this suit, Chief Hosmer is charged with conspiracy, and the ad damnum is $4000. It was brought about as a result of Mr. Green who was a call man being discharged by the chief. The greater part of the forenoon was taken up with the reading of the testimony offered by the chief and several other witnesses at the trial of Green vs. the City of Lowell, when the former sued the city for alleged wages due him. Jackson Palmer appears for the plaintiff, while the defense is in the care of Duncan & Robbins.

The first witness called was Mr. John J. Green, of 35 Bartlett street, father of the plaintiff. He testified that in the fall of 1906 he met Capt. Burns of the High street fire station, who asked him to work against the election of James B. Casey, who was candidate for mayor. In September of the same year he again met the captain and asked him when he would pay his son. He said the latter said he would fire him. Then witness said he threatened to bring the matter before the authorities. The captain then replied that he would make it hot for his boy if he did. Continuing, witness said that on March 3, 1907, he again had a conversation with the captain and told him he certainly was making it hot for his boy. "I told you I would," replied the captain. Witness said that after considerable talk on the question the captain said he would fire his son out of the department with the assistance of the chief. Mr. Burns said when his boy received his discharge letter he went to the chief for an explanation on this matter, but the only reply he received was that Capt. Burns did not want his son in the department. He then related in part what occurred at the hearing given his son by the board of engineers relative to his discharge when the following charges were brought against the plaintiff: violating rules of the department; neglect of duty; actions detrimental to the department and refusing to go to several fires.

On cross-examination witness said he was approached by Capt. Burns in 1905 and was asked to work against James F. Miskella, who was candidate for mayor, and whom the captain said was opposed to the chief.

Green's Brother Testifies
James B. Green, brother of the plaintiff, was the next witness called. He said he was with his father in the latter part of 1906, when the latter met Captain Burns at the corner of High and East Merrimack streets. His father asked the captain when he would pay his son, and the latter replied "None of your business." He said the father then threatened to bring the matter before the officials, to which the captain replied he would

A young man in Central street who tried to work the "How are you fixed?" game did not get much, for after he had touched several people the eagle eye of Officer Dave Peirle got on and immediately he told him to beat it. The "toucher" took the good advice given him and beat it.

JOHN MITCHELL TALKS

He Says Immigration is Menace to Labor

NEW YORK, May 2.—Vice President John Mitchell of the American Federation of Labor has issued an official statement to the effect that un-restrained immigration has the effect of making labor laws a dead letter. "From the newly arrived immigrants," he said, "the managers of affairs, the leaders in commercial life, the politicians and lawmakers, the editorial fraternity, the landowners, all are in no immediate danger of competition, hence these classes but remotely feel the effects of immigration, other than such as are apparently beneficial to themselves through the cheapness of labor. But the sole avenue of entrance to America for perhaps 50 per cent of the immigrants being through the unskilled labor market, this to wage earners is the fact of all facts relative to immigration."

AN INCENDIARY FIRE

Was Discovered in a Church in the City of Medford

MEDFORD, May 2.—An incendiary attempt to fire the Union Congregational church on Marion street, South Medford, at 9 o'clock last night, in the opinion of Fire Chief Charles C. Mason, of this city.

In face of the fact that a big wood house on the Massachusetts clay pits and a house just over the line in Lowell street, Somerville, were burned Wednesday evening under suspicious circumstances, the firemen and police suspect that a firebug has been at work in the vicinity and was responsible for all three fires.

About 9 o'clock last night members of Combination 14 at South Medford received a telephone call to come to the Union Congregational church on Marion street which was on fire. When the firemen arrived they found flames briskly burning on the northeast corner in the rear of the wooden church. The fire was promptly extinguished with chemical lines and the damage was about $5, but an investigation showed that the wall was saturated with kerosene oil for several feet near the fire. No matches or burned paper were found, however. Charles Roop, the janitor, said he had not seen any suspicious persons about the building and it was also securely locked. None of the neighbors had seen any one about. How the fire could have started unless it was by an incendiary is a mystery and the blaze is being investigated.

There were two other fires earlier in the evening. At 5:30 the roof was burned off a cottage house at 19 Court street, owned by William Kibade, an alarm being sounded from box 28. At 7 o'clock box 25 was sounded for a grass fire in Valley street, near the Middlesex Fells reservation. The sounding of the three fire alarms within so short a time caused some uneasiness among the people.

RASH COVERED HANDS TORTURE AWFUL

Scratched Until Raw and Bleeding. Could Not Wash Them. Lost Three Weeks' Work. Now Hands Are Soft and Smooth Through Use of Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

417 West 30th St., New York, N. Y.—

"About eighteen months ago a rash broke out on my right thumb and spread until my hand was completely covered. At first it itched, and then it began to burn and torture. My hands were in such a state that I could not put them in water or wash them. I used to scratch them until they were raw and bleeding, and I did not know what it was to have a full night's sleep. While working I had to wear gloves with finger tips cut off and I lost three weeks' work."

I desisted with drugs, ointments and washes for six weeks and did not get any relief. In the meantime it had spread to my left hand and the torture was awful. I was about to give up in disgust when I was told to send for a little Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I used to put the Cuticura Ointment on the sores at night. When I got home in the evening I put a fresh supply on for the night. Very often I would get up after being in bed for a few hours and put some more on. It soothed them so I could go to sleep again, and the Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured my hands so much the first night that I thought there was nothing the matter with them. I used them for about two months. Now I am completely cured. My hands are like a baby's, so soft and smooth, through the use of the Cuticura Soap and Ointment." (Signed) William H. Clark, Nov. 15, 1911.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold everywhere. Sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. book. Address, "Cuticura," Dept. T, Boston. Tender-faced men should shave with Cuticura Shaving Stick.

HIS THROAT CUT MAN FOUND DYING

WORCESTER, May 2.—Lying in a pool of blood, with his throat cut from ear to ear, Benjamin J. Baker, aged 23, of 73 Thomas street, was found dying last night in a dark spot under a bridge near 5 Mercantile street. Baker was rushed to the city hospital in the police auto, but died shortly after being admitted.

The body was discovered by passers-by, who were attracted to the dying man by screams. Near the body a pocket clasp knife, covered with blood, was found.

The police are of the opinion that Baker, who had been unfortunate in his use of liquor, had become despondent and committed suicide.

Filed by Dr. Higgins and His Wife

BOSTON, May 2.—Boston and Brookline society have had a new sensation developed for their delectation in cross libels for divorce, which have been filed in the Suffolk superior court by Dr. Frank A. Higgins of 331 Commonwealth avenue, and Mrs. Marion Lawrence Higgins of the Hotel Taft, 270 Commonwealth avenue.

Dr. Higgins alleges desertion, while Mrs. Higgins, who was Marion Lawrence, heiress in her own right and daughter of A. C. Lawrence, the immensely wealthy leather manufacturer, claims that her husband has been cruel and abusive.

Friends of the Higgins' say that behind all this lies a story which deals with Dr. Higgins' devotion to his profession, of Mrs. Higgins' desire that he give it up, at least in part, and the love of both for their children. Lawrence, 15 years old, and Freeman, 10 years old, for the custody of whom a bitter battle will be waged.

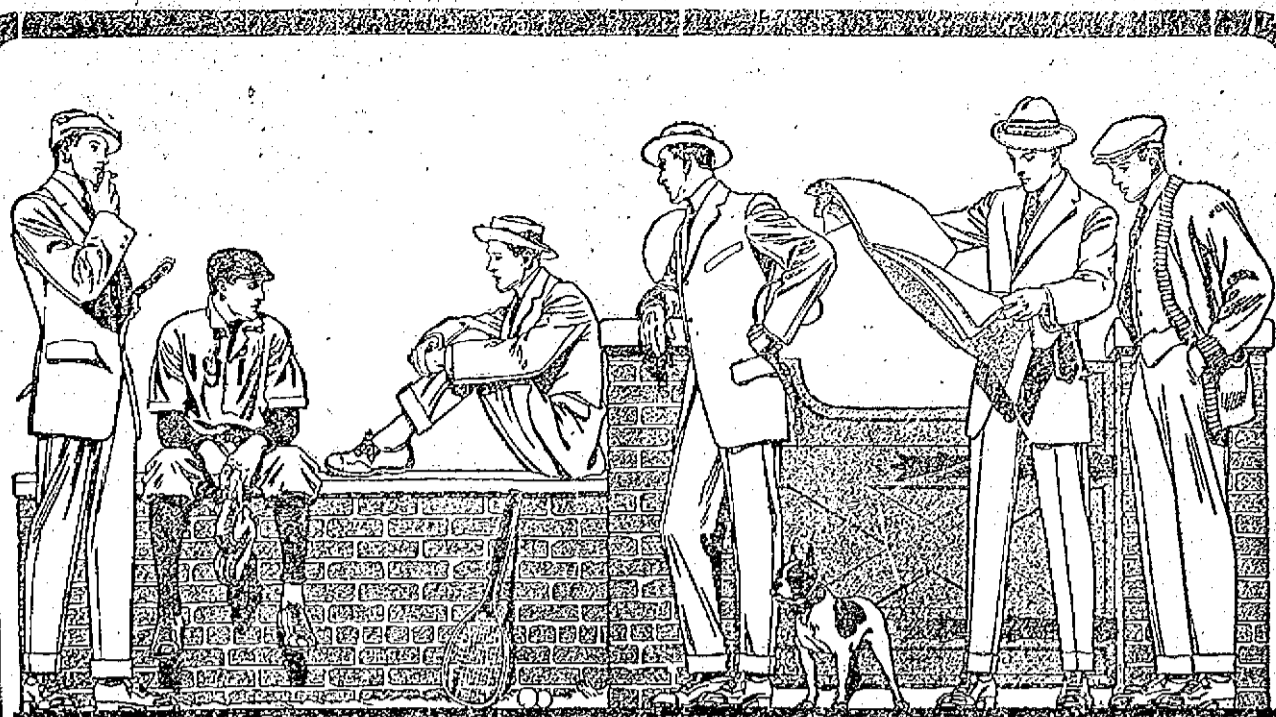

A "LAMB" OF THE LAW.

Gained Ten Pounds In Colorado

Many a tired wife or business man, worn out with a year's work could put on needed flesh and vitality by a little vacation in Colorado. I've seen people pick up as much as ten pounds as a result of a two weeks' outing in this wonderful country. It isn't any one thing that does it. It seems to be just a combination of glorious air, brilliant sky and wonderful scenery. The beauty of Colorado somehow gets into the blood and before you know it your eyes begin to sparkle and you feel made new all over.

Anyone who has gone to Colorado over our railroad, the Burlington Route, will tell you that it isn't hard to get there, for the trains are wonderfully comfortable, and the service wonderfully good. If you want to know just where to go in Colorado, how little it will cost and how long it will take you to get there, I'll send you maps, pictures and pamphlets which will help you plan your entire trip. I'll save you time and relieve you of detail if you will kindly write a postal will do. Just ask about Colorado Trips and I will answer right away. Alex. Stocks, New England Pass. Agent, C. B. & Q. THE HOME RULE BILL

Desultory Discussion Pro and Con Continued Yesterday

LONDON, May 2.—A. J. Balfour and Sir Edward Grey held the stage at yesterday's debate on the Home Rule bill in the house of commons. The former premier showed little of his old-time fire and his speech was reminiscent of many heard before.

He complained that the bill did not contain even a germ of finality and that its adoption would work a great injury to the representative institution of England, while creating in Ireland an assembly which no Irishman could regard with pride or respect.

The powers of the Irish parliament would be so hampered, he said, that good men would refuse to serve in it. Every successful federal system, he declared, had been built up on a desire of the separate parts for a closer unity, but the government was pursuing an opposite course, cutting up the United Kingdom and creating local divisions. Sir Edward Grey contended that the constitution was becoming increasingly unworkable and that devolution throughout the United Kingdom was necessary. The usefulness of the imperial parliament could not, the foreign minister added, be sacrificed to the feelings of Ulster.

Lord Charles Balfour in a breezy speech declared that the Irish question was essentially a land question and the only way to pacify Ireland was to continue the present land purchase system and do away with the land lordism of England, while creating in Ireland an assembly which no Irishman could regard with pride or respect.

The Right Hon. Ronald C. Munro-Ferguson supported the bill, because it was the first step toward a complete policy of parliamentary devolution and paved the way for self-government in Scotland. Mr. Munro-Ferguson, who represents Leith, Burghs, has been an ardent supporter of devolution.

Tanist D. Sheehan, representing mid-division of Cork, a labor advocate and independent nationalist, who favors the policy of conciliation as applied to Irish politics, approved the principle of the bill, but said it placed too many restrictions on Irish financial freedom. He maintained that the Irish parliament should be given full powers with respect to the raising of revenue in Ireland and all expenditures in Ireland.

THE PRINCETON CLUB

Scored a Great Success in Minstrelsy Last Night

The third annual minstrel show and dance of the Princeton club was held last night at Associated hall. The attendance was extraordinarily large, a fact that reflects much credit on the club and especially upon the organizers of the affair. The hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion. The curtains were two big American flags and the stage was draped in yellow and black, the rear of the stage being hung in black with the words "Princeton Club" in gold letters outlined against it.

The program was one of the best ever presented by this popular organization which is famous for its entertainments. The jokes were mostly all local hits, and they were sprung with such good spirit that even though several of the members were hit hard, they were also of the best, and were thoroughly enjoyed.

The program was long and varied and greatly pleased the large audience. It consisted of the following numbers: Opening chorus, entire company; end song, "Raggin' the Baby to Sleep," Thos. Salomon; solo, "Mine," Harriet Lescar; solo, "Another Rag," Alice McCall; end song, "My Angelina," Jas. Rowley; solo, "I Like Your Apron and Your Bonnet," Alice Bonin; end song, "Everybody's Doin' It," Edward Handley; solo, "Let's Forget We Ever Met," Andrew Doyle; song, "Italian Eyes," Rose McDonough; end song, "I Want to Be in Dixie," Joseph Clarke; Banjo.

"When I Was Twenty-One and You Were Sweet Sixteen," Charles Hillier, Richard Noonan, musical director.

The chorus was composed of the following: Misses K. Dunn, N. O'Connell, M. Nelson, M. Corrigan, E. Lawless, N. Beecher, M. Nolan, A. Monahan, M. Manning, A. Gargan, M. Moriarty, M. Dougherty, M. Eastham, R. Nugent, M. Leclair, J. Blaine, R. Sullivan, A. Kelly, T. Riley, M. Carroll, M. McCarthy, L. Nugent, N. McHugh, K. Muldoon, A. McDermott, I. Peterson, J. Burns, K. Carlin, R. Nicholson, H. Clancy, E. Tully, L. Lavallo, L. Catterall, M. Flynn, B. Haley, M. Boyle, M. Gildes, N. Kelly, A. Boyle, J. Hefferman, K. Nugent, K. Boyle, J. Cahill, Mae Canvey, Margaret McCabe, Rose McDonough.

The end men were Thomas Salmon, James Rowley, Edward Handley and Joseph Clarke, and their work last night would do credit to professionalists, especially "Honey Boy," Handley and Joseph Clarke, who made a great hit with their cleverly rendered songs. Mr. Charles T. McKenzie as an interlocutor cannot be excelled, even though this difficult part has been well sustained in the past. Mr. McKenzie has the voice and the wit for that special part and he used both to advantage.

The chorus selections were also rendered to advantage. In fact the entire show was a success and the following committee is to be congratulated for the way it was organized: Thomas Hublin, chairman; George Donohue, Charles T. McKenzie, Thomas McGuane, Charles Slowe, Walter Foye, Edward Handley, John McCabe and William Foye.

Kilted's orchestra was in attendance and at the conclusion of the minstrel show dancing was started and kept up till midnight. The officers of the dance were as follows: General manager, John McCabe; assistant general manager, William McKenzie; floor director, Thomas Hublin; assistant floor directors, Charles Slowe, James Kelly, chief aids, Walter Foye, Thomas McGuane, aids, Joseph Clarke, Joseph Costello, William Foye, Raymond Foye, Arthur Foye, Louis Foye, William Grant, Daniel Gray, Thomas Golden, Frank Golden, Frank Hublin, Martin Duffy, Dennis O'Brien, Andrew Burns, Curt Ost-Odel, James Quinn, Thomas Slowe, Thomas Ingalls, Henry Johnson, Parker Jewell, John W. STRONG ENDORSEMENTS FOR PROF. B. GEO. WILKINS, VERMONT'S FAMOUS HEALER

I have suffered for years with a floating kidney, which caused me great suffering and distress. My condition grew worse and I could get no relief until I went to Prof. Wilkins, who at once told me my condition and said he could cure me. I took my first treatment July 20th and saw a marked change in my condition and today I am so much better I feel I am a new woman. I feel ten years younger and can't find words to express my happiness. Prof. Wilkins has done wonders for me.

MRS. SQUIRE AMIDON,

JOHN McCABE, General Manager.

Friends of the organization is that the club is preparing to build a handsome camp on the Willow Dale road. The members have purchased a large strip of land near the lake between the entrance to Willow Dale and the pavilion, and by the latter part of this month a large camp will be erected thereon. The building to be finished before the middle of summer.

NOTES FROM THE DEPOT

Large Telegraph Pole Was Removed Today

A number of men in the employ of the New England Telephone and Telegraph company this morning removed one of the large poles at the corner of Thorndike and Middlesex streets to make room for the installation of a large lunch wagon. The pole was moved over about ten feet and it was a very difficult job. Many wires were attached to it and the change was made without disconnecting any of them.

The 10:13 train was a few minutes late today, due to it was learned to the heavy travel. When it arrived at the depot many Lowell people boarded it for Boston, including Mayor O'Donnell.

The ten o'clock train out of Boston, which is an express, brought many people to Lowell today. This is a Canadian Pacific train and is one of the best trains on the division.

It is expected that quite a number of Lowell people will leave this city on next Tuesday for other parts. The baggage of some of the travelers arrived at the depot today.

MOTION PICTURE PLOT DISCOVERED

WASHINGTON, May 3.—A motion picture plot, to show a "crank" attempting to reach President Taft was wiped in the bud at the White House today. A squad of picture men walked into the White House grounds accompanied by a venerable looking individual with a long white beard. They set up their apparatus in front of the main entrance of the White House and the white-bearded stranger started up the steps. Police on guard intervened before the picture men could begin business.

THE WAR IN ZION CITY

CHICAGO, May 3.—The tobacco war in Zion City, which was caused by the refusal of employees of the Union Electrical Co. to heed an anti-tobacco using ordinance, may develop an international tangle. Thirty-one British subjects yesterday forwarded a petition bearing their signatures to the British ambassador at Washington asking that England interfere if necessary for the protection of the personal rights of her subjects in Zion City. All of the signers are employed in a lace factory founded by the late John Alexander Dowie and were brought here by Dowie himself. They say they were not told they could not use tobacco.

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

Continuation of My Remarkable Offer

$5.00 PANTS FREE

Defeated, beaten to a Frazzle, by the weather of the past two months, I am out to get back some of the normal business that should have been done during this period by all clothing concerns.

Mr. Clothing Wearer, over years at this time you had your Spring Suit ordered, paid for, and well worn by now.

You haven't given it a thought this year. We fellows in the clothing line know that, because none of us are getting our usual business. You are going to get a Summer Suit anyway, because you are going to get the Summer weather that will make you order. And that weather will soon come.

To induce you to order now, I have placed my stock on the bargain table at prices that will appeal to the thrifty who need now or who will need later.

Worsteds, Cheviots, Novelties, Serges, Grey Worsteds and Black Staples, and for Today and Tomorrow, a PAIR of PANTS ABSOLUTELY FREE with suit order.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

That Lowell people appreciate and will support first class attractions was proven last night when an audience that taxed the capacity of the Opera House assembled to see Miss Billie Burke in "The Runaway." The comedy in four acts was written by Michael Morton and starring Miss Burke is a carefully selected and most capable company of players. "The Runaway" is based on a pretty love affair in which "Maurice Delaney," the character portrayed by C. Aubrey Smith, and "Colette," the part taken by Miss Burke, are the principals. Colette is a country girl. She is youth personified, full of ambition and romance. Her narrow minded relatives try to marry her to a country bumpkin and she rebels and runs away to her only friend, a great artist. In his studio she finds shelter and at last love. It is a charming story told in a way to hold the attention from the rise to the fall of the curtain.

Miss Burke was admirable and her acting appealed strongly to the audience. The play itself while most enjoyable appears to be most attractive to women.

Not once during the four acts did interest in Miss Burke's acting lag and many times the applause that followed the scenes in which she took part was a well deserved tribute to the cleverness of the beautiful actress.

C. Aubrey Smith, as the artist, was particularly powerful in his part, and just as delightful, if not more so, as when he appeared as Sir Marcus Ordway in "The Morals of Marcus."

The cast of characters was as follows:

Maurice Delaney.....C. Aubrey Smith
Colette.....Miss Billie Burke
Mr. Simonson.....George Howell
Mr. Berton.....William Raymond
Vignaux.....Merton Selden
Monsieur Pingo.....H. A. Cripps
The Cure.....Edwin Nicander
Harry Barfoot.....Harry Barfoot
Agnes Ironside.....Emily Wakeman
Hortense Ironside.....Isabel West
Nancy Vallier.....Jane Evans
Leonie.....Alice Gale
Mme. Suberville.....Josephine Morse
Mme. Lyso.....Hazel Leslie
Julia.....Isabel Garrison
Madame Pingo.....Lettie Ford

PHOTO PLAYS

Beginning Monday afternoon, May 6th, and to continue the entire summer season, at the Lowell Opera House, Messrs. Herbert & Dorfinger will present the newest and latest photo-plays by the world's greatest photo-play actors, including the best singing quartet in vaudeville. The entertainment will be presented daily and Sunday with daily matinees. Afternoon performances start at 2 o'clock and each show will last for two hours with real high-class amusement from start to finish. He will cater to the discriminating public, those who appreciate the right kind of pictures presented in the right way. Next to the pictures our aim is proper singing by a quartet that is second to none. These together with a comfortable theatre, and a thoroughly refined and respectable atmosphere places the Lowell Opera House in a class by itself, and patrons will learn that it is a popular thing to be a picture fan. There is no other fact that is so clean, so healthful, so entertaining, so delightful, so inexpensive as the moving picture and, it has no evil after effects. Every picture will be the latest and censored as each manufacturer is striving for superior quality, and the scenery is selected with the greatest care. The newest machines projecting the best possible picture, these all tend to make this the ideal popular priced entertainment of Lowell for the summer months. There will be five photo-plays shown and between each one a new and popular illustrated song will be rendered by our excellent quartet. Programs will be changed every Monday and Thursday with an entire new program for Sunday afternoon and evening. Every courteous attention on the part of the attaches of the Opera House will be shown the ladies and children that attend, and the seating capacity assures comfort for all.

KEITH'S LOWELL THEATRE

Have you seen Kluge's performing kitties? If not, don't miss them as they are a considerable part of one of the most interesting trained animal acts now before the public. The performers include beside the kitties, poodles, terriers, white doves, white rabbits, George Felix, the funny fellow with the funny falls, and the Barry girls, present a jolly act entitled "The Boy Next Door" that includes singing and dancing along with real good comedy. Roll, the youthful juggler, has it on the old times with his new and up to date stunts. Charles Keane and a very competent company offer a decidedly attractive western drama in "Sheriff Bob." This sketch is not only finely acted but is most attractively staged. Nate Lepsig, manipulator of the playing cards, has a novel act that is one of the big hits of the bill. The Carter-Taylor company offer a laughable creation entitled "Camp Rest." The Hollsworths, the male members of whom is a son of Col. Sam Hollsworth, America's oldest professional slacker, present a neat singing, dancing and banjo sketch. The Four Floods are comedy acrobats coming blinding fun and agility. Then there are the pictures. The bill as will be noted offers a wide and thoroughly pleasing variety of entertainment.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Nuclear comedy, well given, is always most acceptable, and that's one of the principal reasons why this week's bill at the Merrimack Square theatre is making such a big hit. With

Miss Grace Hawthorne in the lead, and supported by a large and competent cast, The Temple Players are truly making friends in large numbers. Their presentation of "Scotch Week" is among the biggest and best contributions seen in local vaudeville in some time. The solo work of Miss Hawthorne is exceptionally good, and the others who assist in the success of the offering are Thomas Malcolm, James Byrnes, George Lewis, Miss Gilrand and Miss Murphy. They're the big hit of the bill.

Honey Johnson, colored comedian, is making good on all occasions. Honey has a good line of talk, sings funny songs and tells stories in a decidedly clever manner.

Mr. and Mrs. Danny Mann, presenting "Mandy Hawkins," a rural sketch, is very good and Prof. Karl and His Trained Dogs and Miss Grace Livingston, soloist, also assist in the success of the bill. The photo-plays and views are always good. This week is no exception to the rule.

Next week's menu promises to be

Olive Oil Restores Health

Physicians generally are advising patients to use pure olive oil to restore health and strength. As a result, thousands of men, women and children, knowing its valuable nutritive and laxative properties, are taking olive oil daily as a most beneficial addition to their food.

Pompeian Olive Oil is as different from other kinds as night is from day. It is the purest Italian Olive Oil imported and it comes to you in its virgin state, without any chemical treatment or adulteration. It, therefore, has a distinctive, sweet, nutty flavor not found in other kinds and does not have a greasy taste.

To build up the system and restore health, take Pompeian Olive Oil in this way and very beneficial results will quickly follow:—On arising in the morning, drink a glass of hot water and take one or two teaspoonfuls of the oil. Take the same quantity before dinner, supper and on retiring. As you acquire the taste for the oil, increase the dose to four tablespoonfuls four times a day. Invalids and those run down in health and strength will find Pompeian Olive Oil the best food-medicine and it will build up the body faster than any other food can tear it down.

equally as good. The Temple Players will be seen in "Popular Week," a musical comedy that compares favorably with "Scotch Week." Another feature will be the presentation of a pretty playlet entitled "An Object Lesson," by Lucille Spinney & Co. Miss Spinney was leading woman with the Donald Meek Stock company, and is well and favorably known here. She will be assisted by Charles Cymbale and other players.

The other contributors to the bill

give a high standard of entertainment and the photo-plays scheduled for the first three days of next week promise to be above the average.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

One of the biggest novelties of the year is playing at the Academy of Music and is certainly making a big hit. Howard & Graf in an act entitled "The Juggler's Dream," have solved the idea of entertainment, for Miss Graf, holding the audience with her beautiful voice, is but an introduction to the juggling of Mr. Howard. Allen & Grant, two old time comedians, take care of the laughing end of the show and Amalon, the man with a woman's voice, touches a few high notes that thrill.

The pictures which feature incidents in the Revolutionary and Civil wars are exceedingly interesting. On Sunday, a special novelty will be offered consisting of Rosa McDougall and her Bachelor girls in a distinct offering called the Animated Song Sheet. Bats, balls and skates for the boys and girls on Saturday afternoon.

Sotted Clothing Is Cleaned Best With Carbonol.

CARBONOL is a powerful disinfectant and a few teaspoonfuls of it in the tub will help greatly in the cleaning. It will kill all germs; remove stains and make the work easier.

That, however, is only one use of Carbonol. Carbonol has many other uses. It is more necessary to the housekeeper than soap. It will do all the work that soap can do and a great deal more, because it has the power to kill germs and dissolve grease.

It should be used in general house-cleaning. A dash of it in the water that you use in scrubbing floors and washing down woodwork will make every drop of water an effective disinfectant.

In the kitchen it will help in cleaning greasy dishes and pans, and it will keep the waste pipes clear of grease. It will suppress odors in garbage and keep away the flies; it will clean the garbage can after it has been emptied; it will remove stains on woodwork or cloth; brighten dingy rugs.

In case of contagious diseases Carbonol should be used constantly and frequently to wash sickroom utensils and all bed linen and clothing of the patient.

The uses of this powerful product are simply endless.

We will send a free sample to experiment with and a booklet of directions for its use.

Foss Opposed to the "Full Train Crew" Bill

BOSTON, May 2.—The "Full Train Crew" bill was vetoed yesterday afternoon by Gov. Foss. By vetoing this bill, the governor has sent a message to the legislature that he is opposed to the measure. The bill was introduced in the house yesterday morning, and after a long debate it was passed by a vote of 100 to 90. The bill provided for the payment of full wages to train crews, and was opposed by the railroad companies. The governor's veto was based on the ground that the bill was unconstitutional.

lation of such railroad details as those comprised in this bill.
"I cannot pass judgment upon the question as to whether or not all freight trains of 20 cars should carry crews of six men, and all freight trains of 25 cars five men. These matters can, in my judgment, be determined only by a permanent and powerful commission of experts skilled in railroad operation and regulation."

In the senate, Senator Ross of New Bedford, moved that consideration of the message be postponed to Monday next.
Senator Lonsuey of Boston said a full senate was present, that Monday is a bad day because of slight attendance, and as the matter had been fully discussed, the senate should vote yesterday.
Senator McCarthy of Marlboro said he would move to postpone to Tuesday next.
Senator Ross withdrew his original motion. By a voice vote the senate voted to postpone to Tuesday next. Senator Lonsuey demanded a roll call and by a vote of 25 to 9 the message was so disposed of.

MOVING PICTURE SHOWS

Must be Safeguarded,
Says Mayor Gaynor

NEW YORK, May 2.—For more than a year various civic societies have been prodding the New York aldermen to provide for the better regulation of the moving picture theatres in New York city. Now, Mayor Gaynor has decided to take a hand in an effort to stir the aldermen to action, his first step being a letter in which he says to the board:

"These shows are a great solace and the source of much entertainment and education to the whole community. They are attended by all kinds of people and especially by those who cannot afford to attend more expensive places of amusement. The pictures shown are moral and instructive. Our part is to safeguard these shows in all respects, physical, mental and moral, by a good ordinance."

LETTER CARRIERS

GETTING READY FOR CONVENTION MAY 12

The letter carriers are busily engaged making arrangements for the annual convention of the Massachusetts carriers to be held in Lowell, commencing May 12. The session will be held in the Old Fellows hall and the Lowell men plan to make it one of the best in the history of the carriers of the state. Last year the convention was held in Lynn and it was a great success. This year, however, according to the present plans, the Lowell convention will be one long to be remembered.

EXERCISE AND HEALTH

Some Valuable Hints for Business Girls

Take a few minutes night and morning to simple physical exercise and digestive troubles will soon disappear. Your complexion will grow clearer and your figure more erect.

Take pains, by the way, always to walk with well poised body and a light, brisk step. It is no less a duty to walk along briskly and still feel wretched. Your attitude has a great effect on your mind.

Now, as for meals. Few business and working girls eat enough food, though it is cheap enough for the most slender person and necessary to every one leading a sedentary life.

You all tell me how much food and drink for too much food. If you can manage to have cocoa or coffee for breakfast instead. At any rate, give up making your lunch of a cup of tea, with bun or biscuit and butter and pastry. Take soup, fish or an egg instead. It costs no more. Finish your meal with a banana, apple or orange. Instead of afternoon tea have a glass of milk with a bar of chocolate or indulge in your favorite cake. Drink plenty of water.

IN SELF DEFENSE

She—Why do you yell at a baseball game?
He—Because I dislike to hear the yelling of other people. I sacrifice my throat to save my ears.

Formamint makes mouth and throat hygiene easy—it kills the Germs that cause throat infections.

YOU owe it to yourself—to the community—to public health—to keep your mouth and throat hygienically clean.

Most infectious diseases are due to germs taken into the mouth and throat—and if the germs are not killed—danger of mouth and throat infection is not confined to you alone but may be transmitted easily to those about you.

Formamint

makes mouth and throat hygiene easy. It replaces gargles and mouth washes, which are ineffective and inconvenient. With none of their disadvantages, Formamint succeeds where they fail—reaching the deeper cavities of the throat, where the germs hide—destroying them and paving the way for quick recovery.

Formamint is a pleasant-tasting tablet which, when sucked in the mouth like candy, releases its powerful, yet harmless germicide—mixing with the saliva—freely reaching the membranes—being carried into the recesses of the throat where germs or mouth washes cannot reach.

Formamint does not leave the mouth and throat dry and parched—it increases the flow of saliva fully 100 per cent, insuring an abundant supply so essential where the membranes are inflamed and infected.

If you have a throat infection—or think you may be getting one—you should use Formamint.

50 Tablets for 50 cents

Most drug stores sell FORMAMINT—except no substitute. Remember, wherever you are, the risk of not using Formamint, for it is such a vital tablet. Two tablets to every throat and tongue will keep it to you.

THE TITANIC INQUIRY

Searching Investigation to be Made in London

LONDON, May 2.—Attorney-General Rufus Isaacs addressed the wreck commission which is investigating the loss of the White Star liner Titanic today setting forth the facts as understood by the government and laying special emphasis upon the evidence that a speed of 21 knots was maintained after the warnings of ice ahead had been received, right up to the moment of the collision. The whole of the forenoon session was taken up with this statement which brought out little that had not been already developed at the senatorial inquiry at Washington. The attendance of spectators was small. A group of sailors, survivors of the sea tragedy who arrived here on the Lapland from New York and had been subpoenaed to testify, were objects of interest. When the court opened Lord Mersey, who heads the commission, granted permission to President Lewis of the Seamen's union and to an attorney for the Imperial Mercantile Guild to participate in the proceedings. The union is a new organization composed of four thousand Southampton sailors. Two hundred and twenty-eight of its members were employed on the Titanic and of these only 77 survived. The officers of the Titanic were members of the guild. The inquiry is likely to extend over several weeks and will be devoted largely to technical details. Sir Rufus announced that particular attention would be given to these three points:

SAVE MONEY ON FILMS

Here is your chance. Every Saturday you can purchase your films here to fit any size camera at 10 per cent discount, and you bear this in mind, that you take absolutely no chance of receiving anything but reliable films here. Every roll of film is doubly guaranteed—first, by the Photo Shop, secondly, by The Photo Shop.
Your choice of films from two continents. The Edison Film, made in England, is for well and favorably known to need praising here; its great speed value will save many of your valuable snaps taken under poor light conditions that you would otherwise lose.
The Vitaphone Film, made in the U. S., is a newer film to the camera user, but is rapidly growing in favor with those who have used it, because of its autochromatic values. The fact that it is made by the Defender Photo Supply Co. assures you of its superior quality.
It will pay you to do all of your camera shopping here; every article sold you is guaranteed and returnable if found defective.
With every sale or finishing order, checks are given with which you can have any of your films enlarged free.

probably the chief and first officers. Lord Mersey also wished to know whether the vessels of other nationalities were compelled to carry more lifeboats than British ships. Sir Rufus could not say positively as to this, but said that evidence on the point would be offered. The court has arranged to adjourn the inquiry until Tuesday.

THE NEWEST IN NICKEL
Something new in nickelware is the "three-in-one" tray accessory. It consists of a tea or coffee pot, cream jug and sugar bowl, each so made that it fits above the other, thus forming a unique whole. It is complete and inexpensive. Often it is hard to arrange a small breakfast or invalid's tray in an inviting fashion without crowding the various pieces of china and silver together. This little nickel device will be found a great help and save at the same time a novel air to the tray, causing the invalid's eyes to brighten with pleasure.

A nickel or copper plated percolator to be attached with cord to the gas jet is something that will be found convenient to use under the teakettle or cluding dish, thus doing away with the troublesome alcohol lamp, which many nervous women do not care to use.

For traveling, too, this percolator will be found very handy, as it is often enjoyable to give a "chasing dish supper" in one's own apartments, and with this new device all the annoyance of carrying around or using alcohol is avoided. There is nothing whatever to do but adjust the percolator, put the tube over the gas jet and apply the match to same and the trick is done.

Nickel plated vegetable dishes now come on the order of silver ones, only many times less expensive. Some of these are made with divided porcelain dishes inside and a thin hole into which hot water is run to keep the vegetables hot while on the serving table.

NOT THE SAME.

Bessie—Do you believe that a fish diet is calculated to strengthen the brain?
Bert—Can't say that I do, but I believe that going fishing invigorates the imagination.

Some Early Hints.

YOU can get a fine fishing rod for $3. It's worth half a dollar more, but being it's you, take it along.

You can buy a line for your reel for 75 cents. Of course, there are cheaper ones, but you don't want to lose a ten-pound pickarel after hooking him.

You can buy flies as low as five cents apiece, but don't think to fool a fish worth catching with a cheap fly. Take a few at 25 cents each.

A bass may carry out your line to the end and then snap it. Better get one or two extra.

You will need a fish-bag to carry your catch in. One for a dollar has some class about it, but one for double that price commands the respect of a fish at once.

Landing-nets can be had from 50 cents up. One at about $2 will land you and the fish most anywhere you care to step ashore.

Always fish from a boat when you can. You thereby get advantage of the leahs.

Anchor in a secluded spot. Thus,

IT SEEMS SO.

Toni—Are you in favor of Sunday baseball?
Dick—No; I think the umpire is entitled to one day in the week in order to prepare for death on any one of the other six.

In Season Only.

THE Colonel and I stood talking under a magnolia tree on the street of a Southern town, when a very pompous colored man came along swinging a cane.

"Hello, Deacon!" called the Colonel. "Good mawning, sah," was the reply.

"Got something on your mind this morning, Deacon?"

"Might be thinking of the church, sah."

"The church, eh? Didn't know but you were thinking of watermelons."

"What, sah, and watermelons three months away?"

"But you might have been thinking, you know."

"No, sah—no, sah, Kurnel White, I'd like you to understand just what sort of a man I am."

"Well?"

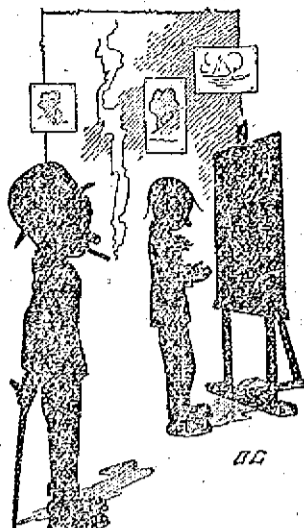

"I'm a man that thinks only in season. When do watermelon arrives I shall think of him."

"I see. Well, what is this the season for thinking about?"

"The church, sah—the church, and—"

"And what?"

"And chickens, sah! Good-day, Kurnel White!"

STAR-ART NOTE.

"By George, old chap, when I look at one of your paintings I stand and wonder—"

"How I do it?"

MIGHT HELP IN AWARDING DAMAGES.

Carleton—Do you know how much I love you?
Clarice—No, but I'd like an estimate, as the information might come in handy, in case I should have occasion to sue you for breach of promise.

IN SPRING A YOUNG MAN'S FANCY LIGHTLY TURNS TO THOUGHTS OF LOVE. THAT'S WHY SI WROTE THE LOVIN' NOTE THAT YOU SEE UP ABOVE.

SI CALLED ON PRETTY MAY MCQUIRK AND WITH A WEARY LITTLE SIGH, HE SAID, "LET'S MARRY, YOUR TROUSSEAU WE'LL GO OUT BYE AND BYE AND BUY."

JUST THEN, BY CHANCE HER PACAME IN, AND SAT ON ME FOR FAIR, BUT WHEN MAY SIT'S UPON MY KNEE, I NEVER SEEM TO CARE.

A FAIR START.

IT was in the smoker compartment of a Pullman, and the agent of a Western boom-town had been trying for half an hour to interest the three or four men with him. It was a town just laid out; it was on a river; the climate was salubrious; three railroads were to cross there; there were to be mills and factories galore. A corner lot in the town which could be bought now for $25 would be worth four times that in two months. On his honor, it was the greatest and safest investment any locality had ever offered, and it seemed a sin and a shame that everybody did not take advantage of it. "Why, gentlemen—"

"So you are going to have a town?" interrupted a smoker, who hadn't butted in before.

"You bet! It will be Denver's rival in five years."

"Anybody there yet?"

"Why man, of course, and scores more coming every day."

"Houses going up?"

"They soon will be."

"And hotels?"

"We shall have four."

"And stores?"

"We figure on fifty at least."

"But at the present date?"

"Well, to be candid, we've only got what may be called a fair start."

"And that is?"

"A lawyer and a motion picture show!"

He—'I'm astonished at you, wasting your time gazing in shop windows, and eggs selling at 50c a dozen.'

No Cause for Fear.

DUNNO—I dunno," said the man as he laid the paper he had been reading in the street car down on the seat beside him.

"It's about the coming campaign, I suppose?" queried the man opposite.

"Yes, and as I remarked, I dunno—I dunno."

"Must be pretty bad?"

"It is."

"Do you think the country will bust?"

"Oh, no. The country is all right, but as I said—I dunno, I dunno."

"Are you much interested?"

"Very much so—in one of the would-be candidates."

"Ah! You doubt if he will get there?"

"He may, but I dunno—I dunno."

"And I should say his name is T. H.?"

"Exactly—exactly."

"Oh, Teddy's all right," laughed the other.

"I hope so, but suppose he shouldn't be?"

"Then he'd be out of it."

"There it is! That's the very point that worries me. No job—no salary. I know how it is myself."

"Oh, it's that, is it? Well, my friend, worry no more. If Mr. Roosevelt should fall to get there in the convention and be without a job I shall stand ready to provide him with one. Easy job and liberal salary."

"And you are—?"

"In the wholesale grocery business and doing a roaring trade."

A hand went out to be grasped in his, and the man who had worried drew a long sigh of relief.

THE REMEDY.

Dis hermit business ain't no fun, but it's safer in Leap Year, all right.

Where the Blame Lies.

THE coal miners say they are not paid enough wages to enable them to live decently.

The mine owners declare that they could make more profit running peanut stands.

The railroads say they are losing money on every ton they haul.

The wholesalers declare they must return to carpentering and brick-laying to get Panama hats for summer.

The retailers say there is just one-half the profit of a gallon of molasses in selling a ton of coal.

The consumer declares on his Davy Jones that he is not getting over sixteen hundred pounds for a ton, and that it's half slate at that.

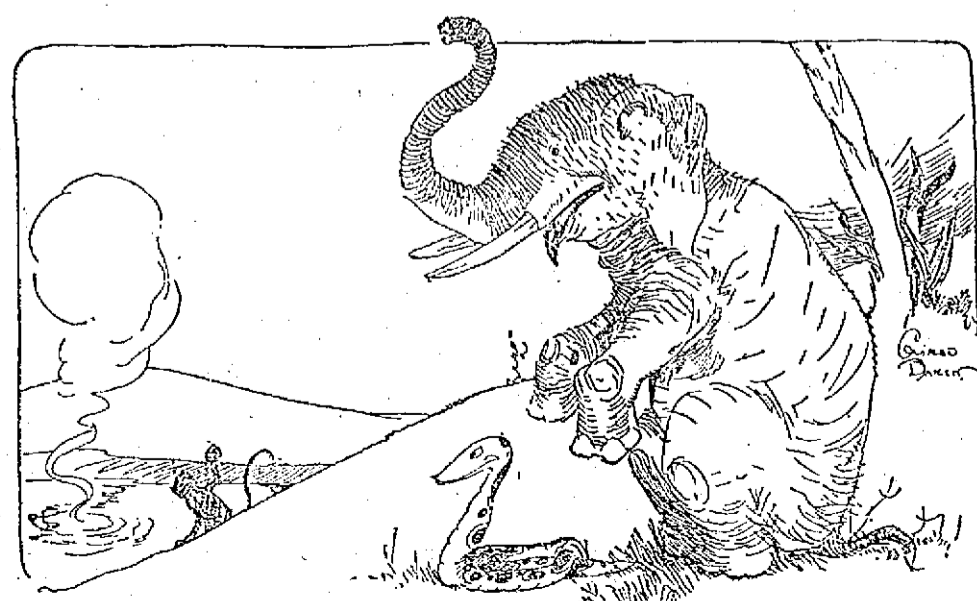

Ladies and gentlemen, there's something radically wrong with the coal business, and we know where it is. The cooper is the man to go for.

He has reduced the bung-holes in his barrels from a full inch to seven-eighths, and he flatters himself that this great and glorious country is going to stand for it.

A PHILOSOPHER.

The Truant—Well, I'm due for a lickin' at home an' another in school, an' I've lost my hat, an' I'm hungry, an' I've set down in poison ivy, an' the fish won't bite—oh, well, this is a doggone sight better'n bein' in school anyway.

UP TO DATE.

Elephant—What is that monkey throwing coconuts into that hot spring for?
Snake—Oh, he's been reading an article on sterilized milk.

BETWEEN AVIATORS.

First Aviator—It's a hard world.
Second Aviator—Yes. The world would be easier for our business if it could have been made of rubber and inflated.

AFTER THE HONEYMOON.

The Bride—What makes you all so glum?
The Groom—Dat triflin' no-count Bill Brown, he done it.
The Bride—What he done did?
The Groom—He done tol' me he was delighted to heah you an' me was mah'led.
The Bride—Well, an' dat natchul?
The Groom—Dat's it, honey—dat's it. Ah'm afraid it's natchul. Him an' me's been enemies for fo' years, now.

MONEY WAS SPENT

That Was Received for Insurance on Huntington Hall

Into this universe, and why not knowing Nor whence like water willy-nilly flowing. And out of it as wind along the waste I know not whither, willy-nilly blowing.

Thus it was that Oscar Klayman, and his verse covered a multitude of things. "We have had city governments that went their way 'willy-nilly blowing,' and because they didn't know to what point they were drifting they extended a call for aid from every imaginable point. They knew that they were short on cash and they allowed what was in the bank belonged to the city, and that settled it. It was a 'spend as you go and pay as you please' policy and the result was a sudden 'fetch up' that spelled 'failure'."

Several years ago the sum of $1,000 was paid the city by insurance companies for insurance on Huntington hall that was burned. The city council voted that that money should be kept intact and preserved for the building of a public hall.

The money went into the city treasury and where it went after that nobody knows except as stated by the city treasurer and his assistant that the money is in the bank.

George M. Rex, the expert accountant who went over the books of the city, says that the Huntington hall money has been wiped out. He says that it exists in name only and he says he will buy the bonds if the city treasurer can prove to him that the money paid the city by the insurance companies for Huntington hall is still on hand.

Asked, today, if the $1,000, Huntington hall money, is in existence, City Auditor Page said: "The money is not in existence and can be supplied only by temporary loan."

Asked as to his statement that the city was $200,000 beyond the debt limit, Mr. Page said: "I understand that I am credited with having made that statement, but I did not make it. There is no foundation in fact for the statement that the city is $200,000 beyond the debt limit."

concessions. A convention of miners at either Scranton or Wilkesbarre would not only pass upon the agreement of the sub-committee but would consider the proposition of President Baer of the Reading company that the whole controversy be submitted to the surviving members of the anthracite coal strike commission of 1903.

Mr. Baer told the miners yesterday that he considered that the full committee of miners were morally bound to stand by the action of a sub-committee and that until the matter had been submitted to a referendum vote of the miners the full committee were in no position to ask for further concessions from the operators. Meanwhile the suspension of mining in the hard coal region continues.

NEW YORK, May 3.—Representatives of the United Mineworkers of America held another meeting today to determine what course they would follow as a result of the rejection of the agreement drawn by the sub-committee of miners and operators which was presented for ratification at a meeting of members from both sides of the controversy yesterday. Former State Senator Green of Ohio, who has acted as chairman of the miners' committee in the absence of Pres. White, still believes that a settlement will eventually be reached without a strike.

The conference today was postponed to consider two courses of action, first, should a convention of the miners be called to approve, or disapprove the action in rejecting the agreement of the sub-committee and, second, whether the miners' committee should ask for another conference with the operators with the view of obtaining further

BUST OF LA FRANCE

Presented to Citizens of the United States

CROWN POINT, N. Y., May 3.—The final ceremony in connection with the presentation of the bronze bust of La France by the French people to the citizens of the United States was fulfilled here today. Delegates of the Vermont and New York Champlain ter-centenary commission waited in the morning at Fort Ticonderoga near the head of Lake Champlain for the arrival from New York of the distinguished French delegation, the guardians of the sculpture which eventually will be placed in position at the foot of the Champlain memorial light-house now under construction here.

The delegation arrived at Ticonderoga this morning and were entertained at breakfast by Mr. and Mrs. Pell, after which they were shown about the ruins of Fort Ticonderoga, a part of which had recently been restored by Mr. Pell. Late in the forenoon the delegates and their hosts proceeded by special train to Fort Henry, whence they were conveyed across the bay to the point from which this village takes its name.

Following the ceremony of presentation, the chief feature of which was an address by Gabriel Hanotaux, the head of the French delegation, this afternoon, it was planned to visit the ruins of Fort St. Frederick and Fort Amherst, which are now included in the state park known as the Crown Point reservation. Later the visitors will return to Fort Henry, where their special cars will be attached to the afternoon express for Montreal.

FLOYD ALLEN TRIAL

WAS RESUMED TODAY

WYTHEVILLE, Va., May 3.—Witnesses for the state in the Floyd Allen case today continued to tell of the shooting-up of Carroll county courthouse. The prosecution is endeavoring to prove not only that the accused shot and killed Commonwealth Attorney Foster but that he and his fellow clansman had previously conspired to murder court officers and jurors if he should be convicted of the offense for which he was about to be sentenced to a prison term when the shooting began. Indications are that the trial will run well into next week, as there are many witnesses to be heard.

MINERS STILL IDLE

Agreement Reached by the Sub-Committees Rejected

NEW YORK, May 3.—The full committee of anthracite operators and miners both voted down the agreement that was submitted to them by the sub-committee of the operators and miners to settle the controversy over the question of increased wages and other questions in the anthracite region.

The conference adjourned subject to the call of the chairman. It was announced that the suspension of work throughout the anthracite fields would continue.

THE AGREEMENT

REACHED BY COMMITTEE OF MINERS AND OPERATORS

NEW YORK, May 3.—The sub-committee of the anthracite coal operators and the United Mineworkers of America submitted to the joint conference of the full committees held here yesterday the agreement reached on the demands of the miners for an increase in wages, recognition of the union, a shorter working day and other changes. The proposed agreement, which is subject to ratification by the joint committee and the miners, provides for a four year contract, an increase of ten per cent, abolition of the sliding scale, indirect recognition of the union and other concessions to the miners but contains no mention of a shorter working day. The agreement follows:

"To the joint committee of miners and operators: The undersigned, representing the committee appointed by you at your association in Philadelphia on April 19 empowered to suggest a method of settling the existing differences between the anthracite operators and their employees, beg to recommend for your consideration an adjustment on the following terms and conditions:

tioned for a further period of four years ending March 31, 1916, except in the following particulars, to wit:

"The contract rates and wage scales for all employees shall be increased ten per cent, over and above the contract rates and wage scales established by the anthracite coal strike commission as effective April 1, 1903. The provisions of the sliding scale are by mutual consent abolished.

"All contract miners and laborers when working on consideration shall be paid not less than the rate paid company miners and laborers at the mine where the work is being performed.

"There shall be an equitable division of mine cars as set forth in the award in the anthracite coal strike commission and the decision of the conciliation board and further, the rates paid by any contract miner to his employers shall not be less than the standard rate for that particular class of work.

"At each mine there shall be a grievance committee consisting of not more than three employees and such committees shall under the terms of this agreement take up for adjustment with the proper officials of the company all grievances referred to them by employees who have first taken up said grievance with the foreman and failed to effect proper settlement of the same. It is also understood that the members of the board of conciliation elected by the mine workers organization or his representative may meet with the mine committee and company officials in adjusting disputes. In the event of the mine committee failing to adjust with the company officials any grievance referred to them, they may refer the grievance to the members of the board of conciliation in their district for adjustment, and in case of their failure to adjust the same, they shall refer the grievance to the board of conciliation for final settlement as provided in the award of the anthracite coal strike commission and the agreements subsequent thereto and whatever settlement is made shall date from the time the grievance is raised.

"Contract miners shall have the right to employ check weighmen and check docking bosses as provided for in the award of the anthracite coal strike commission and the decision of the board of conciliation and when so employed their rights shall be recognized and they shall not be interfered with in the proper performance of their work; provided they do not interfere with the proper operation of the colliery. Check weighmen and check docking bosses shall be elected by contract miners in meeting assembled specifically for that purpose and for such term as said miners may determine and the chairman and secretary of said meeting shall certify such election to the mine foreman.

"For the purpose of facilitating the adjustment of grievances company officials at each mine shall meet with the grievance committee of employees and prepare a statement setting forth the rate of compensation paid for each item of work under the provision of this agreement and certify the same to the board of conciliation within 60 days after the date of this agreement.

Prominent Men Are Mentioned in the Government's Suit

CHICAGO, May 3.—Among the men named in the government suit to dissolve the International Harvester company are Judge E. H. Gary and George F. Baker. The defendants have been ordered to appear May 6, at which time a date for trial will probably be fixed.

NORFOLK JACKETS

The Norfolk jacket has appeared again and will probably emphasize the popularity of the plaited jacket with its loose belt. Last year the jacket was worn in dark green, blue and in scarlet with white serge and white linen skirts. This year it is part of the suit. It also appears in summer rain.

A SAFE EASY WAY TO GAIN FLESH QUICKLY

Amazing Increase in Weight Brought by Physician's Fortunate Discovery

Medical men, everywhere, have been commenting upon the remarkable experience of a well-known physician, that was recently recorded in a prominent medical publication. By administering a combination of standard, harmless pharmaceutical drugs in a manner he had never used before, Dr. Horace Edwards succeeded in increasing a patient's weight from 111 to 157 pounds in ten weeks—a clear gain of 46 pounds or nearly 45 lbs. a week. A large number of experiments both by physicians and this people who desired to put on flesh, quickly have followed the publication of this case report, and have brought most remarkable results, indicating that a judicious combination of Fluid Salitogen, Calisaya and Cardamoms will in practically any case enable a person to gain flesh at the rate of 5 to 8 lbs. a week. The exact prescription used and recommended by Dr. Edwards was: 2 oz. Tincture of Cardamoms, 2 oz. Elixir of Calisaya, 2 oz. Fluid Salitogen and 2 oz. water, all easily obtainable at slight expense from any druggist. Directions: Ask the druggist to mix all the ingredients except the Salitogen in an 8 oz. bottle and give you the Salitogen separately. When you get home add half the Salitogen. After taking three doses pour in the remainder of the Salitogen and continue taking as before. Dose: Two tablespoonfuls twenty minutes before meals. The resulting increase in weight can easily be checked when the patient desires by merely stopping the treatment. Calisaya, Cardamoms and Salitogen are all standard drugs regularly carried in stock by the best druggists of this city. One Dr. H. Hall & Lyon, states that probably not a day goes by that they are not called upon to fill prescriptions containing them. Concerning their use a well-known medical man says: "Although as every physician knows, the above drugs are splendid for relieving indigestion, nervousness, catarrh, etc., they should never be used for these purposes in the combination outlined above except where the patient also wishes to increase in weight."

TRAMPS START FIRE

An Old Colonial House in West Billerica Burned

An old colonial house, one of the landmarks of West Billerica, and a large barn, the property of Frank W. Cowdry, were destroyed by fire between five and six o'clock yesterday. Mr. Cowdry managed to save his live stock but lost all else that was in the barn and managed to save but little of the contents of the house. The fire started in the barn and the cause is unknown except that tramps may have taken refuge there and used matches. The house was recently painted and improved in many ways. The North Billerica fire department responded to a call for assistance but despite the best efforts of the firemen and others who gathered there the fire destroyed both the house and barn and left nothing standing except the chimneys. No estimate of the loss has been made and it was stated this afternoon that the buildings and contents were insured.

METHODIST BISHOPS

Would Abolish Rule Against Dancing, Gambling, Horse Races, Etc

MINNEAPOLIS, May 3.—"The American people are too far advanced longer to be restricted by church rules as to what their amusements shall be. The rule prohibiting dancing, card playing, gambling and going to theaters, circuses and horse races, therefore, should be abolished."

This is the gist of a report presented today to the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church by the board of bishops.

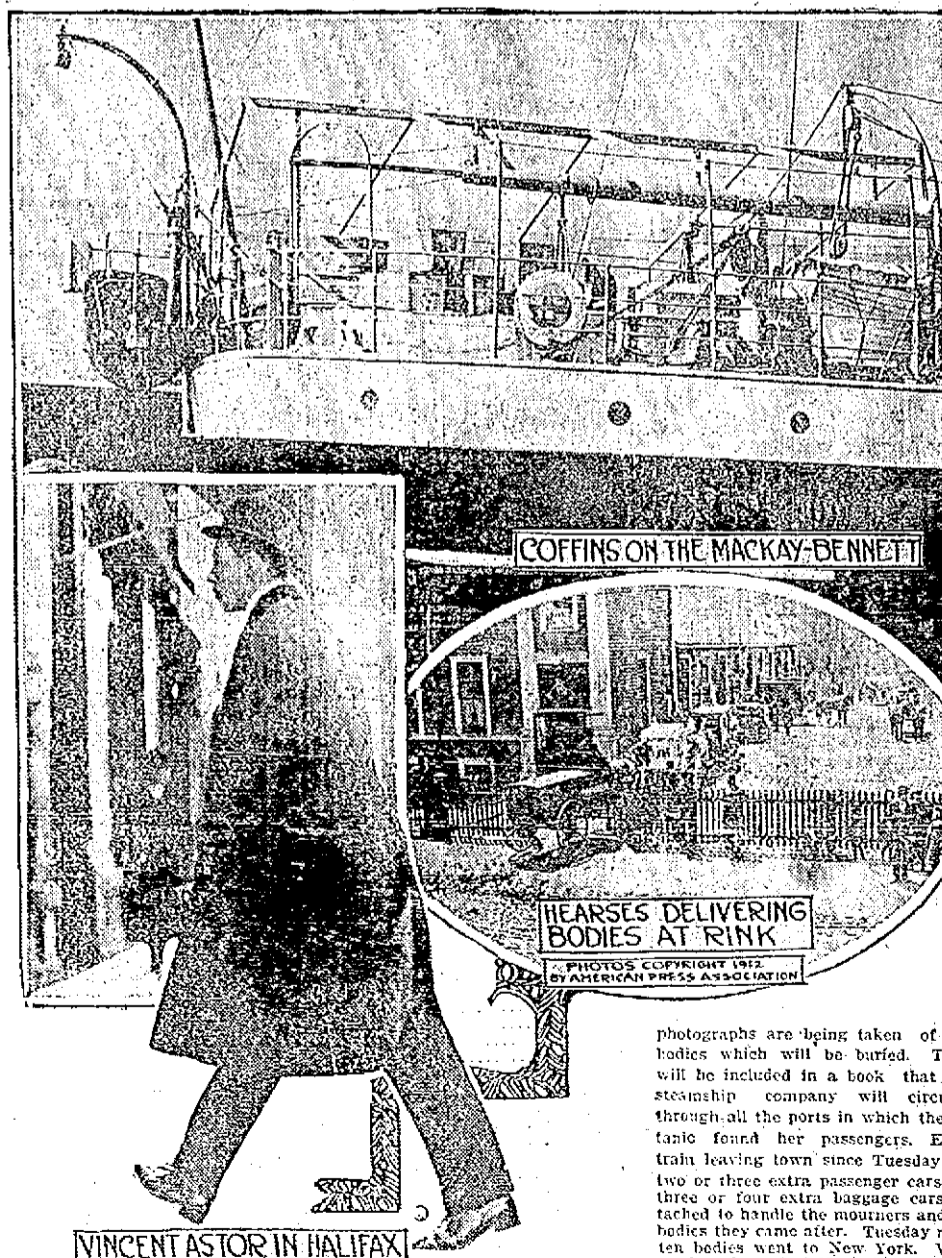

In recommending this radical change, the 24 active bishops stipulated that the church, however, should not be indifferent on these subjects, but that the people should be left to judge for themselves what is right or wrong in amusements, having before them only the injunction of John Wesley, which forbade "the taking of such diversions as cannot be taken in the name of the Lord Jesus."

The bishops declared the church reiterated its opposition to the foregoing and gambling but the rule in force since 1872 could not fix a point between

A SWINGING SHELF

One of the most convenient things for the kitchen or dining room is the swinging shelf. The shelf should be of convenient width, and the length should conform to the situation in which it is placed. A board, or boards joined together, about two feet wide and as long as you like it, should have attached to the front side of it by a hinge a leg or standards, or there may be two, one at each end. The back of the shelf should be joined to the wall by hinges, and it can thus be lifted and buttoned or hooked to the wall, out of the way, or dropped down, resting on the front legs to form a table. There is nothing more convenient, few kitchens have them.

The Bodies of Eighty Titanic Dead Will Lie in Cemeteries Near Sea

HEARSES DELIVERING BODIES AT RINK

PHOTOS COPYRIGHT 1912 BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

VINCENT ASTOR IN HALIFAX

HALIFAX, N. S., May 3.—After being brought 160 miles from the scene of their death in the Atlantic eighty bodies of the Titanic dead will be buried at the same time Friday afternoon. Sentiment in bringing the bodies ashore so that relatives might claim them must yield to laws of nature, and so nearly one-half of those the Mackay-Bennett snatched from the sea will be interred in three cemeteries overlooking the water in which they found their end. The eighty will include the bodies of both the identified and the unidentified. But before any body is put under ground evidence will be taken in such a way that a positive identification will not be difficult. In addition to a detailed system of measurement and a scientific description photographs are being taken of the bodies which will be buried. These will be included in a book that the steamship company will circulate through all the ports in which the Titanic found her passengers. Every train leaving town since Tuesday had two or three extra passenger cars and three or four extra baggage cars attached to handle the mourners and the bodies they came after. Tuesday night ten bodies went to New York. Wednesday that of Isidor Straus went away, and so did that of John Jacob Astor. The latter goes direct to Rhinecliff, accompanied by his son, Vincent.

Rev. Fr. Damien of Canada, known as the apostle of the leprosy, will give an interesting lecture at St. Joseph's college hall on May 8th. The learned speaker will take for his subject "The Leprosy," and as he has spent a part of his life with these unfortunate people, he is in a position to handle his subject in good style.

LOWELL STILL WINNING

Defeated Worcester 18 to 6---

Pop Rising Shines

There were about six hundred fans at Spaulding park yesterday afternoon to witness the second game between the Lowell and Worcester teams. But for the fact that there was a strong wind blowing across the diamond undoubtedly the attendance would have been much larger for the game yesterday was such a close one and Jesse Berkett is a star attraction himself.

Prior to the opening of the game it was learned that Umpire, pitcher for the Lowell team, had been loaned to Haverhill and that Watwick, another pitcher, had been sent to Haverhill.

Berkett who was injured while sliding home last Friday, received an X-ray examination yesterday and it was found that he was suffering from a torn ligament.

First Inning
Lowell scored two runs in the first inning but the visitors failed to send a man across the plate.

Flaherty was the first man to bat and he fled to Miller. Jacobs followed

Wilson was benched and Madden went in to pitch for the visitors. Bouttes hit to Jacob and was out at first. Miller struck out and McCune dropped the ball on the third strike but managed to throw the ball in time to get the runner. Lavigne sent a scolding to Madden and was retired at first.

Score—Lowell 5, Worcester 2.

Fourth Inning
Crum struck out. Berkett was the next man to go to bat and he singled to left field. McCune hit to Cooney who tagged second, getting Berkett and threw to first for a double play.

Wolfgang struck out and Nye went out on a fly to McCune. De Groff sent the ball to left field for two bases. Cooney was tried out on a fly to Berkett.

Score—Lowell 5, Worcester 2.

Fifth Inning
Gunning hit to Nye and was out at first. Madden went out to the same way. Flaherty fled to Miller. Magee was first out for Lowell, flying to Linderbeck. Rising sent the ball to right field for a two-bagger. Bouttes slammed the ball to right field scoring Rising. Miller fled to Crum. Lavigne fled to Berkett.

Score—Lowell 6, Worcester 3.

Sixth Inning
Jacobs was the first man up in the sixth inning and he fled to Magee. Linderbeck struck out. Aubrey went out. Cooney to Miller.

In the latter half of the inning Wolfgang received a base on balls. Nye sacrificed. Wolfgang going to second. De Groff went out. Jacobs to first. Wolfgang going to third. Cooney hit to Jacobs who threw to first and he dropped the ball and the runner was safe while Wolfgang scored. Cooney was thrown out while trying to steal second.

Score—Lowell 7, Worcester 3.

Seventh Inning
Crum drew a base on balls and Durbett fled to Miller. McCune struck out. Crum stole second. Gunning fled to Magee.

In Lowell's half Magee fled to Linderbeck. Rising sent the ball to left field for a double, this being the third two bagger he made during the game. Bouttes drew a base on balls. Rising and Bouttes made a double steal. Miller sent the ball over the left field fence for a home-run scoring Bouttes and Rising ahead of him. Lavigne drew a base on balls. Wolfgang hit to right field for a three base hit but he made a home run on an overthrow scoring Lavigne also. Nye went out. Madden to first. De Groff singled to left field. De Groff stole second. Cooney hit to Aubrey and was out at third.

Score—Lowell 12, Worcester 3.

Eighth Inning
Madden hit over second and beat the ball to first. Flaherty hit to Wolfgang who knocked the ball down but he could not recover it in time to get the runner. Jacobs fled to De Groff. Linderbeck fled to Bouttes. Aubrey hit to Cooney and Madden scored. Crum hit to Cooney who threw Flaherty out at second.

In the latter half of the inning McCune was taken out and Carigan sent behind the bat. Magee sent a base on balls. Rising made his fourth hit, singling to right field and Magee went to third. Rising stole second while the pitcher had the ball in his hand and when Madden threw the ball Magee came home. Rising stole third. Bouttes hit to Jacobs who threw to first, but Gunning dropped the ball and Rising scored. Miller hit to the pitcher who dropped the ball and the runner was safe. Lavigne singled to left. Wolfgang fled to Flaherty. Nye fled to Berkett and Bouttes scored on the throw in. De Groff hit to the left field fence making a home run scoring Miller and Lavigne ahead of him. Cooney hit to Flaherty and was out at first.

Score—Lowell 18, Worcester 4.

Ninth Inning
Berkett singled. Carigan struck out. Gunning fled to Rising. Morris went in to bat for Madden. He got a three-bagger to center and Berkett scored. Flaherty singled to right and Morris scored. Jacobs singled to right. Linderbeck went out on a fly to Rising.

The score:

LOWELL		WORCESTER
Nye, 2b	4	0	0
De Groff, rf	5	3	1
Cooney, ss	6	1	2
Magee, lf	4	1	3
Rising, cf	5	3	2
Bouttes, 3b	2	1	1
Miller, 1b	3	3	0
Lavigne, c	3	1	1
Wolfgang, p	4	2	1
Totals	37	18	27

Lowell 18, Worcester 4.

Third Inning
Jacobs went out. Wolfgang to first and Linderbeck hit to Nye and failed to reach first. Aubrey hit to center field and Rising gathered in the sphere after a beautiful running catch.

In the latter half of the inning

DIAMOND NOTES

Another one.

Pop Rising was the shining light of the game yesterday. He was strong in every department. His best work was at the bat, where he connected with four hits, three two-baggers and a single. Added to this he stole three bases. In the field he made one of the features running catches of the game.

De Groff was also strong with the stick. He made four hits, including a home run inside the grounds, two doubles and a single. The home run was his second in two days and both were inside the grounds.

Gunning on the initial sack for the Busters put up a tough game, and to think that he was once a big leaguer. He went to Worcester from the Red Sox.

In the second inning Jesse gave Wilson a call for issuing passes, later he called Madden, and still later he was calling everybody. He took it hard.

The catching of Lavigne continues to be of the apple pie order. He is throwing accurately and is also hitting well.

As a result of his two home runs, De Groff will be well supplied with Ball Durham. For each circuit club he got a check calling for 72 five cent packages.

To date there have been six home runs made on the Lowell grounds. Of these Lowell got four and Lynn two. They are all smoking it.

Lowell and Fall River at Spaulding park tomorrow, at three o'clock.

Robe De Groff, Lowell's right fielder, has quite a record in baseball. He played with the Troy team in the New York State league for quite a while, was with the St. Louis Nationals and the New York Americans, the Jersey City club, and then dropped clear down to a class D league. Now he is back in pretty fast company—New Bedford Times.

Haverhill has a Jack Barry and a Pat Barry. Both are pitchers. They both worked against Lowell yesterday and looked more like Bonhebed Barry when the champs got through with them.—Worcester Post.

Lowell has knocked the cover off the ball recently. Something must be done.—Exchange.

Jake Bouttes is playing a great game for Lowell this season and it would not be a bit surprising to see Jake go a few notches higher next season.—Exchange.

Lowell seems to have the very same disease as last year, and that's hitting the pill. The doctors' best prescription or it is good pitchers.—Exchange.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

A meeting of the amateur league will be held at the Y. M. C. A. rooms this evening at 7:30. All interested in the grammar school league should be in this evening.

The Young Mammoths would like to challenge any 12 year old team in the city for a quarter ball game to be played on May 11.

The Y. M. C. A. baseball team will open up this season at Washington park Saturday afternoon when they will play the strong South Lions.

The Chelmsford Colts team desires a game for next Saturday with any 16 year old team in or around the city. Answer at once through this paper or to Arthur Carl, Chelmsford, Grace to be played in Chelmsford.

The Maples would like to play any 17-18 year old team in the city or suburbs, May 4. Address James Campbell, 127 West Fourth street.

The Unions will play the Riverdicks Saturday afternoon at the Riverdicks grounds.

Lajoie Now Leading the Batters in American League

Larry Lajoie now tops the American batters with a percentage of .495. The Naps' great second baseman seems to have hit his stride earlier this season than last, and local experts believe Ty Cobb will have to go some to beat him out. Lajoie is also playing the same old sensational fielding game at second station. Lajoie has one remarkable record which no other player can show—he hit 329 per cent on no less than three occasions in 1896, 1905 and 1909, and hit 355 per cent in two different years, 1903 and 1906. Last season he hit 365, and judging by the way he has started out this year, he will eclipse his batting feats of 1911.

YOUNG PLAYERS NEED NERVE AND BACKBONE

Nerve and backbone are essential in the successful young ball player. Ability is often rendered worthless by timidity. It takes nerve to stand up under reverses, and only players with nerve can ever hope to make good in the major leagues. It's the fellow who keeps trying and does not lose confidence in himself who eventually makes good.

The young fellow who strikes out or makes an error and merely grins his teeth and makes up his mind to get even when the next chance comes always has a chance, but he who under such circumstances hangs his head and loses heart hasn't a chance.

There is not the slightest doubt that it is the lack of real nerve and self confidence which is responsible for so many failures among young players who get a trial in fast company. Simply because they do not start off at the pace they set in the minors they consider themselves outclassed, and once under this impression there is no chance for them to make good. Grit counts for more than a good arm and eye.

The manager of the Unions would like to meet the manager of the Riverdicks at the Bowdway at 7:30 Friday night.

The Mystics will play the Cubs Saturday afternoon at Mystic park at 2:30 o'clock.

The ML Groves and the Lincolns will meet at Lincoln park Saturday and a good game is anticipated as the ML Groves have struck their stride.

The Manhattans and the Blenchery A. C. meet Saturday and a fast game is expected. The game will be called at 7 o'clock on the South common.

The Lincolns will play the strong Mt. Groves of Pawtucket at Lincoln park next Saturday, and a good game is expected. McDaniel and Reynolds will be the battery for the Lincolns, while the Groves have secured two new men for their battery and have not announced it as yet. The game will start at 2 o'clock.

The Billing Stars would like to play any team under 15 years. Our lineup is as follows: A. Taylor, capt. and 1b; J. Decker, cf; W. Reardon, p; J. Barrett, 2b; J. Mahoney, 3b; J. Smith, ss; J. Pearl, lf; S. Barrett, lf; J. Gandy, cf; C. Mahoney, mascot. Send all challenges to A. Taylor, 43 Sutherland street.

The Watson Blues will challenge any 14-year-old team in the city for a 25-cent ball on Saturday afternoon, May 4. Our lineup is as follows: R. O'Malley, c; J. Gray, p; W. Murray, 1b; J. Gray, ss; J. Gallagher, 2b; W. Sullivan, 2b; J. Decker, lf; W. Courcy, rf; J. O'Malley, cf. Will play on any grounds with the exception of the South common. The Young Cadets are preferred. Sent notices through this paper or address John Gray, manager.

EDDIE FLYNN WINS

Beat Young Clancy in the Fifth Round--Young Boyle Also Won

Eddie Flynn of Lynn gave Young Clancy of Boston a decisive beating in the main bout at the Lowell Social and Athletic club last evening. The bout was scheduled to go 12 rounds, but ended in the sixth, when Flynn sent in a left to the solar plexus that sent Clancy to the floor, while Referee Billy Gardner counted ten.

The bout was one of the best that has staged at the club this season. At last week's meeting Flynn lost to Clancy, when one of his seconds stepped into the ring, violating the rules. In that bout Flynn was the aggressor. Last night, however, Flynn was determined.

As the round ended Flynn sent Clancy to the kidneys. Flynn started off in the third at a fast clip and made several swings that Clancy cleverly ducked. They exchanged good ones to the face and Flynn sent in heavy left to the jaw and the round ended. The fourth was exceptionally fast and in this round Clancy shaded his opponent. Clancy sent in two good lefts, but Flynn came back with three stinging lefts to the head and both clinched. Flynn came back with a left to the stomach, and Clancy came back with a right to the body and shot up a left uppercut. He tried to slip over another left, but Flynn ducked nicely.

In the fifth Flynn gave a great exhibition of ducking and side stepping and he also delivered many telling blows. Both went in fast and clinched. Clancy sent in lefts and Flynn came back with a right and left to the body. They clinched. Clancy sent in another left. When he pulled away Flynn sent in a right to body and left to the jaw and Clancy went down for the count of nine. He got up just as the bell rang. In the sixth and final round Flynn showed to great advantage. He had his man going from the start and when Clancy would try to land he displayed clever footwork. When the round was over Flynn sent in a left to the blow that ended the contest. As he left the ring he was loudly applauded.

The semi-final between Young Boyle of Lowell and Young Colburn of Boston, scheduled for eight rounds, ended in the sixth when the boy from the Hub realizing that he stood as a target for Boyle long enough decided to take the next train home. The bout was all Boyle and the Lowell man beat his man in every round.

The first preliminary between Young Kellier of Lowell and Terry O'Rourke of Lawrence was very lively and went the limit, 6 rounds to a draw. The other 14 rounds between Young Boyle of Lowell and Young Fitch of Boston, ended in the first when the Lowell boy sent his man to the mat for the count. Billy Gardner acted as referee.

Is the Fastest Man in National League

Bob Bescher of Cincinnati is the fastest man in the National league. Last season the crack outfielder of the mined to wipe out the defeat of last week and he started right in at the sound of the bell. In the first round both boxed carefully and each missed a few swings then Flynn sent in right and left to the face. Clancy came in with a good left uppercut and then they exchanged body blows. Flynn got the jump on his man in the second and sent in a shower of blows. Clancy retaliated and then ducked a left bay-ette, 9 Oak avenue, or through The Sun before Saturday.

The Meteors would like to challenge any eleven year old team in the city. Our lineup is as follows: R. Dattersby, c; W. Hall, p; W. Gary, 1b; J. Cunningham, 2b; H. Hall, ss; L. Conover, 3b; John Madden, cf; J. Flannery, lf; P. Harrington, cf; James Madden, sub; J. Decker, sub; W. Normandy, sub. Don Cunningham is our mascot. We would like a game for Saturday morning. Address all challenges to Walter Hall, 22 Lagrange street.

THE PLUMBERS WON ON BRUNSWICK ALLEY

At the Brunswick alleys last night, the Plumbers took two strings and the total from the Middlesex team. Griffin and Hession were tied for first place, with totals of 290. The score:

Plumbers—Hession 290, Quirk 252, Weldon 257, Shepard 267, Burns 254; total, 1320.

Middlesex—Sabre 250, Flint 242, Dexter 256, Griffin 290, Bordlean 245; total, 1323.

LEITCH KNOCKED OUT

He Was No Match for Billy Papke

NEW YORK, May 2.—Billy Papke of Keewau, Ill., former middle-weight champion, practically knocked out Billy Leitch, a former New York pebbler, in the second round of what was scheduled to be a 10-round bout at the National Sporting club here last night. It was Leitch's first fight as a professional. Both weighed in at 163½ pounds.

The moment the men squared off Papke rushed Leitch to his own corner and drove a hard right swing to the head. Leitch fell to one knee and grabbed the ropes to steady himself. He got up, but Papke was after him, and shortly before the bell Papke again landed him with a right swing.

Leitch was still groggy when the second round started, and after he was knocked down four times his seconds threw up the sponge.

Reds led his league in stolen bases and this season he has started off well and says he will duplicate his feats of 1911.

The Young Tigers of Belvidere defeated the Concord Blues by the score of 11 to 4—some trimming. The Tigers have a strong team and would like to challenge any team in the city under 12 years of age. The lineup is as follows: J. Curran, c; G. Callahan, p; J. Finnelly, 1b; J. Mahoney, 2b; P. Egan, ss; P. Regan, 3b; J. O'Neil, cf; P. O'Donnell, lf; F. McAffee, rf; J. McAffee, mascot.

The Young Leaders would like to play the Dovers baseball team on the North common Saturday, May 4 for a 25-cent ball. Address Jos. Boutin, 1 Hancock Ave. or through this paper.

The Brownies would like to play any 11 year old team in the city for a 25-cent ball a side next Saturday, May 4. The lineup is: Brown, c; Marcotte, p; Azzin, 1b; P. Leitch, 2b; Whittier, 3b; Lessard, ss; Abbott, cf; Bascom, lf; Archaull, cf; Dorathy, cf.

and was out. Wolfgang to first and Linderbeck was third out on strikes. In the latter half of the inning, Nye fled to Berkett, and De Groff drew a base on balls. Cooney singled to right and Magee fled to Berkett. Rising sent the ball to left field for a two-bagger and De Groff and Cooney scored. Bouttes walked. Rising tried to steal third and was thrown out by McCune.

Score—Lowell 2, Worcester 0.

Second Inning
In the second inning Aubrey drew a free pass and Crum fled to Wolfgang. Berkett hit through Bouttes and McCune hit to Wolfgang, but was safe at first. Aubrey scored on a passed ball. Gunning struck out. Wilson hit to left field for a single, scoring Berkett and McCune. Wilson went to third on a passed ball. Flaherty was third out, Lavigne to Miller.

In Lowell's half Miller drew a base on balls. Lavigne hit to Wilson, but the runner was safe at first, owing to the fact that Gunning dropped the ball. Wolfgang fouled fly to McCune and Nye went out on a fly to Wilson. Miller stole third. De Groff got a two-bagger to center and Miller scored. Lavigne went to third on the play. Cooney singled and Lavigne and De Groff scored. Magee singled to right field. Rising was third out on a fly to Crum.

Score—Lowell 5, Worcester 2.

Third Inning
Jacobs went out. Wolfgang to first and Linderbeck hit to Nye and failed to reach first. Aubrey hit to center field and Rising gathered in the sphere after a beautiful running catch.

"Safe and Sane" Aviation Hereafter

No more the aerial spiral dip, the reverse turn, the daring glide, the untimely shutting off of power and the other stunts in the air which have caused the deaths of 150 aeronauts in the past three years. No more need the casual taking of chances, no more the tempting of death that has no place in the legitimate work of the aviator.

Some of the leading aviators, American and foreign, have decided thus. They will still brave death every time they go up in the air, since this is inevitable, but they will no longer countenance and encourage the things which have sprinkled blood on every page of the otherwise bright record of aviation. As Walter Brookings, one of the prime movers for "safe and sane" aviation, said recently:

"Some weird author in a current magazine says all air men are fatalists; that we believe the game will get us sooner or later. And so we are—just as much as the rest of humanity. Most of us prize our necks as much as people in general. We need them in our business and propose to protect them."

The recent death of Calbraith P. Rodgers, the transcontinental flier, brought sadness to the hearts of aviators, among whom he was well liked. It carried conviction to the minds and hearts of many of them that something must be done to stop the needless slaughter of brave men. So some of them were called together at a meeting in New York by Walter Brookings, an aviator who cannot be accused of want of courage, and were asked to pledge themselves to further the movement for greater safety in the air. Among the men interested in the plans are the Wrights, Glenn H. Curtiss, Captain Thomas Baldwin, Bud Mars and Frank T. Cotton, the hydroaeronautist.

It was brought out at the meeting that the veterans of aviation, men who followed closely in the footsteps of the Wrights when they astonished the world something over three years ago by remaining aloft for a full minute, are still alive, while the younger generation of air men—men who think that should be written correctly when the science and art of aviation are so young—have gone the way to sudden death. Johnstone, Hoxsey, Moisant, Rodgers, Rols, Ely, Schriever, Glimour—the list is a melancholy one.

The Wrights fly no more or seldom go aloft. Glenn H. Curtiss teaches others how to fly. J. A. Drexel, society aeronaut, has curbed his desire to be the world's leading aviator. Faulkner has had enough, his friends say, while Grahame-White, the big Englishman who won prizes at the great Belmont park meeting in 1910, figures little in the news nowadays. They are not afraid, but they have passed the stage when they take foolish chances.

Upper—The late Ted Schriever, who was one of the most daring aviators (with crutches). Lower—Overturned monoplane.

Not long ago Howard Gill, one of the younger fliers, who recalled the spectacle of the spectators could see the sky between four planes that you were straining the machine far beyond safe limits. And you would always reply: "Well, I get away with it, Wilbur, and the crowds fall for it great." "Yes, but I know better now," said Brookings.

THE K. OF C.

TO RECEIVE COMMUNION AT ST. PETER'S CHURCH

Extraordinary preparations are being made for a big turnout of members of Lowell council, No. 72, Knights of Columbus, at St. Peter's church next Sunday when the communion day of the organization takes place. Grand Knight Henry J. Heaps and Rev. W. George Mullin, chaplain, who are in charge of the details, are quite desirous of having a large attendance and hence it is necessary that the members send in the post cards without delay, in order that provision can be made at breakfast for all. The knights will attend the 9:15 mass and will meet at 9 o'clock, at Lincoln hall, proceeding to the church where seats will be reserved. Special music will be rendered by the K. of C. choir under the direction of Mr. James E. Connelly. The entertainment program at the breakfast will embrace solos by Miss Katherine L. Mullin, the talented soprano, who has been heard at previous K. of C. gatherings, with pleasure. The St. Peter's band and mandolin club, will also give several selections, as well as James E. Connelly and others.

GROWS FIVE INCHES OF NEW HAIR IN THIRTY DAYS

Both men and women, inclined to baldness or dandruff, will be interested in the following simple home formula for hair and scalp treatment, strongly recommended by a reader who states that from its use, in thirty days, she grew new hair five inches long.

Bay Rum 6 oz.
Lavender de Composee 2 oz.
Menthol Crystals 1/2 oz.
These ingredients, all staple, standard and inexpensive pharmaceutical products, kept by any well equipped druggist, let the druggist mix them for you or you can do it yourself at home. Allow to stand half an hour before using. Apply night and morning, rubbing briskly into the scalp with the finger tips or a medium stiff brush.

This preparation is not only a wonderfully rapid hair grower, but it quickly stops dandruff, falling hair and itching scalp, and although it is neither a hair restorer, nor a hair color, it will restore natural color to gray, streaked or faded hair in nine cases out of ten. Inquiry develops the fact that this prescription is frequently filled by Hall & Lyon in this city, and by other prominent central city druggists, and we are led by their statement that it often makes hair grow with amazing rapidity, to warn lady users not to apply to the face or where hair growth is not desired.

AN INCREASE REPORTED

In the Value of Goods Exported

WASHINGTON, May 3.—The estimate that a billion dollars' worth of manufactures will be exported in the current fiscal year, made by the bureau of statistics, department of commerce and labor, seems likely to be justified. The official figures show for the 9 months ending with March 73 million dollars' worth of manufactures exported, these figures being for the corresponding period of the preceding year, and as the exports of manufactures in the year ending June 30, 1911, were valued at 907 million dollars, the figures at hand seem to clearly indicate that the total for the current year will pass the billion dollar line.

That the total exports of the year will exceed 2 billion dollars in value is equally apparent. The figures for the 9 months ending with March are 1711 million, against 1536 million in the same months of last year, indicating for the full fiscal year a total of approximately 2 1/2 billion dollars.

Manufactures, raw materials for use in manufacturing, foodstuffs, and miscellaneous articles form, in the order named, the articles contributing to the 73 million dollar exportation of merchandise indicated for the fiscal year which ends with next month. Comparing the exports by great groups in the 9 months ending with March, 1912, with those of a like period in 1911, manufactures increased from 656 to 730 million dollars, of which latter sum 452 million dollars represented the value of manufactures ready for consumption. In the same time manufacturers' raw materials decreased from 622 to 615 million dollars, while foodstuffs increased from 287 million to 330 million dollars. Should the rate of exportation maintained in the month of March continue during the three remaining months of the fiscal year, manufactures would show for the 12 months ending with June a total of 1 billion dollars; crude materials for use in manufacturing, 800 million; foodstuffs, 450 million; and miscellaneous articles, a total of 8 million, the gains in comparison with the preceding year being approximately 100 million dollars in manufactures and 65 million in foodstuffs, while raw materials for use in manufacturing may show a slight loss due to the lower prices of cotton in 1912.

Ten great classes supply about 70 per cent of the manufactures exported from the country. Stated in the order of their value in the current fiscal year so far as elapsed they are: iron and steel manufactures, copper, refined mineral oils, wood manufactures, leather and leather goods, cotton manufactures, agricultural implements, cars and carriages and chemicals.

Iron and steel will show for the fiscal year a total export of over a quarter billion dollars, as against 231 million in 1911 and less than 100 million in 1902. Nearly all its constituent items participated in the growth of approximately 20 million dollars indicated for the year's exports. Structural iron and steel in 9 months showed a total of 77 million dollars, an advance of 2 million dollars over the like period of 1911; wire, 8 2/3 million, an increase of 1 1/2 million dollars; builders' hardware and tools, 13 million, an increase of a half million dollars; machinery of various kinds, including electrical, metal-working, mining, shoe, engines, sewing machines, cash registers, typewriters, adding machines, etc., 82 million dollars, against 74 1/2 million in the 9 months of 1911; sheets and plates of iron and steel, 13 1/2 million dollars, an increase of 5 million over a like period of 1911; and tin plates, 1 million dollars against 1 1/2 million in the corresponding period last year.

Copper and copper manufactures, second in rank among manufactures exported, the 9 months' figures are 53 million dollars, against 57 1/2 million last year, indicating that for the full fiscal year the total will be over 110 million dollars, compared with 104 million in 1911 and 41 million in 1902. Refined mineral oils in 9 months aggregated 75 million dollars in value of exports, against 66 1/2 million last year, exceeding for the full year a total of 95 million dollars, against 82 1/2 million in 1911 and 66 million in 1902. Of wood manufactures the 9 months' exports were valued at 85 million dollars, or about 5 million dollars in excess of last year's corresponding total. This would indicate for the complete fiscal year a total of 90 million dollars, against 87 1/2 million in 1911 and 44 1/2 million in 1902.

Of leather and manufacturers thereof, valued at 44 million dollars in the nine months, against less than 20 million last year, the year's exports will probably aggregate 60 million dollars, as compared with 53 2/3 million in the fiscal year 1911 and 29 1/2 million in 1902.

Other important articles of manufacture showing increases compared with 1911 and preceding years include cotton manufactures, with a probable total export of 50 million dollars in the fiscal year which ends with next month; agricultural implements, 40 million dollars; chemicals and medicines, 25 million; naval stores, 25 million; automobiles, exclusive of tires, 20 million; other cars and carriages, 20 million; paper and manufactures thereof, 20 million; scientific instruments, 12 million; and India rubber, 12 million dollars. The foregoing classes together with the more important items discussed in detail will aggregate fully $50 million dollars, while the remaining 150 million dollars worth of exported manufactures will embrace a wide variety of articles, such as clocks and watches, motor boats, lamps and chandeliers, musical instruments, trunks and valises, phonographs and gramophones, photographic goods, oil cloth, paints and varnishes, soap, twine, etc., etc.

NORTH CHELMSFORD

The annual May party and dance under the auspices of the St. John's Ladies' auxiliary was held in the town hall last evening and it was a great success. Many were present from the surrounding towns and Lowell and all had a most enjoyable time. A conference between Louis H. Cushing, superintendent of the Lowell & Hingham street railway, and a special committee of citizens was held in the town hall yesterday afternoon. The purpose of the conference was to see if it was not possible to have certain privileges restored which had been withdrawn, to the detriment of a large number of residents of West Chelmsford, most of whom are employed in Fletcher's quarry. The subject was discussed at length but nothing definite was decided.

A STORY OF A SHIRT

One of the greatest sensations of the day will happen at the KING CLOTHING CO., Saturday at noon, when this clothing house will give every customer who calls at the store a first class shirt; that is, a regular 50c shirt for 10c, no more, no less, while they last. The object is to get acquainted with the working people and to help demonstrate what can be purchased with that 10 per cent raise in your wages. It will be the first clothing house to give this useful souvenir to its patrons. All that one has to do is to call at the store at noon, ask for a shirt, drop a dime and get 50c worth of value, and this will continue as long as the special stock of shirts lasts. The shirts are now on exhibition in the King Clothing Co.'s windows, and no one can purchase one before 12 o'clock Saturday noon. Nothing like this has ever been heard of in this city before. It is the proper way of getting acquainted with the people. So do not forget the sale and time of sale. There is no string of any kind to the souvenir sale. Come yourself and bring your friends at 12 o'clock.

STREETS ROPED OFF To Prevent Picketing and Parading Near the Mills

CLINTON, May 3.—Although 200 of more striking weavers assembled near the Lancaster Gingham mills today in an attempt to induce other operatives to join their ranks, the management said that more looms were running than on yesterday. About 150 weavers are on strike for higher wages and because one of the leaders in previous strikes was not reinstated. Ropes were stretched across Green street before the gates of the mills to prevent picketing and parading on that thoroughfare. Stationed inside the ropes were a number of policemen who allowed only the operatives desiring to work to enter the enclosure. Outside the barrier a crowd of about 200 strikers gathered and shouted.

HELD UP TWO THIEVES

Chelsea Patrolman Bravely Cowed Two Desperate Criminals

BOSTON, May 3.—Cowed by the menacing barrel of a revolver in the hands of Reserve Patrolman William O'Connor of the Chelsea police department, two alleged professional thieves, both of them desperate, were forced to stand against a wall in Cohen's junk shop at 157 Second street, Chelsea, yesterday, while the policeman telephoned for assistance.

Although one of the men is said to have declared that the officer could not take both, and signaled his companion to begin the attack, O'Connor held them until the arrival of more police.

The men were Thomas Gately, alias Thomas Norton, aged 32, of 35 Kenard street, Boston, and Frank Hawkins, alias George Dalton, 31, of 26 Randal street, South Boston, both said to have criminal records.

According to the police, O'Connor, who was not in uniform, saw the men enter the junkshop and seize a coil of copper wire. Without hesitating a moment, he followed them in, and confronted them with the evidence of their guilt. The men showed fight and made threats but O'Connor was obdurate. One of the alleged thieves is said then to have remarked that the policeman could not take both of them, and gave the signal to his comrade for the attack.

O'Connor refused to be intimidated, however, and drawing his gun and club from his pockets, he informed them that he was going to make two arrests. At the point of his revolver he backed the crooks against the wall, and while they gazed into the muzzle of the revolver, O'Connor called police headquarters and the patrol wagon was sent to the junk store.

FOR SICK HEADACHE, SOUR STOMACH, LAZY LIVER OR SLUGGISH BOWELS

Turn the rascals out—the headache, the biliousness, the indigestion, the sick, sour stomach and foul gases—turn them out tonight and keep them out with Cascarets.

Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never know the misery caused by a lazy liver, clogged bowels or an upset stomach.

Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse and regulate your stomach; remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and that misery-making gas; take the excess bile from your liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. Then you will feel great.

A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning; a 10-cent box means a clear head and cheerfulness for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

REGULATE STOMACH, LIVER & BOWELS TASTE GOOD—NEVER GRIPE OR SICKEN.

CLASS OF 10,000 PLANNED BY BIDDLE

PHILADELPHIA, May 3.—Anthony Drexel Biddle hopes by January 1913, to have the largest bible class in the world. The membership of his class is now 3400 and he plans by an aggressive campaign to increase it to ten thousand in the next eight months. The chief summer activity of the Biddle bible class will be the establishment of a week-end vacation home on the estate of A. J. Drexel, Jr., at Lansdowne, which is now being remodelled for the purpose. Mr. Biddle has installed tennis courts, a gymnasium and a baseball field, and will have dormitories to accommodate fifty men and ten women. Ten cents a night will be charged for lodging and the price of meals will be correspondingly low. No person will be allowed to sleep on the estate more than two nights in one week.

DENIES RESPONSIBILITY FOR MASSACRE

PARIS, May 3.—Mulai Hafid, the sultan of Morocco, in an interview at Fez, forwarded in this city in a special news despatch today, disclaimed all responsibility for the massacre of French soldiers and civilians during the revolt of the Moorish troops, April 17, and he insisted on his devotion to France. This attitude toward the French republic, the sultan said, was evidenced by the fact that he always had resisted the repeated solicitation of the Germans and Spaniards subsequent to the Panther incident at Agadir.

Mulai Hafid complained, however, that he had been despoiled of all authority. He never had been consulted even regarding affairs relative to his own family. He advised the French to go slow in winning over the Arabs. If they were treated with gentleness and liberality, he declared, they would make marvellously efficient corps of the French army.

Vassar's Famous Daisy Chain May Have to Go

VASSAR DAISY CHAIN

Life will assume a greater significance, less warm in the June sun, with the passing of the Vassar daisy chain. The daisy chain, however, perhaps not irrevocable, of its passing means the elimination of a feature of American life, which is only too poor in those elements of outdoor enjoyment which lighten the burden of existence in some of our countries. With the New Orleans Mardi Gras, the flower festivals in Pasadena, San Diego and other California cities and a few other affairs of the sort, the Vassar daisy chain has helped to lift from the American people the charge of "taking their pleasures badly." Its passing means a distinct loss to American outdoor life.

For half a century, ever since the foundation of Vassar, the famous women's college at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., the daisy chain has been carried in annual procession by a score of the prettiest members of the sophomore class as a part of the ceremonies of class day, Tuesday of commencement week. On the day before class day all the members of the sophomore class sally forth into the fields surrounding Vassar and gather the daisies to make up the monster chain.

For each member of the graduating class a fest of the chain is woven, and the mass of daisies in recent years has generally been over 200 feet long. Marching proudly down the line between rows of thousands of visitors to Vassar for commencement week, this score of pretty members of the sophomore class, chosen for their beauty and grace, have always been the object of all observers. They have been chosen by committees composed of the presidents of the senior classes, the presidents of the sophomore classes and the chairmen of the day committees.

But, alas, it is said the daisy chain has been marked for extinction. No more may it be carried in triumph over Vassar's greenwards. No more may a score of maidens bear the distinction of "the prettiest at Vassar." Vassar is proud, very proud, of its half-century record in scholarship and the number of young women it has turned out with trained minds, stores of knowledge gained by hard work and bodies fitted by systematic, careful, thorough exercise and the best of advice to bear the burdens of the world.

Vassar seeks no distinction based on the fairness of face and form of its students. Therefore, runs the chain of logic, since the daisy chain confers on Vassar unsought fame as the home of pretty girls, the daisy chain must go. Hence these tears, as some one said in Latin long ago.

Besides, Vassar thinks the selection of twenty-four maidens as representatives of the sophomore class in the past has led, perhaps, to the reflection that the rest of the class was not equal to the fortunate few in personal attractiveness. That is not fair, since every one knows that all Vassar girls are uncommonly beautiful. But they are human, and it is natural for envy to rankle in the feminine heart when another is preferred solely on the score of beauty.

To this argument the reply has been made, "Why not let the entire sophomore class carry the daisy chain?" But here arises again the objection that Vassar collectively (not individually, of course) seeks no fame based on the beauty of its students. To let the entire sophomore class carry the chain would, it is said, emphasize before the world the assertion that the thousand Vassar girls have among their number an unusually large proportion of Hesperides and Dianes. And official and studious Vassar wants to avoid that reputation.

Last year there came near being no daisy chain carrying at all. It rained the day before, and pretty frocks were ruined by the hundreds. The weather man threatened to be unkind on the great Tuesday, but he fortunately repented in time, and the chain was carried in accordance with custom.

According to one report of last year's ceremony, "there have been other class days at Vassar, and hundreds of beautiful sophomores have carried the daisy chain before the departing seniors, but even the alumnae conceded that nothing has ever been so effective and entrancing as the exercises held today on the campus. Forth from a cloud gloomed sky broke

A flood of sunshine as the daisy chain was carried through a lane of 2000 persons by twenty-four fair maidens in the sophomore class. The daisy chain girls fulfilled all the traditions of Vassar for beautiful women, and walked down to the platform amid the smiling approbation of the thousands.

No sectional lines are drawn in selecting the bearers of the chain. There are 278 members of the class from whom the twenty-four have been chosen for this year's distinction. New York and New Jersey share the honor of contributing four daughters each to the line of beauty. Wisconsin, California, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts have two each, and the other states with one apiece are Virginia, Ohio, Connecticut, Montana, Michigan, Maine, Iowa and Missouri. Last year's daisy chain was upheld partly by a young woman from Manila, but she was not a Filipino, but a girl of American parentage.

THE ANNUAL RECEPTION

Was Held at Elvin's Dancing Academy

The 21st annual reception of Mr. and Mrs. Elvin's dancing academy class was held last night at the hall in Dutton street. The interior of the hall was decorated in an artistic and attractive manner and as usual there was a large attendance.

The affair opened with a grand march, about fifty couples participating and at the conclusion of the march general dancing was enjoyed. The committee in charge of the party was as follows: General Manager W. E. Elvin, floor director, John P. Healey, assistant floor director, Martin Kennedy, Harry Clay, Leo Blaney, Daniel Bell, David E. Corneil, Cecilia Parker, reception committee, Frank Dixon, Joseph Russell, Arthur Brunette, C. P. Dorge, Alex. McAsken, Elzear Landry, Herman Allen, aids, Charles Armstrong, Joseph Lee, Harry Watson, Harold Williams, Martin Hinched, J. J. Gilley, John Osborn, Philippe Girard, Roy Peters, John Griffin, Thomas Spencer, William Kelley, James Daley.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The committee which has charge of the complimentary anniversary dance which is to be held under the auspices of Division S. A. O. H., met last night and made final arrangements for the party. It is expected that there will be a large attendance at the affair.

Knights of Pythias
The regular meeting of Lowell lodge, Knights of Pythias, was held last night. There was a large attendance and considerable routine business was transacted. The relief committee stated that Brother E. N. Patterson was off the sick list. The death of Brother Chas. M. Dalton was reported and it was voted to send condolences to the family and to appoint bearers to officiate at the funeral. It was also voted to work the rank of page for S. H. Hines and Wamsley lodges on May 15.

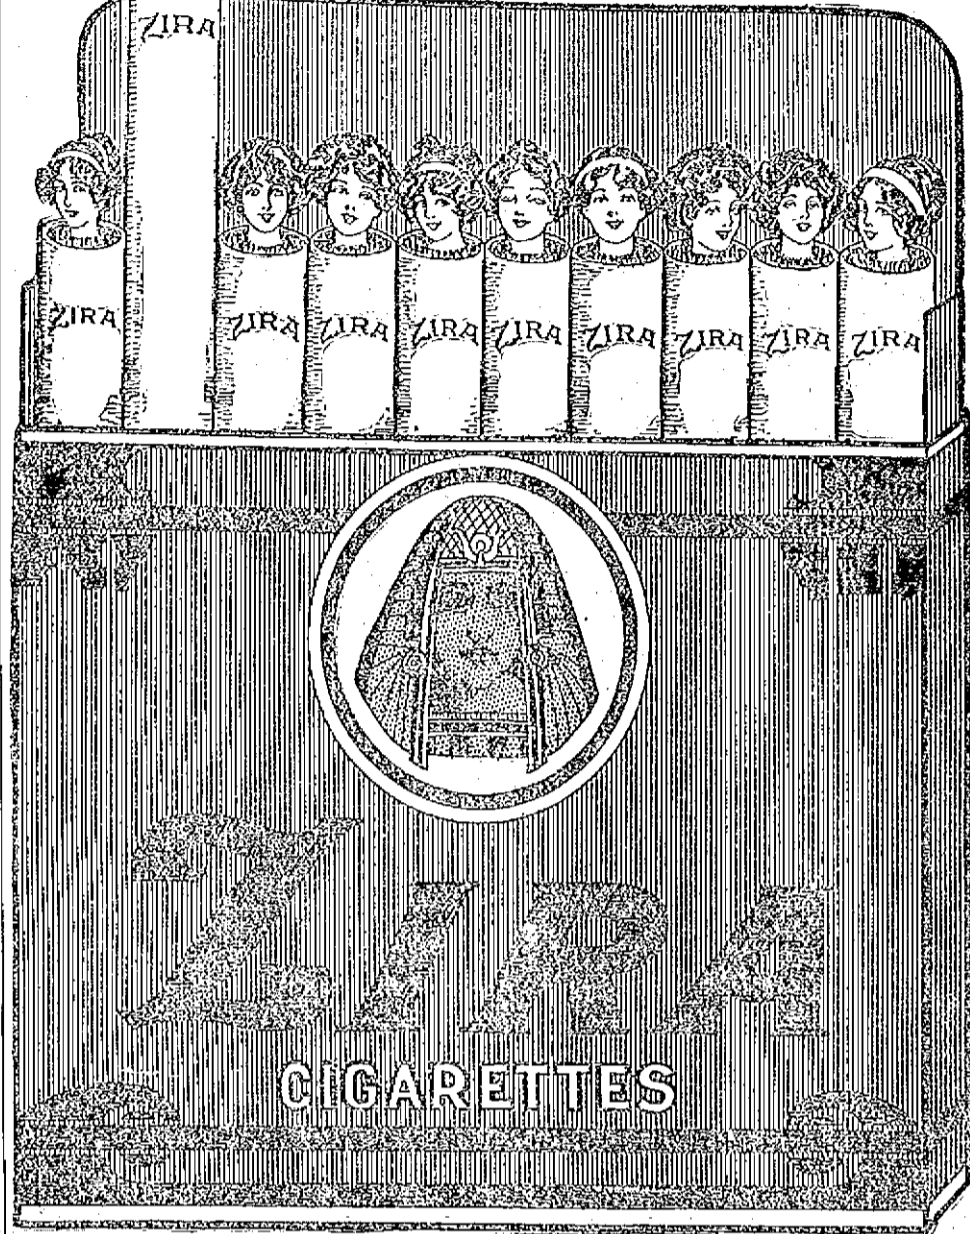

The Grand Army
The regular meeting of James Garfield Relief Corps, No. 53, was held last evening in G. A. R. hall. One member was admitted into the order by reinstatement and on application for membership was received. General orders for Memorial day were read. Mrs. Lestina E. Parker, delegate to the department W. R. C. convention held in Boston, in April gave her report. The corps will present a flag to the Eliot church, May 12. Arrangement was made to observe Memorial day, May 20, and the day, June 14, also the water service to be held in Tyngsboro, June 3.

large attendance of members and much business was transacted. A communication was read from the grandmaster, naming Sunday, June 17th as Memorial day of the order and a committee was appointed to make arrangements for the occasion. The committee is made up of Past Grandmasters, Cross and Baleon. Degree Master Perry announced a rehearsal of the first degree after the next regular meeting May 8, and hoped the whole staff would turn out. This degree will be conferred on the 15th and any Odd Fellow who has not witnessed this degree as put on by the present staff should not fail to attend. Those who have seen it will no doubt be on hand again.

A committee has been appointed to look after a collection that will be served after the meeting on the 15th. The Oods

The Importance of Health

THE average woman will become pale and sallow after a few years of business life. But this should not be so. It is said that "business is a killing life for a young girl," but the real truth is that most girls neglect their health. First, they neglect their food. They often expect to do a man's work and a share of the domestic work on the improper kind of diet. If girls desire to keep fit for work, to enjoy life, they must make a point of having good, hot, nourishing meals. Like dressing well, it is a real economy.

Next to diet, sleep is all important. Business girls should make a point of retiring early. If they go to bed late each night, it is not a matter of wonder that they are tired during the following day. Every business girl needs eight hours of sleep every night in the week, if she has not a constitution of cast iron. And if she sleeps with the window open and makes a point of a morning bath or a cold sponge she will feel like a different person.

The business girl must recognize that if she wants to do good work she must have a healthy body. The tired-out, anemic brain is not in fit condition to do good work. Keep the brain clear and bright and the mind healthy, otherwise one will miss the opportunities. Study diet, and study rest. Take exercises every day. One can usually manage to walk to and from work, and have ten minutes' exercise every night.

There is not the slightest doubt that the man or woman who habitually breathes correctly will not be addicted to colds or any other ailment of nervous nature. First inhale deeply through the nose, then close both your nostrils with a thumb and finger. Now, as it is the object to cause the air to blow into the nostrils and head, try to exhale gently through the nostrils, keeping the fingers firmly in position, holding the air for twenty seconds, with fingers compressing the nostrils and the lips closed, and then discontinue pressure on the nose and exhale slowly. This exercise is not only of great assistance in warding off a cold, but has been known to cure a slight cold when practiced off and on during the day.

Deep breathing exercises are always of especial benefit to women, but the other exercises should not be neglected. A small exercising machine, of the kind easily fastened to a wall, is a very beneficial article. One is easily put in place and taken down, and the exercise, when taken regularly, strengthens the muscles of the arms, back and neck to a remarkable degree.

Women, especially those in business, often neglect their health, one of the really important things of life. Its importance cannot be exaggerated, as one will discover when ill-health comes. To keep the body in a first-class condition is one of the rules of life, and all of the things that go toward such a condition should be given a thorough study.

Notes and Notions of Latest Fashions

IT is the custom nowadays to take these dresses that have made the best impressions during the winter and turn them into new editions for summer wear. Velvet corduroy is one of these favorites that will have its counterpart during warm weather. Fashion makers claim the cotton corduroys have a future before them, for the fact that they are corrugated, or striped makes them very becoming to all types of figures, and especially to those that are no longer slender.

It is reported that black broderie Anglaise frocks are asserting their presence in the most exclusive shops which will not countenance taffeta in any other guise. The dresses are quite charming and are really the latest idea when worn with little lingerie cuffs and collars. It is really the embroidery, however, which gives them tone, and that, again, vouches for the quality of the silk, since no one can place time and labor into a cheap taffeta that splits easily.

The range of brown this season is a wide one. Nearly all of the shades have a hint of gold in them which gives a peculiar warmth and value to the color. Not brown but a favorite for summer street suits, and the shades of this rich color vary to the palest fawn. Grays will also be very popular, nearly all of the shades being made up into pretty suits. Many glazing and extravagant colors will be used. The fabrics of the hour take on the most rich and beautiful dyes. Geranium and poppy reds, orange, vivid purple, brilliant blue, emerald green will be worn during the summer, and there will be a very earnest effort to make strong green and golden yellows regain a place in the latest creations. Gowns that have the necessary "chic" will have the violent touches of color that give contrast, and the clouds of filmy stuffs will flaunt all sorts of colors.

Mr. Justwed Hears A Few "Whispers"

HE Justweds are by no means the only sightseers at Washington who go to the Capitol, see both Houses of Congress in session, admire the vast rotunda, climb up to the top of the dome and then leave—unaware of the fact that they have missed one of the most interesting points about this majestic structure—the "whispering gallery," as it is popularly called. It isn't really a gallery, for "it" is simply two columns at opposite sides of Statuary Hall. In some inexplicable way, a word spoken close to one column—even a whisper—can be heard distinctly by anyone standing near the other column clear across the room.

Though Mr. and Mrs. Justwed were not aware of the existence of such a "gallery," they discovered it a short while after they had entered Statuary Hall—which, because of the austerity of the marble statues there many call the "Hall of Horrors." And thereby hangs a tale.

Art critics to the contrary notwithstanding, Mrs. Justwed was really enjoying the statues of the nation's great men as she and Mr. J. wandered from one to the other in the Hall. Never before had Mr. J. been known to manifest any interest whatever in paintings, statues or anything connected with the world of art. But this time, he was, at least, to be more exact, he seemed thoroughly content to remain in the Hall. Of course, there was a reason. And this you shall see presently.

All unknowingly, in their wanderings, they had come close to one of the magic columns. And presently, quite from nowhere, Mrs. Justwed heard a feminine voice exclaim:

"Do you think they're bride and groom, mother?"

Naturally she glanced up to see who had spoken. To her amazement, no one but Homer—dear was near. Way over on the other side of the room were two women, evidently mother and daughter (and the daughter was an extremely handsome girl). But Mrs. J. merely glanced at them, confident that it could not have been them.

"Homer—" she began, sheer wonder in her tone.

"No, indeed, Alice. The man is no groom—look at him fidgeting around. Why, he's utterly indifferent—" the mysterious voice broke in.

"Did you hear that, Homer?" exclaimed Mrs. J.

"Isn't he making a fool of himself, Alice? Do you think he has a pain in his stomach—he looks it?"

"No, mother, I think he's merely trying to attract my attention. He's been looking at me every minute since he's been in the room and I—" Mrs. J. knew, too—but not what Mr. J. knew!

For the interrupting voice had this time breathed gently the words:

He had. Moreover, he was standing with his mouth wide agape and a look of utter helplessness upon his face.

"They're from the country, anyway, mother. Look at her hat—Isn't it simply dreadful!"

Mrs. J. turned quickly about—in all directions.

Mr. J. swallowed hard and gasped for breath.

"Look at them gaping about—what in the world do you suppose they're doing that for, Alice? He looks like he's going to strike her!"

Mrs. J. staggered and reached out wildly for support.

"Grab her—grab her—she'll fall!" came the voice again.

Mr. J. jumped, electrified, and supported Mrs. J. while she strove to regain her scattered wits.

"Homer—" she gasped weakly, "what—what is it? Wh—where are they?"

Suddenly a great light dawned upon Mr. Justwed and he laughed right out loud. Instantly Mrs. J. had fully recovered and was blazing with wrath.

"Homer!" she snapped. "Homer Justwed—you're a brute!"

But Mr. J. continued to laugh. In fact, he doubled up with laughter.

Tap—tap—tap—tap—tap—tap—went Mrs. J.'s foot on the floor, the while she struggled valiantly to articulate through her anger.

"Haven't she a dreadful temper, mother," said the voice. "Look at her. I wonder what he's done—poor man."

At this Mr. J. fairly screamed and reached weakly in his pocket for a handkerchief with which to wipe away the tears of laughter.

"Ho—ho—o—o—o," he finally managed to explain, "we're the victims of a practical joke. There's a ventriloquist in the room some place and he—or rather she—is simply having a little fun with you. You see now, don't you—here! Cut that out, you! Enough!"

The June Bride's Wardrobe

AS the years go by more and more importance is attached to bridal gowns and trousseaus. This season the novelties of such a wardrobe are more marked than ever before. Original effects can be obtained—effects wholly and completely artistic. It has been noticed that the bride of today usually has a toilette made distinctive by some special feature about the gown. This can be either in point of material, style or decorative strain, or perhaps in all three. The modern materials and styles also lend themselves to bridal outfits more readily than ever before, and no trousseau is complete without this individual note.

There are many lovely brocades, through which a silver of gold light shimmers; while sometimes a similar appearance is wrought with a simple velvet; velvet-brocade or alpaca, mounted over metal tissue or the very faintest of blush pink. It would seem that the style creators had delved back into the quaint pictures of Mediaeval ages for some of their ideas and suggestions. Of course, modern requirements have changed the modes to a certain extent, but it will be found that the latest bridal gown carries a touch suggestive of centuries back.

There is nothing more enchanting than to see "a divinely tall" bride, arrayed in some plain, but artistic, shimmering brocade, and this material will be a special note of the June bridal fashion. The long wrinkled sleeves are to be fashioned of old lace, as will be the ends of a platted girdle of silver cord. The square cut neck of the corsage being carried to the base of the throat by a flat, and scarcely visible, tucker of Nipon.

But the June bride will not find herself restricted to a few definite modes, as was the case some years ago. There are few restrictions to the smart wedding dress—Dance fashion merely decrees that it be simple to an extreme. To say that it must be simple does not mean that it shall not be artistic, however, and discretion is the proper guide in making the selection.

The smart veil and its cap are made of tulle, the latter to be caught about with orange blossoms. Lace is much favored for the bridal gown. It is used unsparingly and in various ways.

The daintiest confections imaginable for the petite bride are devised on some transparency enriched with lace or embroideries, to which a note of dignity is imparted by an attached train of soft satin or brocade. The train is one of the most important details of the bride's costume.

It can be arranged in a flat, sparsely manner, rather than in a multitude of draperies. A recent bride wore a fichu of point d'aiguille lace—evidently a flounce as the back fell into soft cascades on the train.

To go with the fichu there is an attempt being made to bring into prominence a sort of little cap arrangement for the head. It is fashioned of frills of the daintiest of lace, each one defined by a small wreath of orange or myrtle blossoms. The veil falls from this in tapering folds on to the hair.

The old restricted dress of white satin has almost been discarded in an attempt to break away from the old styles, and success seems to have resulted.

As the summer advances there is a more pronounced fad for old lace. It will be used as an adornment throughout the fashionable world, and collectors of the dainty relics which have been hoarding up for years will do well to bring them out. In these old pieces the net between the sprigs of the pattern may have given away, but this will not daunt the fashionable beauty.

She can immediately back her priceless heirloom with chiffon or filmy net and with a few ornamental stitches make the old piece more beautiful and valuable than ever before. There is nothing prettier than the square corsage with a deep flounce of lace, headed with a sparkling jeweled insertion, with the ends of the lace brought over the shoulders and fastened into the waistband at the back, the V-shaped opening filled in with a wide band of Oriental embroidery.

For years women have been wearing wide skirt knickers, but they have passed, and in their place there is the shapely culotte, which defines without actually clipping the bend of the knees, a subject that is made the point of much decorative treatment. Fashion makers predict that the culottes will be worn for some time to come. They have been compelled to make up in quality what they have missed in quantity. There are some wonderful combinations in petticoats, trimmed with the finest of laces.

A Few Helpful Moments With the "Get There" Club

A Little Deal in High Finance.

WHAT a spirit of one's self first and the dickens with the others permeates modern business nowadays can scarcely be denied by anyone. Such sayings as "Look out for Number One," "Get what's coming to you," and "I've got mine," are honored in the observance day in and day out. So long as it is accomplished honestly, forget about what is justly due the other fellow and grab it all yourself! With but rare exceptions here and there such seems to be the attitude of most men who earn their own living—men in the ordinary walks of life, you understand, not merchants, trust officers or captains of high finance!

A few weeks ago when the terrible news of the Titanic tragedy shook the country from one end to the other, a certain young man saw the chance of making a little money in handling the extra editions of the newspapers in his home city. As you recall, the public was so eager for news of the disaster that it fairly took the papers away from the newsboys. Editions poured from the presses at short intervals for several days, and the little news-vendors had no trouble whatever in getting five cents per copy for their wares.

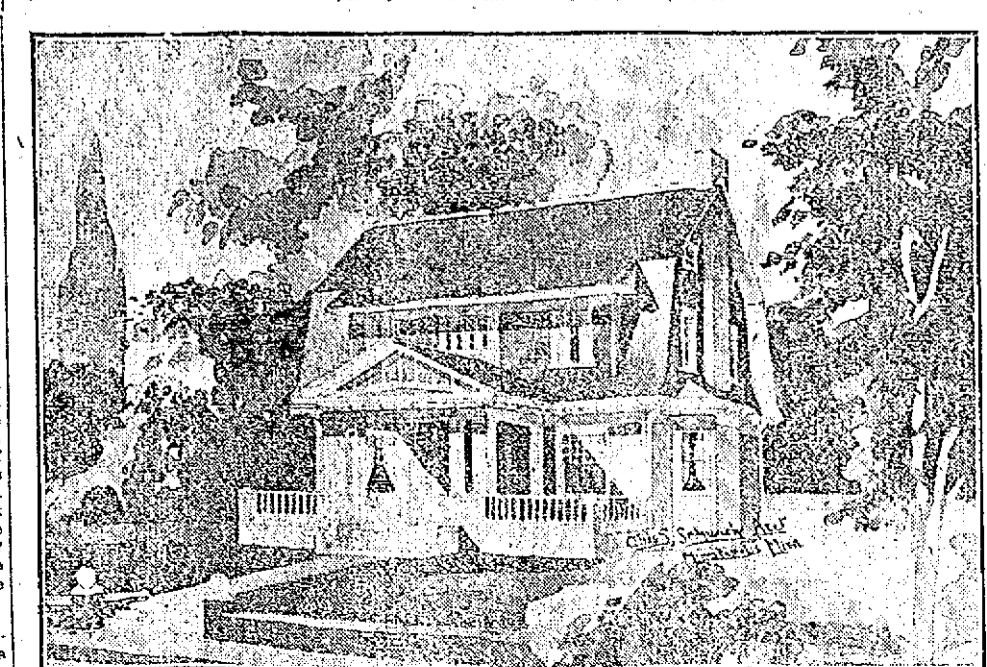

Now this young man in question had lost his regular job several weeks before the disaster. He made the rounds of his acquaintances seeking help in the securing of another position. In fact, he walked and whined about being out of a job like a whipped dog. Though by no means popular with them, several combined their efforts and landed him a job as a stenographer at a salary of fifteen dollars per week. So, when he began his thoroughly laudable scheme of making money from the sale of extras he was not in need of the necessities.

He got hold of four boys, sons of neighbors. They were not regular newsboys, you bet, or he could never have "got by with the rough stuff" the way he did. But they were energetic young Americans ready to pick

Cement and Shingle Design With Gambrel Roof

DESIGNED BY CHAS. S. SEDGWICK, ARCHITECT.

THE design shown in our illustration is a very pleasing combination of cement stucco from the grade line to the top of the first story, and shingles above in the gables. The roof being treated in the gambrel form with double pitch, brings the cornice down low over the first story windows, this treatment admits a very artistic color effect. The shingles on the walls and gables are of a brown shade, the shingles on the roof of the same color of a darker shade, the cement in the first story a light buff tint, and all of the casings, cornices, etc., painted white. The entire construction is frame with the cement stucco on metal lath. It is estimated this house can be built complete, exclusive of heating and plumbing, for $2,500.

Three Million Matches a Minute

THE civilized nations of the world strike three million matches every minute of the twenty-four hours. The estimate has been made according to manufacturing figures and cannot be far from correct. Fifteen hundred billion is the number for the entire year, and the persons who live under the American flag are charged with consumption of one-half of the full amount.

The importance of the industry which turns out the little matches is only recognized when the average smoker attempts to contemplate his predicament if he had to go back to the time when he was forced to coax a spark from a tinder box. The small splinter of wood ignited by friction demands as much attention in the choice of wood involved in its manufacture as any other forest product.

Only the choicest portions of the best trees are suitable. Sapwood, knotty or cross-grained timber will not answer for the purpose. Instead of being a by-product, the little match is turned out at hundreds of mills throughout the country, where the by-products are bulky articles such as doors, sashes, shingles, posts and cordwood. The pines, linden, as

SALISBURY BEACH FIGHT

The municipal board did the right thing in voting to endorse the movement to make Salisbury beach a state reservation. There are probably one thousand cottages or more on that beach, and they have been built by people who had leased the lots on the assumption that they could renew their leases on reasonable terms. Until recently no lots were sold on Salisbury beach as proprietors or supposed proprietors could not give a title. The beach was originally set apart under a grant from the British crown for the commoners of New England, and it was only by ingenious political wire pulling that the right to sell was secured.

It is understood that the syndicate owning the beach will insist that every lessee must purchase his lot as soon as his lease expires. He must purchase also at the price the proprietors see fit to demand. Very few of the cottage owners are willing to do this. They regard the price asked as exorbitant, and that explains why they are before the legislature asking that the state take over the beach and deal fairly with them. There is no doubt whatever that the state can recoup itself for all the expenditure necessary by leasing lots to cottage owners. The beach has become popular, but it requires to be improved. Some improvements were started last summer, but they moved slowly and something is required on a larger scale. It would be very unfair to compel the owners of cottages to purchase their lots at an arbitrary price. Many of the present owners purchased the cottages assuming that they could have the leases renewed on reasonable terms.

The cities of the Merrimack Valley, including Lowell, are interested in this beach and favor the proposition to have the state take over the property and improve it for the benefit of the people of New England.

THE STATE HIGHWAY TO LOWELL

As it is now apparent that the bill to appropriate money for completing the state highway between this city and Lawrence will become law, there is an important consideration that should receive very serious attention. It is that of deciding upon the course to be followed by the highway from Bridge street to the car barn on First street. It is very desirable that the First street hill should be avoided, as that is a most dangerous portion of the road. On one side there is a high hill on which there is usually a landslide to the roadway every winter while the other side marks the brow of a precipice. This route would be very dangerous to automobiles and other vehicles. The road could be directed along the river bank from Indian Orchard to the Central bridge on the new made land belonging to the Locks & Canals company. This would afford a level road bed along the river, and while it might be more expensive than the course over the hill, still the advantage to be derived from this route would more than compensate for the additional outlay.

It is to be hoped that the Locks & Canals company will do their part to make this route available, and that the county and highway commissioners as well as the municipal board of Lowell will sanction the movement, and use their influence to have this course adopted.

The proposition of the board of health to have girls at school taught how to take care of babies may be well meant. But the girls at school have to learn something more urgently needed at the present time. Who would teach the girls if the subject were introduced? Few are qualified except the mothers and trained nurses. The girls should get this instruction at home not at school. The board of health should endeavor to have the mothers instructed in the art of feeding and caring for babies. They are the persons directly responsible. They should all be trained in the art, but unfortunately a very considerable number of them is not. Can the board of health do anything to enlighten them?

There is talk of organizing a strike in the Lowell machine shop. No doubt the men who work there are entitled to higher wages, but in spite of that fact it is well to remember that the "Big Shop" has not been prospering of late and that a strike at this time might close it up indefinitely. The out-of-town agitators do not know this and perhaps do not care. In this case it would be well for the employees to be cautious and to investigate before taking any step that might close up and ruin an industry once the best in our city but that unfortunately for some years past has been struggling for existence.

We believe the grammar masters should be glad to be relieved of the supervisory duty imposed upon them. It was an interference with their school work that should never have been proposed but for the policy of making somebody else do the superintendent's work. The principals have plenty of work to do in their respective schools without going about the state to visit teachers who seek positions in this city.

If the pay of wireless operators be increased in proportion to the importance their business has assumed in the light of the recent disaster, they will be the best paid officers on the ocean liners. It is time they were advanced above the status of mere office boys. They carry a great responsibility and should be paid of brains and experience.

City Treasurer Stiles says the $18,990 of public hall money has not been spent. The discussion has gone so far orally and on paper that the municipal board would be justified in asking to see the cash.

Champ Clark must be well pleased with the vote he received in the Massachusetts primaries. He is popular as a democrat, but the real question is whether he could beat either Taft or Roosevelt.

At one of the most reported meetings of the year, it might be expected that every member of the municipal board should attend.

SEEN AND HEARD

Physical beauty manifests itself in various forms and sizes and is restricted to no particular division of the animal kingdom. So, at least, believes a gentleman living in Parker village, who, in an advertisement in the "For Sale" column of a daily paper, informs the public that he will sell some "handsome" young pigs. Now, with all due respect to the gentleman in question, we believe he should have selected some other adjective to describe the physical appearance, possessing though it may be, of his infantile porkers. For he it from us to engage in any controversy with him as to his privilege to style his pigs "handsome." He has the right, of course, to speak of them as even beautiful or fascinating or bewitching or ethereal or charming or comely or graceful, or lovely, or elegant pigs. This fact, we admit, is as plain as the nose on our face. But, in using that particular adjective did the owner of the pigs, while preparing the advertisement, pause to consider that in calling the animals "handsome" he might offend the grammatical taste of some prospective customer? Such would be not at all unlikely, for though a man may be interested in pigs it does not follow that he is uninterested in adjectives. The word "handsome," as distinguished from "pretty," implies culture and gracefulness. Thus, it may be that an unusually well formed pig, one with a most agreeable countenance, caught by an elastic use of the adjective, be termed a "pretty" pig, but we defy any man to show us one that properly may be designated a "handsome" pig. Should this adjective gradually creep into common use as a means of describing something sleek and fat, imagine the feelings of a refined young woman when she is told by some well meaning admirer that she is handsome. An icy glance, instead of a complacent beam, will be her silent answer. However, there are exceptions in every case and there is an exception in that of the "handsome" pig. It is this: Though the pig can never be called "handsome" in the whole, he may, if properly prepared, be termed "handsome" in the part. This statement, no doubt, sounds rather ambiguous. Well, we mean that "handsome" may be properly applied to him when his left leg is brought to us at dinner, done to a turn. Browned to a charming complexion, adorned with spruces of green, and exhibiting all the culture known to the professors of cookery, then and only then may Mr.

ALWAYS SUSPECT YOUR STOMACH

Do Not Be Fooled by Misleading Symptoms.

If your digestion is out of order you may have symptoms that will mislead you into thinking you have heart disease, kidney trouble, some nervous or blood disorder. Better look to the stomach first. It is here that the blood gets its nourishment. If the digestion is disordered, the blood will be out of order. Poor digestion fills the blood with poisons. This impure blood poisons every tissue of the body. The dyspeptic awakes in the morning with a dull, heavy head and is irritable, melancholy, and dizzy because the brain, nerves and muscles have been poisoned from the stomach.

Mrs. W. F. Randall, whose address is R. F. D. No. 1, West Kennebunk, Me., says: "I tried two doctors and both failed to help me. I had a bad stomach and did not think I would ever get well. My stomach would pain me severely at times, which I believe was due to gas forming on it. Sometimes my food would cause sour stomachs. My liver was torpid. I had palpitation of the heart and if I walked fast my heart would beat rapidly and I would get all out of breath. I had bad flashes all over my body. I was extremely nervous and if excited would tremble like a leaf and have no control over my actions. Towards the last when I was so sick, my head ached over the eyes affecting the sight. I had frequent spells of weakness and would have to lie down and rest. I had neither strength nor ambition and did my work indifferently. I lost greatly in weight. I had been sick for several years when a friend recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People because they had helped her and I began to take them. It is wonderful how they helped me. I soon felt better and was so pleased that I continued their use until I was cured. I am willing to tell anyone of my cure and have recommended the pills to many people."

A new edition of the booklet, "What to Eat and How to Eat," is free on request. Send a postal for it to day and begin to cure yourself by following the directions it contains.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

A simple application of the new remedy, Cadum, will stop the burning and itching, and prevent infection from disease germs. Cadum is an antiseptic that is wonderfully soothing and healing to an inflamed, irritated or broken skin, and can be used with confidence for skin and scalp troubles of adults and infants. A small cut, scratch, sore or wound is a nesting-place for disease germs. Cadum should be in every home for immediate use in all such emergencies, and for prompt application to skin troubles. It has proved a blessing to many who have suffered for years from tormenting and disfiguring skin diseases. Cadum acts quickly upon eczema, pimples, blotches, rashes, eruptions, sores, rough skin, chafings, itching piles. Of all druggists, 10c and 25c.

Pig be termed "handsome."

There is still considerable speculation as to just what the wireless signal "S. O. S." is when rendered in words or a phrase, despite the fact that it was explained by Marconi himself when he testified before the senate committee which is inquiring into the Titanic disaster.

They are simply arbitrary letters in the international code used as a signal of distress, and they mean that the vessel from which they are sent is in serious trouble and in need of immediate assistance.

They were, it appears, selected because they are the easiest to make and the most easily distinguishable. The characters used in making the letter S are three dots, and in making the letter O three dashes, so that the S. O. S. signal is, according to what is called "Continental Morse," but which American operators refer to simply as "Continental," three dots, three dashes and three dots.

The same letters in the American Morse characters would be three dots, dot space dot, and three dots.

The S. O. S. signal superseded the C. Q. D. and was agreed upon at the international convention regulating wireless, which was held in Berlin shortly after the Republic disaster, the United States, by the way, not being a party to the conference up to the present time.

The letters C. Q. formed a Marconi general call, an order for every one within hearing to pay heed, and with the D. added meant danger, and for every one to keep out and not interfere with the sending of this signal, and the information which was to follow it.

The letters C. Q. D. in Continental Morse are made up of dots and dashes as follows: Dash, dot, dash, dot; dash, dot, dash; and dash, dot, dot.

In the American Morse the same letters are: Dot, dot, space, dot; dash, dot, dot; and dot, dot, dash, dot.

The S. O. S. signal, often in Continental or American Morse is less complicated, more quickly and easily made, and more readily detected, when sent according to either system, than was the C. Q. D., hence the change.

Of the two systems American operators on wire and wireless prefer the American Morse code, because it is so much faster and competent operators have no trouble whatever with its spaced letters, which is one of the objections raised against it. It certainly is more musical, if there be any music in either, and in this respect, in the sound to the ear, it compares with continental as big time music does to a lively march.

Wireless operators must be able to send and receive by both systems before they are given a license.

MAJOR ARCHIE BUTT

It's mighty good to think of him upon the steamer's deck. Face front to death with head erect and pistol drawn to check the rush of terror-maddened men, that women might be saved, it's good to think of Major Butt, and knowing what he braved. It ought to make you love the Stars and Stripes a little more. Than you have ever loved the red and white and blue before.

Your eyes are dim with tears today, you knew and loved him so. And yet above the pall of gloom, and shining through the we. His figure stands in brightness still. If you but look, you'll see him measuring full length up to the man you knew he'd be. No trace of weakness in his soul, no coward spirit there. But ready to lay down his life, a little babe to spare.

It's good to think of Major Butt, with pride your cheeks should flame. Easter your pulses ought to throb at mention of his name; The spirit of your nation was the spirit he displayed. As face to face with death he stood, unmoved and unafraid; And though you sadly mourn for him, your hearts must still rejoice. That forced to choose 'twixt life and death, his was no coward's choice.

It's mighty good to think of him, he died as well became. The spirit of America, and worthy of the name; And though you mourn him, as a friend, his death should make you feel

The flag of freedom is the flag of manhood that is real; And though your breasts, with grief are torn, and though your hearts are sore. It ought to make you love the Stars and Stripes a little more.

BILLERICA

The county commissioners are to hold a continued hearing in the town hall at Billerica on May 6 at 10 a. m. on the petition of the board of selectmen relative to the repairs and alterations of the Fordway bridge, which spans the Concord river.

At the first hearing before the commissioners the selectmen stated that the repairs and alterations referred to were in the form of a new concrete bridge over the river at this point, and the town requested aid and assistance from the county commission and the Bay State street railway. At a later hearing the Bay State company offered to pay for one end of the proposed new bridge, if wide enough to accommodate double tracks.

The cost of the proposed new structure is estimated at $21,300 for a bridge 46 feet wide.

The Oakland Campers held their first social Wednesday night at Thomas Talbot hall in North Billerica. Owing to the popularity of the members of the club there was a large attendance, and the affair proved to be a grand success both from a social and financial standpoint. Miner's orchestra furnished music for dancing and the party was in charge of William J. Morris and John J. O'Brien.

Heavy Damage Caused by Breaking of Mississippi River Levee

NEW ORLEANS, May 3.—Eight persons were drowned today when the Mississippi river levee near Morgan, La., broke, flooding the surrounding country.

Exerting its tremendous strength against the walls of weakening dikes, the Mississippi's angry torrent continued to menace the fertile acres and prosperous towns of middle Louisiana today. At noon the levee let go near Bayou Sara, a town on the east bank of the river. It is feared that by night the entire town will be inundated with water from four to ten feet deep. The front levee at Baton Rouge is expected to go out at any minute. Six hundred men are working on a protection levee at the south end of the town and another force is working almost hopelessly to save the Baton Rouge city water works plant and sewerage pumping station. Buckley Says She Threw a Shawl Over Him

NEW YORK, May 3.—Daniel Buckley, who was a steerage passenger on the Titanic in his testimony today before Senator Smith, chairman of the senate committee which is investigating the cause of the wreck, stated that a fireman who was on the steamer told him that the Titanic, he believed, did not hit an iceberg but that while trying to make a record the boilers burst. Buckley did not know the name of the fireman. In answer to questions asked by Senator Smith regarding the treatment of steerage passengers, Buckley said that he thought they were given as good an opportunity to escape as the first and second class passengers.

HORSES RAN AWAY IN CENTRAL STREET

A little fellow whose name could not be learned narrowly escaped serious injury this morning when a pair of frightened horses ran away in Central street. The horses were hitched to a large truck loaded with empty wooden boxes. The boxes toppled over the wagon and struck the horses which became frightened and started at very fast speed. This was opposite Spencer's wood yard in Central street and near the curbing was a wagon, the property of the latter. Standing near the wagon was a little fellow, and when the horses became frightened they started in his direction. A man who was walking along the sidewalk at a glance saw the boy's danger and jumped to the road and seizing the boy by the arm pulled him out of the way just as the horses bolted against the other wagon, breaking a shaft. The man would not give his name, nor would the little fellow who ran home, but all those who saw the act say it was a brave one and that the boy had a narrow escape.

SEVERAL STRAW HATS

Were Seen on the Streets This Morning

Summer is here. Today while walking up Central street the writer observed several straw hats. Upon seeing the first one, which was worn by a man on a bicycle and was one that has "seen better days," not much attention was paid, but a little farther up the street a well dressed man came along with a brand new one, of the sailor variety. He apparently enjoyed the distinction, for when several people turned around to have a look, he reciprocated by giving them a tip—with the new lid. Several others were noticed and at the noon hour the weather was fitting for the occasion.

EMPLOYERS' NIGHT

WILL ATTRACT LARGE ATTENDANCE, IT IS EXPECTED

It is expected that the "Employers' Night" which is to be held under the auspices of the Lowell board of trade next Tuesday night, will be largely attended. The meeting will be held in Mathew hall in Dutton street and the speaker of the evening will be Mr. J. Spencer Baldwin, secretary of the Massachusetts Employers' Insurance association who will address the members on the details of the new workmen's compensation act, which will go into effect on July 1. He will give a very definite explanation of the bill and it is very important that the employers of labor should attend.

Appoints Peace Commission to Treat With the Revolutionists

WASHINGTON, May 3.—The appointment by the Mexican congress of a peace commission to treat directly with the revolutionists for a cessation of hostilities is regarded by state department officials as very significant. It is believed by them to indicate that the Mexican congress, wearied of the long drawn out insurrection, has determined to act on its own initiative in endeavoring to terminate the war. No indication has reached here as to whether President Madero has given his approval to this action of congress.

Conditions in Salina Cruz are becoming very serious, according to state department reports today. Below Juchitán a bridge on the Pan-American railroad has burned. The British cruiser Algerian will arrive at Mazatlan on the west coast of Mexico in about a week to take aboard any British refugees who may desire to leave Mexican territory during the present trouble. Although the vessel's itinerary after she leaves Mazatlan was not made known to the state department it is probable, say officials, that the Algerian will follow the same course as the United States army transport Bufford. Similar service is being performed on the east coast by the British cruiser Meigumene.

SEWER PIPE CONTRACT

Should Go to Lowest Bidder, Says Solicitor

In the matter of awarding the contract for sewer pipe, to which Mr. Beals took objection, the city solicitor, in reply to the query of Purchasing Agent Foye, replies as follows:

Dear Sir: In reference to the matter of awarding the contract for the purchasing of sewer pipe for the sewer department, upon a review of all the facts as stated, it is the opinion of the city solicitor that Edward Cawley, being the lowest bidder, and having substantially conformed to the specifications and proposal, it is your duty to award the contract to the lowest bidder. The proposal for bids did not specifically state the time when sample was to be furnished, and under such circumstances the sample should be furnished any time before the contract was signed. Therefore, you should be guided by these circumstances, that conduce to the best interest of the city, while inflicting no hardship or injury to those who enter into competitive bids.

Respectfully,
J. Joseph Hennessey,
City Solicitor.

JOHN HENNESSEY

MAN WHO WAS KILLED THOUGHT TO HAVE LIVED HERE

Nothing further has been learned here regarding relatives or friends of John Hennessey, who was run over and killed by a freight train near Wells, Me., last Tuesday night. It appears that Hennessey, with two companions, was stealing a ride on a freight train of the Boston & Maine railroad, between North Berwick and Wells, Me., on Tuesday night. Hennessey fell down between the cars, was run over and killed. His companions reported the accident to the train hands. The matter was investigated and Hennessey's body found. The two companions were held for the coroner's inquest. It is believed that Hennessey was formerly a resident of this city.

He Says Immigration is Menace to Labor

NEW YORK, May 3.—Vice President John Mitchell of the American Federation of Labor has issued an official statement to the effect that unrestricted immigration has the effect of making labor laws a dead letter. "From the newly arrived immigrants," he said, "the managers of affairs, the leaders in commercial life, the politicians and lawmakers, the editorial fraternity, the landowners, all are in no immediate danger of competition; hence these classes but remotely feel the effects of immigration, other than such as are apparently beneficial to themselves through the cheapness of labor. But the sole avenue of entrance to America for perhaps 99 per cent of the immigrants being through the unskilled labor market, this to wage earners is the fact of all facts relative to immigration.

EXCELLENT PROGRAM

Was Given in Harmony Hall, Collinsville

A largely attended operetta and vaudeville was presented at Harmony hall, Collinsville, Wednesday evening, the affair being given by the pupils of St. Mary's Sunday school under the direction of the sisters of Notre Dame. TRAUTMANN AND OTHERS DELIVERED ADDRESSES

A largely attended meeting of the employees of the Lowell Machine shop was held at the I. W. W. hall, in Hanover street last night under the auspices of the latter organization. The purpose of the meeting was to organize the employees of the Big Shop. There was a large number present and after being addressed by William E. Trautmann and Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, they formed an organization to be affiliated with the Industrial Workers of the World. At the close of the meeting it was decided to hold another meeting next Thursday night.

AN INCENDIARY FIRE

Was Discovered in a Church in the City of Medford

MEDFORD, May 3.—An incendiary attempt to fire the Union Congregational church on Marion street, South Medford, at 5 o'clock last night, in the opinion of Fire Chief Charles C. Bacon of this city.

In face of the fact that a big wood-house on the Massachusetts clay pits and a house just over the line in Lowell, Somerville, were burned Wednesday evening under suspicious circumstances, the firemen and police suspect that a firebug has been at work in the vicinity and was responsible for all three fires.

About 9 o'clock last night members of Combination B at South Medford received a telephone call to come to the Union Congregational church on Marion street which was on fire. When the firemen arrived they found flames briskly burning on the northeast corner in the rear of the wooden church. The fire was promptly extinguished with chemical lines and the damage was about $5, but an investigation showed that the wall was saturated with kerosene oil for several feet near the fire. No matches or burned paper were found, however. Charles Roop, the janitor, said he had not seen any suspicious persons about the building and it was also securely locked. None of the neighbors had seen any one about. How the fire could have started unless it was by an incendiary is a mystery and the blaze is being investigated.

There were two other fires earlier in the evening. At 6:30 the roof was burned off a cottage house at 19 Court street, owned by William Kinkade, an alarm being sounded from box 28. At 7 o'clock box 26 was sounded for a grass fire in Valley street, near the Middlesex Falls reservation. The sounding of the three fire alarms within so short a time caused some uneasiness among the people.

RASH COVERED HANDS TORTURE AWFUL

Scratched Until Raw and Bleeding, Could Not Wash Them, Lost Three Weeks' Work, Now Hands Are Soft and Smooth Through Use of Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

417 West 30th St., New York, N. Y.—

"About eighteen months ago a rash broke out on my right thumb and spread until my hand was completely covered. At first it simply itched, and then it began to burn and torture. My hands were in such a state that I could not put them in water or wash them. I used to scratch them until they were raw and bleeding, and I did not know what it was to have a full night's sleep. While working I had to wear gloves with finger tips cut off and I lost three weeks' work."

"I doctored with druggists, salves and washes for six weeks and did not get any relief. In the meantime it had spread to my left hand and the torture was awful. I was about to give up in disgust when I was told to send for a little Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I used to put the Cuticura Soap and Ointment on in the morning. When I got home in the evening, I put a fresh supply on for the night. Very often I would get up after being in bed for a few hours and put some more on. It soothed them so I could go to sleep again, and the Cuticura Soap and Ointment eased my hands so much the first night that I thought there was nothing the matter with them. I used them for about two months. Now I am completely cured. My hands are like a baby's, so soft and smooth, through the use of the Cuticura Soap and Ointment." (Signed) William H. Clark, Nov. 15, 1911.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold everywhere. Sample of each mailed free with 32-p. book, "Cuticura," Dept. T, Boston. Tender-faced men should shave with Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick.

HIS THROAT CUT MAN FOUND DYING

WORCESTER, May 3.—Lying in a pool of blood, with his throat cut from ear to ear, Benjamin J. Baker, aged 32, of 73 Thomas street, was found dying last night in a dark spot under a bridge near a Mercantile street. Baker was rushed to the City hospital in the police ambulance, but died shortly after being admitted.

The body was discovered by passers-by, who were attracted to the dying man by screams. Near the body a pocket clasp knife, covered with blood, was found.

The police are of the opinion that Baker, who had been unemployed for some time, had become despondent and committed suicide.

Filed by Dr. Higgins and His Wife

BOSTON, May 3.—Boston and Brookline society have had a new sensation developed for their delectation in cross libels for divorce, which have been filed in the Suffolk superior court by Dr. Frank A. Higgins of 384 Commonwealth avenue, and Mrs. Marion Lawrence Higgins of the Hotel Tulleries, 250 Commonwealth avenue.

Dr. Higgins alleges desertion, while Mrs. Higgins, who was Marion Lawrence, heiress in her own right and daughter of A. C. Lawrence, the immensely wealthy leather manufacturer, claims that her husband has been cruel and abusive.

Friends of the Higgins says that behind all this lies a story which deals with Dr. Higgins' devotion to his profession, of Mrs. Higgins' desire that he give it up, at least in part, and the love of both for their children. Lawrence, 15 years old, and Freeman, 10 years old, for the custody of whom a bitter battle will be waged.

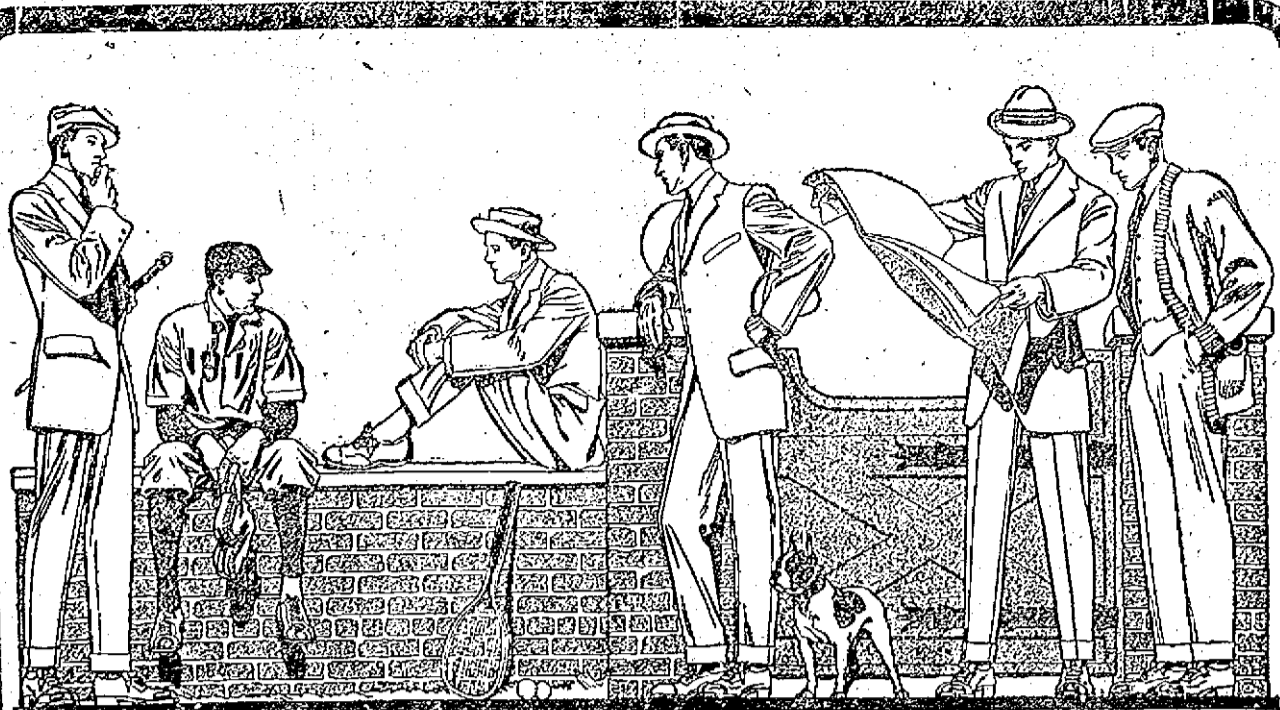

A "LIME" OF THE LAW.

Gained Ten Pounds In Colorado

Many a tired wife or business man, worn out with a year's work could put on needed flesh and vitality by a little vacation in Colorado. I've seen people pick up as much as ten pounds in this wonderful country. It isn't any one thing that does it. It seems to be just a combination of glorious air, brilliant sky and wonderful scenery. The beauty of Colorado somehow gets into the blood and before you know it your eyes begin to sparkle and you feel made new all over.

Anyone who has gone to Colorado over our railroad, the Burlington Route, will tell you that it isn't hard to get there, for the trains are wonderfully comfortable, and the service wonderfully good.

If you want to know just where to go in Colorado, how little it will cost and how long it will take you to get there, I'll send you maps, pictures and pamphlets which will help you plan your entire trip. I'll save you time and relieve you of detail if you will kindly write a postal will do. Just ask about Colorado Trips and I will answer right away. Alex. Stocks, New England Pass. Agent, C. B. & Q. THE HOME RULE BILL

LONDON, May 3.—A. J. Balfour and Sir Edward Grey held the stage at yesterday's debate on the Home Rule bill in the house of commons. The former premier showed little of his old-time fire and his speech was reminiscent of many heard before.

He complained that the bill did not contain even a germ of finality and that its adoption would work a great injury to the representative institution of England, while creating in Ireland an assembly which no Irishman could regard with pride or respect.

The powers of the Irish parliament would be so hampered, he said, that good men would refuse to serve in it. Every successful federal system, he declared, had been built up on a desire of the separate parts for a closer union, but the government was pursuing an opposite course, cutting up the United Kingdom and creating fiscal divisions. Sir Edward Grey contended that the constitution was becoming increasingly unworkable and that devolution throughout the United Kingdom was necessary. The usefulness of the imperial parliament could not, the foreign minister added, be sacrificed to the feelings of Ulster.

Lord Charles Beresford in a breezy speech declared that the Irish question was essentially a land question and the only way to pacify Ireland was to continue the present land purchase system and do away with the land lieutenant and all that sham and rotten court.

The Right Hon. Ronald C. Munro-Ferguson supported the bill, because it was the first step toward a complete policy of parliamentary devolution and paved the way for self-government in Scotland. Mr. Munro-Ferguson, who represents Leith, Burgis, has been an ardent supporter of devolution.

Daniel D. Sheehan, representing the mid-division of Cork, a labor advocate and independent nationalist, who favors the policy of conciliation as applied to Irish politics, approved the principle of the bill, but said it placed too many restrictions on Irish financial freedom. He maintained that the Irish parliament should be given full powers with respect to the raising of revenue in Ireland and all expenditures in Ireland.

WHY DON'T YOU HELP THAT WEAK, SICK STOMACH OF YOURS?

Why Go Through Life Afraid to Eat Just What You Desire and Enjoy?

Just use Stomach-Rite tablets and begin to take some comfort. I earnestly believe that if your stomach is affected the liver is also. Stomach-Rite treats the stomach and liver at the same time and I think that is the strongest reason why Stomach-Rite cures when others fail—it eliminates the trouble—overcoming indigestion, dyspepsia, gas, sour stomach, heartburn and last but not least, constipation.

Thousands have testified to the remarkable curative qualities of Stomach-Rite and one box will quickly prove to you that it is the supreme stomach and liver medicine. As pleasant to eat as candy. Stomach-Rite tablets relieve your suffering at once—you feel better after the first tablet.

Stomach disorders cause many serious complications and should be promptly attended to. Don't let your trouble run on into something serious and incurable. Enjoy your meals by obtaining a box of Stomach-Rite and begin to use the tablets at once, that your stomach may gain strength and digest your food. Not a patent medicine, but made from a prescription of the late Dr. John Wilbur, Westbury, R. I. Refuse substitutes by seeing that his picture is on your box.

THE PRINCETON CLUB

Scored a Great Success in Minstrelsy Last Night

The third annual minstrel show and dance of the Princeton club was held last night at the Associated Hall. The attendance was extraordinarily large, a fact that reflects much credit on the club and especially upon the organizers of the affair. The hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion, the curtains were two big American flags and the stage was draped in yellow and black, the rear of the stage being hung in black with the words "Princeton Club" in gold letters outlined against it.

The program was one of the best ever presented by this popular organization which is famous for its entertainments. The jokes were mostly all local hits, and they were sprung with such good spirit that even though several of the members were hit hard, they enjoyed the fun. The songs and dances were also of the best, and were thoroughly enjoyed.

The program was long and varied and greatly pleased the large audience. It consisted of the following numbers: Opening chorus, entire company; and song, "Huggin' the Baby to Sleep," Thos. Salmon; solo, "Mine," Horatius Leggett; solo, "Another Race," Alce McKeen; and song, "My Angelina," Jas. Brown; solo, "I Like Your Apron and Your Bonnet," Alce Brown; and song, "Everybody's Doin' It," Edward Handley; solo, "Let's Forget We Ever Met," Andrew Dwyer; song, "Italian Eyes," Rose McDermott; and song, "I Want to Be in Dixie," Joseph Clarke; finale.

NOW Is the Time

To have your Suits made to measure for less than ready made suits cost.

135 PAIGE ST.

Opposite Merrimack Sq. Theatre

The chorus was composed of the following: Misses K. Dunn, N. O'Connell, M. Nelson, M. Corrigan, E. Lawrence, N. Beecher, M. Nolan, A. Monahan, M. Manning, A. Gargan, M. Moriarty, M. Dougherty, M. Eastham, H. Nugent, M. Leclair, J. Blaine, R. Sullivan, A. Kelly, T. Riley, M. Carroll, M. McCarthy, L. Nugent, N. McHugh, R. Muldown, A. McDermott, I. Peterson, I. Burns, K. Curran, R. Nicholson, H. The end men were Thomas Salmon, James Brown, Edward Handley and Joseph Clarke, and their work last night would do credit to professionals, especially "Honey Boy" Handley and Joseph Clarke, who made a great hit with their cleverly rendered songs. Mr. Charles T. McKenzie, as an interpreter cannot be excelled, even though this difficult part has been well sustained in the past. Mr. McKenzie has the voice and the wit for that special part and he used both to advantage.

The chorus selections were also rendered to advantage. In fact the entire show was a success and the following committee is to be congratulated for the way it was organized: Thomas Hublin, chairman; George Donohue, Charles T. McKenzie, Thomas McGuane, Charles Slowsky, Walter Foye, Edward McKenzie, John McCabe and William Foye.

Kittredge's orchestra was in attendance and at the conclusion of the minstrel show dancing was started and kept up all night. The officers of the dance were as follows:

General manager, John McCabe; assistant general manager, William McKenzie; floor director, Thomas Hublin; assistant floor directors, Charles Slowsky, James Kelley, chief aids, Walter Foye, Thomas McGuane; aids, Joseph Clark, Joseph Costello, William Foye, Raymond Foye, Arthur Foye, Louis Flacey, William Grant, Daniel Gray, Thomas Gole, Frank Golden, Frank Hublin, Martin Duffy, Dennis O'Brien, Andrew Burns, Curt Obst-Odel, James Quinn, Thomas Slowsky, Thomas Ingalls, Henry Johnson, Parker Jewett, John W. STRONG ENDORSEMENTS FOR PROF. B. GEO. WILKINS, VERMONT'S FAMOUS HEALER

I have suffered for years with a coating kidney, which caused me great suffering and distress. My condition grew worse and I could get no relief until I went to Prof. Wilkins, who at once told me my condition and said he could cure me. I took my first treatment July 26th and now I can't find change in my condition and today I am so much better I feel I am a new woman. I feel ten years younger and can't find words to express my happiness. Prof. Wilkins has done wonders for me.

MRS. SQUIRE AMIDON, West Chesterfield, N. H.
Prof. Wilkins treated me for tumor and cured me. I can truthfully say I enjoy better health today than I have before in years.

MRS. ERNEST WHITNEY, Dustin Farm, Brattleboro, Vt.
Prof. Wilkins treated me for appendicitis and cured me.

ROY BOSWORTH, Westmoreland, N. H.
Prof. Wilkins cured me of gallstones after five doctors had given me up to die.

W. H. GOMO, Cambridge, Vt.
Prof. Wilkins treated me for appendicitis and cured me.

MRS. C. S. HALE, Barnardston, Mass.

Suffering Humanity, you can find relief from sickness, and cures for your ills, by calling on Prof. Wilkins. He challenges the case he cannot effect. He refuses to treat any case he cannot help. friends of the organization is that the club is preparing to build a handsome camp on the Willow Dale road. The members have purchased a large strip of land near the lake between the entrance to Willow Dale and the pavilion and by the latter part of this month a large camp will be erected thereon, the building to be finished before the middle of summer.

NOTES FROM THE DEPOT

Large Telegraph Pole Was Removed Today

A number of men in the employ of the New England Telephone and Telegraph company this morning removed one of the large poles at the corner of Thorneike and Middlesex streets to make room for the installation of a large lunch wagon. The pole was moved over about ten feet and it was a very difficult job. Many wires were attached to it and the change was made without disconnecting any of them.

The 10:49 train was a few minutes late today, due to it was learned to the heavy travel. When it arrived at the depot many Lowell people boarded it for Boston, including Mayor O'Donnell.

The ten o'clock train out of Boston, which is an express, brought many people to Lowell today. This is a Canadian Pacific train and is one of the best trains on the division.

It is expected that quite a number of Lowell people will leave this city on next Tuesday for other parts. The baggage of some of the travelers arrived at the depot today.

MOTION PICTURE PLOT DISCOVERED

WASHINGTON, May 3.—A motion picture plot, to show a "crank" attempting to reach President Taft was nipped in the bud at the White House today. A squad of picture men walked into the White House grounds accompanied by a venerable looking individual with a long white beard. They set up their apparatus in front of the main entrance of the White House and the white-bearded stranger started up the steps. Police on guard intervened before the picture men could begin business.

THE WAR IN ZION CITY

CHICAGO, May 3.—The tobacco war in Zion City, which was caused by the refusal of employees of the Union Electrical Co. to heed an anti-tobacco using ordinance, may develop an international tangle. Thirty-one British subjects yesterday forwarded a petition bearing their signatures to the British ambassador at Washington asking that England interfere if necessary for the protection of the personal rights of her subjects in Zion City. All of the signers are employed in a lace factory founded by the late John Alexander Dowie and were brought here by Dowie himself. They say they were not told they could not use tobacco.

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

Continuation of My Remarkable Offer

$5.00 PANTS FREE

Defeated, beaten to a Frazzle, by the weather of the past two months, I am out to get back some of the normal business that should have been done during this period by all clothing concerns.

Mr. Clothing Wearer, other years at this time you had your Spring Suit ordered, paid for, and well worn by now.

You haven't given it a thought this year. We fellows in the clothing line know that, because none of us are getting our usual business. You are going to get a Summer Suit anyway, because you are going to get the Summer weather that will make you order. And that weather will soon come.

To induce you to order now, I have placed my stock on the bargain table at prices that will appeal to the thrifty who need now or who will need later.

Worsteds, Cheviots, Novelties, Serges, Grey Worsteds and Black Staples, and for Today and Tomorrow, a PAIR of PANTS ABSOLUTELY FREE with suit order.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

That Lowell people appreciate and will support first class attractions was proven last night when an audience that taxed the capacity of the Opera House assembled to see Miss Billie Burke in "The Runaway." The comedy in four acts was written by Michael Morton and surrounded Miss Burke in a carefully selected and most capable company of players. "The Runaway" is based on a pretty love affair in which "Maurice Delaney," the character portrayed by C. Aubrey Smith, and "Colette," the part taken by Miss Burke, are the principals. Colette is a country girl. She is youth personified, full of ambition and romance. Her narrow minded relatives try to marry her to a country bumpkin and she rebels and runs away to her only friend, a great artist. In his studio she finds shelter and at last love. It is a charming story told in a way to hold the attention from the rise to the fall of the curtain.

Miss Burke was admirable and her acting appealed strongly to the audience. The play itself while most enjoyable appears to be most attractive to women.

Not once during the four acts did interest in Miss Burke's acting lag and many times the applause that followed the scenes in which she took part was a well deserved tribute to the cleverness of the beautiful actress.

C. Aubrey Smith, as the artist, was particularly powerful in his part, and just as delightful, if not more so, as when he appeared as Sir Marcus Ordway in "The Morals of Marcus."

Mr. Howard Simonsen, the sculptor, and Mr. Sellen's "Vignaux," the inspector of police, were other male characters. Mr. Sellen's "Vignaux" was very good. The other parts were most acceptably filled and the general verdict of the audience was that "The Runaway" with last night's presenting company was about the best in the comedy line ever seen in Lowell.

The cast of characters was as follows:

Maurice Delaney.....C. Aubrey Smith
Simonsen.....George Howard
Pierre Derton.....William Raymond
Vignaux.....Merton Selden
Monsieur Pingo.....H. A. Cripps
Aldo Pingo.....Edwin Alexander
The Cure.....Harry Barfoot
Agnes Ironclad.....Emily Wakeman
Hortense Ironclad.....Isabel West
Nancy Vallier.....Jane Evans
Leonie.....Alice Gale
Mme. Suberville.....Josephine Morse
Mme. Lyse.....Hazel Leslie
Jella.....Jeanne Shelby
Madame Pingo.....Isabel Garrison
Madame Pingo.....Lettie Ford

PHOTO PLAYS

Beginning Monday afternoon, May 6th, and to continue the entire summer season, at the Lowell Opera House, Messrs. Herbert & Dordinger will present the newest and latest photo-plays by the world's greatest photo-play actors, including the best singing quartet in vaudeville. The entertainment will be presented daily and Sunday with daily matinees. Afternoon performances start at 2 o'clock and 7 o'clock, and each show will last for two hours with real high-class amusement from start to finish. He will cater to the discriminating public, those who appreciate the right kind of pictures presented to the right way. Next to the pictures our aim is proper singing by a quartet that is second to none. These together with a comfortable theatre, and a thoroughly refined and respectable atmosphere places the Lowell Opera House in a class by itself, and patrons will learn that it is a popular thing to be a picture fan. There is no other fact that is so clean, so healthful, so entertaining, so delightful, so inexpensive as the moving picture and, it has no evil after effects. Every picture will be the latest and chosen as each manufacturer is striving for superior quality, and the scenery is selected with the greatest care. The newest machines projecting the best possible picture, these all tend to make this the ideal popular priced entertainment of Lowell for the summer months. There will be five photo-plays shown and between each one a new and popular illustrated song will be rendered by our excellent quartet. Programs will be changed every Monday and Thursday with an entire new program for Sunday afternoon and evening. Every courteous attention on the part of the attaches of the Opera House will be shown the ladies and children that attend, and the seating capacity assures comfort for all.

KEITH'S LOWELL THEATRE

Have you seen Klutzing's performing kitties? If not, don't miss them as they are a considerable part of one of the most interesting trained animal acts now before the public. The performers include beside the kitties, poodles, terriers, white doves and white rabbits. George Felix, the funny fellow with the funny falls, and the Barry girls, present a jolly act entitled "The Boy Next Door" that includes singing and dancing along with real good comedy. Roll, the youthful juggler, has it on the old timers with his new and up to date stunts. Charles Keane and a very competent company offer a decidedly attractive western drama in "Sheriff Bob." This sketch is not only finely acted but is most attractively staged. Nate Lelpis, manipulator of the playing cards, has a novel act that is one of the big hits of the bill. The Carter-Taylor company offer a laughable creation entitled "Camp Rest." The Holdsworths, the male member of whom is a son of Col. Sam Holdsworth, America's oldest professional singer, present a neat singing, dancing and banjo sketch. The Four Floods are comedy acrobats combining fun and agility. Then there are the pictures. The bill as will be noted offers a wide and thoroughly pleasing variety of entertainment.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Musical comedy, well given, is always most acceptable, and that's one of the principal reasons why this week's bill at the Merrimack Square theatre is making such a big hit. With

Miss Grace Hawthorne in the lead, and supported by a large and competent cast, The Temple Players are truly making friends in large numbers. Their presentation of "Scotch Week" is among the biggest and best contributions seen in local vaudeville in some time. The solo work of Miss Hawthorne is exceptionally good, and the others who assist in the success of the offering are Thomas Malcolm, James Byrnes, George Lewis, Miss Gilrand and Miss Murphy. They're the big hit of the bill.

Honey Johnson, colored comedian, is making good on all occasions. Honey has a good line of talk, sings funny songs and tells stories in a decidedly clever manner.

Mr. and Mrs. Danny Mann, presenting "Mandy Hawkins," a rural sketch, is very good and Prof. Karl and His Trained Dogs and Miss Grace Livingston, soloist, also assist in the success of the bill. The photo-plays and views are always good. This week is no exception to the rule.

Next week's menu promises to be

Physicians generally are advising patients to use pure olive oil to restore health and strength. As a result, thousands of men, women, and children, knowing its valuable nutritive and laxative properties, are taking olive oil daily as a most beneficial addition to their food.

Pompeian Olive Oil is as different from other kinds as night is from day. It is the purest Italian Olive Oil imported and it comes to you in its virgin state, without any chemical treatment or adulteration. It, therefore, has a distinctive, sweet, nutty flavor not found in other kinds and does not have a greasy taste.

To build up the system and restore health, take Pompeian Olive Oil in this way and very beneficial results will quickly follow:—On arising in the morning, drink a glass of hot water and take one or two teaspoonsful of the oil. Take the same quantity before dinner, supper and on retiring. As you acquire the taste for the oil, increase the dose to four tablespoonsful four times a day. Invalids and those run down in health and strength will find Pompeian Olive Oil the best food-medicine and it will build up the body faster than any disease can tear it down.

Pompeian Olive Oil is sold by druggists and grocers. Full one-half pint cans, 25 cents; full pint cans, 50 cents; full quart cans, 99 cents.

equally as good. The Temple Players will be seen in "Popular Week," a musical comedy that compares favorably with "Scotch Week." Another feature will be the presentation of a pretty playlet entitled "An Object Lesson," by Lucille Spinnay & Co. Miss Spinnay was leading woman with the Donald Meek Stock company, and is well and favorably known here. She will be assisted by Charles Crymble and other players.

The other contributors to the bill

give a high standard of entertainment and the photo-plays scheduled for the first three days of next week promise to be above the average.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

One of the biggest novelties of the year is playing at the Academy of Music and is certainly making a big hit. Howard & Graf in an act entitled "The Juggler's Dream," have solved the idea of entertainment, for Miss Graf, holding the audience with her beautiful voice, is but an introduction to the juggling of Mr. Howard. Allen & Grant, two old time comedians, take care of the laughing end of the show and Amalon, the man with a woman's voice, touches a few high notes that thrill.

The pictures which feature incidents in the Revolutionary and Civil wars are exceedingly interesting. On Sunday, a special novelty will be offered consisting of Rosa McDonough and her Bachelor girls in a distinct offering called the Animated Song Sheet. Bats, balls and skates for the boys and girls on Saturday afternoon.

Soiled Clothing Is Cleaned Best With Carbonol.

CARBONOL is a powerful disinfectant and a few teaspoonfuls of it in the tub will help greatly in the cleaning. It will kill all germs; remove stains and make the work easier.

That, however, is only one use of Carbonol. Carbonol has many other uses. It is more necessary to the housekeeper than soap. It will do all the work that soap can do and a great deal more, because it has the power to kill germs and dissolve grease.

It should be used in general house-cleaning. A dash of it in the water that you use in scrubbing floors and washing down woodwork will make every drop of water an effective disinfectant.

In the kitchen it will help in cleaning greasy dishes and pans, and it will keep the waste pipes clear of grease. It will suppress odors in garbage and keep away the flies; it will clean the garbage can after it has been emptied; it will remove stains on woodwork or cloth; brighten dingy rugs.

In case of contagious diseases Carbonol should be used constantly and frequently to wash sickroom utensils and all bed linen and clothing of the patient.

The uses of this powerful product are simply endless.

We will send a free sample to experiment with, and a booklet of directions for its use.

Foss Opposed to the "Full Train Crew" Bill

BOSTON, May 2.—The "Full Train Crew" bill was vetoed yesterday afternoon by Gov. Foss. By mistake his veto message was received in the house yesterday forenoon, instead of in the senate. It was sent to the senate in the afternoon. Last week a similar measure was vetoed by Gov. Dix in New York.

The governor said in his veto message: "The state ought to possess the general power to regulate all train services, including the whole subject of train crews. This can be accomplished by creating a public service commission with broad powers over all private corporations furnishing public utilities. Such a commission is equally to be desired by the railroads, by their employees and by the public."

"I believe that this necessity will be recognized by the present legislature, and a public service commission created, thus removing all occasion for arbitrary and special legislative regulation."

lation of such railroad details as those comprised in this bill.

"I cannot pass judgment upon the question as to whether or not all freight trains of 30 cars should carry crews of six men, and all freight trains of 25 cars five men. These matters can, in my judgment, be determined only by a permanent and powerful commission of experts skilled in railroad operation and regulation."

In the house the veto went over to Tuesday next.

In the senate, Senator Ross of New Bedford, moved that consideration of the message be postponed to Monday next.

Senator Lonsamey of Boston said a full senate was present, that Monday is a bad day because of slim attendance, and as the matter had been fully discussed, the senate should vote yesterday.

Senator McCarthy of Marlboro said he would move to postpone to Tuesday next.

Senator Ross withdrew his original motion. By a voice vote the senate voted to postpone to Tuesday next.

Senator Lonsamey demanded a roll call and by a vote of 25 to 9 the message was so disposed of.

MOVING PICTURE SHOWS

Must be Safeguarded,

Says Mayor Gaynor

NEW YORK, May 2.—For more than a year various civic societies have been prodding the New York aldermen to provide for the better regulation of the moving picture theatres in New York city. Now, Mayor Gaynor has decided to take a hand in an effort to stir the aldermen to action, his first step being a letter in which he says to the board:

"These shows are a great solace and the source of much entertainment and education to the whole community. They are attended by all kinds of people and especially by those who cannot afford to attend more expensive places of amusement. The pictures shown are moral and instructive. Our part is to safeguard these shows in all respects, physical, mental and moral, by a good ordinance."

GETTING READY FOR CONVENTION MAY 12

The letter carriers are busily engaged making arrangements for the annual convention of the Massachusetts carriers to be held in Lowell, commencing May 12. The session will be held in Odd Fellows hall and the Lowell men plan to make it one of the best in the history of the carriers of the state. Last year the convention was held in Lynn and it was a great success. This year, however, according to the present plans, the Lowell convention will be one long to be remembered.

EXERCISE AND HEALTH

Some Valuable Hints for Business Girls

Devote a few minutes night and morning to simple physical exercise and digestive troubles will soon disappear. Your complexion will grow clearer and your figure more erect.

Take pains, by the way, always to walk with well poised body and a light, brisk step. It is impossible to walk along briskly and still feel weakened. Your attitude has a great effect on your mind.

Now, as for meals. Few business and working girls eat enough fruit, though it is cheap enough for the most slender purse and necessary to every one leading a sedentary life.

You all take too much starch-food and drink far too much tea. If you can manage it have cocoa or coffee for breakfast instead. At any rate, give up making your lunch of a cup of tea with bun or biscuit and butter and pastry. Take soup, fish or an egg instead. It costs no more. Finish your meal with a banana, apple or orange.

Instead of afternoon tea have a glass of milk with a bar of chocolate or indulge in your favorite cake. Drink plenty of water.

Formamint makes mouth and throat hygiene easy—it kills the Germs that cause throat infections.

YOU owe it to yourself—to the community—to public health—to keep your mouth and throat hygienically clean.

Most infectious diseases are due to germs taken into the mouth and throat—and if the germs are not killed—danger of mouth and throat infection is not confined to you alone but may be transmitted easily to those about you.

Formamint

makes mouth and throat hygiene easy. It replaces gargles and mouth washes, which are ineffective and inconvenient. With none of their disadvantages, Formamint succeeds where they fail—reaching the deepest cavities of the throat, where the germs lie hidden—destroying them and paving the way for quick recovery.

Formamint is a pleasant-tasting tablet which, when sucked in the mouth like candy, releases its powerful, yet harmless germicide—mixing with the saliva—freely bathing the membranes—being carried into the recesses of the throat where germs or mouth washes cannot reach.

Besides, its convenient form enables you to use it any time, anywhere.

Formamint does not leave the mouth and throat dry and parched—it increases the flow of saliva fully fifty per cent, insuring an abundant supply so essential where the membranes are inflamed and infected.

If you have a throat infection—or think you may be getting one—you should use Formamint.

Every Saturday you can purchase your films here to fit any size camera at 10 per cent discount, and you hear this in mind, that you take absolutely no chances of receiving anything but reliable films here. Every roll of film is doubly guaranteed—first, by the makers and, secondly, by The Photo Shop.

Your choice of films from two continents. The Eclair film, made in England, is too well and favorably known to need praising here; its great speed value will save many of your valuable hours taken under poor light conditions that you would otherwise lose.

The Vulcan film, made in the U. S. is a newer film to the camera user, but is rapidly growing in favor with those who have used it, because of its orthochromatic values. The fact that it is made by the Defender Photo Supply Co. assures you of its superior quality.

It will pay you to do all of your camera shopping here, with every article sold you is guaranteed and returnable if found defective.

With every sale or finishing order a check is given with which you can have any of your films enlarged free.

Carrying the largest stock of camera supplies in the city, you will find a larger assortment to choose from at more varying prices at

probably the chief and first officers. Lord Mersey also wished to know whether the vessels of other nationalities were compelled to carry more lifeboats than British ships. Sir Rufus could not say positively as to this, but said that evidence on the point would be offered. The court has arranged to adjourn the inquiry until Tuesday.

THE NEWEST IN NICKEL Something new in nickelware is the "three-in-one" tray accessory. It consists of a tea or coffee pot, cream jug and sugar bowl, each so made that it fits above the other, thus forming a unique whole. It is complete and inexpensive. Often it is hard to arrange a small breakfast or invalid's tray in an inviting fashion without crowding the various pieces of china and silver together. This little nickel device will be found a great help and give at the same time a novel air to the tray, causing the invalid's eyes to brighten with pleasure.

A nickel or copper plated percolator to be attached with cord to the gas jet is something that will be found convenient to use under the teakettle or chafing dish, thus doing away with the troublesome alcohol lamp, which many nervous women do not care to use.

For traveling, too, this percolator will be found very handy, as it is often enjoyable to give a "chafing dish supper" in one's own apartments, and with this new device all the annoyance of carrying around or using alcohol is avoided. There is nothing whatever to do but adjust the percolator, put the tube over the gas jet and apply the match to the same and the trick is done.

GOVERNOR WILSON IS ILL

TRENTON, N. J., May 3.—Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey, who is confined to his home at Princeton suffering from a cold, was reported better today. He has, however, cancelled his engagement to address the New Jersey Bankers' association at Atlantic City tonight. The governor's ailment is in the nature of influenza. Members of his family say they expect him to be out in a day or two and ridicule the report that he is suffering from a physical breakdown.

FIRE CAUSED $30,000 LOSS

DANVERS, May 3.—Fire destroyed the planing mill of the Calvin Putnam Co., lumber dealers in Liberty street, here today with a loss of $30,000. The blaze originated from some unknown cause in the drying room. For more than an hour the lumber yard, containing $50,000 worth of unfinished stock and several other manufacturing plants, were endangered but the flames were confined to the building in which they started.

THE FAMILY PEW.

Ma goes to church to show her hat,
And Sis goes there to go;
Pa goes along for looks, he says—
And me? Because I have to.

Blessed Virgin are being held in all the churches with large congregations. The services opened last Wednesday evening and will continue during the remainder of the month. Every morning masses are celebrated and the evening services are held at 7:30 o'clock.

The men's mission at St. Columba's church is proving very successful. Each evening the capacity of the church is taxed while the masses in the morning at 8 and 9 o'clock are also largely attended. The missionaries, Rev. Frs. Gannon and Donohoe, are powerful speakers and their sermons and instructions are very instructive and interesting. The mission will be brought to a close with elaborate ceremonies on Sunday evening. On Saturday night there will be a procession around the church grounds.

USES FOR STALE BREAD

Many Attractive Dishes Can be Made

The housewife may make many attractive dishes with the stale bread that is bound to accumulate in all households by incorporating them into an omelet or by making a very tasty cereal of the crumbs.

Omelet of Bread

For the bread omelet make a white sauce and pour while hot over one-half cupful of soft breadcrumbs, mixing and insuring them well. Next beat until thick the yolks of three eggs and stir them with a dash of cayenne and salt and pepper into the white sauce mixture. Cut and fold into this the stiffly beaten whites of the three eggs. Turn into a hot buttered frying pan and cook lightly. Set pan in the oven to dry off the top of the omelet.

Bread Cereal

A very tasty cereal is made with stale pieces of bread by simply drying them in the oven until crisp and brown, rolling on a board and putting through a coarse grinder. This is good served warm with cream and sugar.

Brown Betty

A choice recipe for brown betty consists in placing in a buttered baking dish alternate layers of chopped apples and stale breadcrumbs. Flavor each layer with cinnamon and sugar and dots of butter. Bake with the dish covered for an hour, removing the cover when it is well started, and brown the crumbs on top. Serve with hard or liquid sauce.

ONE MAN WAS KILLED

In Quarrel Over Game of Cards

ATLANTA, Ga., May 3.—Two men fought with knives early today until Dick Harper, said to belong to a prominent Jacksonville family, was killed and Ed Gots, his opponent, was dangerously wounded. The men quarreled over a card game and the fight followed.

TWO LOWELL PRIESTS

Conducted Several Very Successful Missions

Rev. Denis A. Sullivan, O. M. I. of the Immaculate Conception church and Rev. John P. Flynn, O. M. I. of the Sacred Heart church of this city who for the past several weeks have been doing missionary work in the south are expected to return home by May 7. Fr. Flynn was the first of the priests to leave Lowell. He left about four weeks ago and went to New York city. He preached a mission there with good results. Fr. Sullivan joined Fr. Flynn in New York and both then went to Texas. They first conducted a mission at San Antonio at the church where Rev. Fr. Quinn, formerly of this city, who preached the sermon at St. Peter's church here on Columbus day, October 12, is stationed. Fr. Quinn is pastor of the church and as both Lowell clergymen are well acquainted with him they greatly enjoyed their stay there. The mission was very successful and at its close Rev. Frs. Sullivan and Flynn after visiting other Catholic houses in the state went to Dal Rio. On April 15 the clergymen went to El Reno, Oklahoma, where they are at the present time conducting a mission. Fr. Sullivan writes saying: "The trip from the Rio Grande to Oklahoma is one of the best that I ever took. It is a twenty hour ride and the scenery along the route is very beautiful. We are within a mile of where Sheridan subdued the Cheyennes. The cities in this section of the country are very progressive. We expect to be in Lowell about the 15th of May."

Fr. Sullivan also said that their missions have been very successful and that during the one in San Antonio many converts to the church were made. He stated that both Fr. Flynn and himself are in excellent health.

METHODIST BISHOPS

Would Abolish Rule Against Dancing, Gambling, Horse Races, Etc

MINNEAPOLIS, May 2.—"The American people are too far advanced longer to be restricted by church rules as to what their amusements shall be. The rule prohibiting dancing, card playing, gambling and going to theaters, circuses and horse races, therefore, should be abolished."

This is the gist of a report presented today to the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church by the board of bishops. The 24 active bishops stipulated that the church, however, should not be different on these subjects, but that the people should be left to judge for themselves what is right or wrong in amusements, having before them only the injunction of John Wesley, which forbade "the taking of such diversions as cannot be taken in the name of the Lord, Jesus."

The bishops declared the church reiterated its opposition to the church and gambling but the rule in force since 1872 could not fix a point between the turf and the stock market. The bishops' report was delivered by Bishop Cranston of Washington and it formed the second session of the Episcopal address, the first half of which had been given the day before.

A SWINGING SHELF

One of the most convenient things for the kitchen or dining room is the swinging shelf. The shelf should be of convenient width, and the length should conform to the situation in which it is placed. A board, or boards joined together, about two feet wide and as long as you like it, should have attached to the front side of it by a hinge a leg or standard, or there may be two, one at each end. The back of the shelf should be joined to the wall by hinges, and it can thus be raised and buttoned or hooked to the wall, out of the way, or dropped down, resting on the front legs to form a table. There is nothing more convenient, new kitchens have them.

TRIAL OF LIQUOR CASE

Occupied Considerable Time of the Police Court Today

Patrick Curran who conducts a store in Brouillette street in North Chelmsford was arraigned before Judge Pickman in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with the illegal keeping of liquor on March 21.

According to the testimony offered Mr. Curran has a store in the front and he occupies a tenement in the rear and his son resides on the second floor. Officers Herbert H. Richardson and James R. Goukin testified to finding a small quantity of whiskey, beer and several empty cases in the house and also that they had observed men enter the place on two Sundays previous to the date of the complaint.

The defendant and witness for the defense claimed that the liquor found was used for medicinal purposes and not for sale.

The court after considering the evidence found the defendant not guilty and ordered him discharged. Lawyer William A. Hagen appeared for the defendant and the government was represented by Lawyer Frederic A. Fisher.

Alleged Bunco Steerer

Frank E. Nagel, who claims to be a book agent, was arrested in Manchester, N. H., yesterday for the local police. Inspector Charles Laflamme went to the upriver city in the afternoon and brought the man back to this city and he was arraigned in police court this morning on two complaints, one charging him with the larceny of $22 belonging to Walter E. Bartlett in March, 1908, and the other charging him with the larceny of $10 from Sidney L. Laflamme. Inasmuch as the government did not have the witnesses present and counsel for the defense was desirous of a continuance, the case was continued until next Wednesday, the defendant being held under $100 bonds for his appearance at that time.

It is claimed that the defendant worked worthless checks on the parties who brought the complaint and then disappeared. Several days ago Mr. Sidney Laflamme was in Manchester, and recognizing the defendant, asked him for the money which was due him on the check and the defendant paid him. The matter was reported to the police and the arrest was made yesterday.

Placed On File

The case of Kazimer Konieczny of Braut, charged with building a fire in Braut in violation of the law, which was heard last week, came up this morning for arguments. The question of guilt hinged on the acceptance of the law of 1908 and the subsequent amendment to the law in 1911. It was admitted that the law of 1908 had been accepted by the voters of the town but that the amendment had not been accepted. The man admitted that he had been burning sprouts and then when the fire got beyond his control he and members of his family were fighting it in order to keep it from spreading and they kept the blaze under control until the fire department arrived.

The court found the man guilty of the offense but inasmuch as he had no intention to damage any other property the case was placed on file on consent of counsel for the government.

Drunken Offenders

Harry N. Davis, a blind man, entered a plea of guilty to a complaint charging him with being drunk. He was sentenced to one month in jail.

John H. Quinn was fined $6.

A young man in Central street who tried to work the "How are you fixed?" game did not get much, for after he had touched several people the eagle eye of Officer Dave Petrie got on and immediately he told him to beat it. The "loncher" took the good advice given him and beat it.

HANOTAUX IS PLEASED WITH THE AMERICANS

NEW YORK, May 2.—"France and America are very much alike," says Gabriel Hanotaux, president of the French Champlain committee, in describing his impressions of a week's survey of this country. His statement, given out before departing for Ticonderoga, explains:

"American people go about their business with an air of cheerfulness and even gaiety. There is good fellowship everywhere. Your men are accustomed to take things with a smile. This is as we do in France. We and the Americans seem to be much alike in temperament. There is nothing of insolence of manner over here. As for the rush you hear about, why, there is just as much of it in Paris; only over there we work with top hats on our heads and here you put on anything that comes first to hand.

"Two things have struck me very much. In Washington I was impressed by your supreme court, which is now in session. The members gave me the impression of Roman senators, such was their dignity and the feeling they gave me that they represented the majesty of the law. Then, here in New York, I received a similar impression at the chamber of commerce, where I witnessed an election of officers, the dignified manner in which the proceedings were carried out conveying the impression that the participants in the proceedings were men of great worth."

FATHER OF VICTIM THREATENED TO KILL

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—"Your honor, we are unable to reach a verdict" reported a jury late last night in the case of Wong Shi, charged with the murder of John Kane, a schoolboy, on Jan. 31. Dominick Kane, the dead boy's father, was sitting at the end of the jury box facing the prisoner in the dock. He rose slowly, his face twitching with excitement, one hand fumbling in his hip pocket. "I can reach a verdict," he roared, leveling a revolver at the Chinese. "That was my boy that was killed."

A ballist knocked the revolver from Kane's hand. John Kane was killed in a street fight between white and Chinese boys. An adult Chinese fired upon the American boys and Wong Shi was arrested.

EMILE BOAS DEAD

NEW YORK, May 2.—Emile Boas, resident director and general manager of the Hamburg-American line, died early today at a hotel in this city.

Mr. Boas was 55 years of age. His son, who was in El Paso, Texas, has been sent for.

MONEY WAS SPENT

That Was Received for Insurance on Huntington Hall

Into this universe, and why not knowing
Nor whence like water willy-nilly flowing.
And out of it as wind along the waste
I know not whether, willy-nilly blowing.

Thus it was that Omar Khayyam sang, and his verse covered a multitude of things.
"We have had city governments that went their way 'willy-nilly flowing,' and because they didn't know to what point they were drifting they extended a call for aid from every imaginable point. They knew that they were short on cash and they allowed what was in the bank belonged to the city, and that settled it."

It was a "spend as you go and pay as you please" policy and the result was a sudden "fetch up" that spelled "failure."
Several years ago the sum of $54,000 was paid the city by insurance companies for insurance on Huntington hall that was burned. The city council voted that that money should be kept intact and preserved for the building of a public hall.

The money went into the city treasury and where it went after that nobody knows except as stated by the city treasurer and his assistant that the money is in the bank.

George M. Rex, the expert accountant who went over the books of the city, says that the Huntington hall money has been wiped out.

He says that it exists in name only and he says he will buy the sodas if the city treasurer can prove to him that the money paid the city by the insurance companies for Huntington hall is still on hand.

Asked, today, if the $54,000, Huntington hall money, is in existence,
City Auditor Page said: "The money is not in existence and can be supplied only by temporary loan."

Asked as to his statement that the city was $200,000 beyond the debt limit, Mr. Page said: "I understand that I am credited with having made that statement, but I did not make it.
There is no foundation in fact for the statement that the city is $200,000 beyond the debt limit."

THE COAL MINERS

May be Asked to Vote on Proposition of Operators

NEW YORK, May 3.—Representatives of the United Mineworkers of America held another meeting today to determine what course they would follow as a result of the rejection of the agreement drawn by the sub-committee of miners and operators which was presented for ratification at a meeting of members from both sides of the controversy yesterday. Former State Senator Green of Ohio, who has acted as chairman of the miners' committee in the absence of Pres. White, still believes that a settlement will eventually be reached without a strike.

The conference today was postponed to consider two courses of action, first, should a convention of the miners be called to approve or disapprove the action in rejecting the agreement of the sub-committee and second, whether the miners' committee should ask for another conference with the operators with the view of obtaining further concessions. A convention of miners at either Scranton or Wilkesbarre would not only pass upon the agreement of the sub-committee but would consider the proposition of President Baer of the Reading company that the whole controversy be submitted to the surviving members of the anthracite coal strike commission of 1903.

Mr. Baer told the miners yesterday that he considered that the full committee of miners were morally bound to stand by the action of a sub-committee and that until the matter had been submitted to a referendum vote of the miners the full committee were in no position to ask for further concessions from the operators. Meanwhile the suspension of mining in the hard coal region continues.

BUST OF LA FRANCE

Presented to Citizens of the United States

CROWN POINT, N. Y., May 3.—The final ceremony in connection with the presentation of the bronze bust of La France by the French people to the citizens of the United States was fulfilled here today. Delegates of the Vermont and New York Champlain tercentenary commission waited in the morning at Fort Ticonderoga near the head of Lake Champlain for the arrival from New York of the distinguished French delegation, the guardians of the sculpture which eventually will be placed in position at the foot of the Champlain memorial light-house now under construction here.

The delegation arrived at Ticonderoga this morning and were entertained at breakfast by Mr. and Mrs.
Pell, after which they were shown about the ruins of Fort Ticonderoga, a part of which had recently been restored by Mr. Pell. Late in the forenoon the delegates and their hosts proceeded by special train to Fort Henry, whence they were conveyed across the bay to the point from which this village takes its name.

Following the ceremony of presentation, the chief feature of which was an address by Gabriel Hanotaux, the head of the French delegation, this afternoon, it was planned to visit the ruins of Fort St. Frederick and Fort Amherst, which are now included in the state park known as the Crown Point reservation. Later the visitors will return to Fort Henry, where their special cars will be attached to the afternoon express for Montreal.

FLOYD ALLEN TRIAL WAS RESUMED TODAY

WITHEVILLE, Va., May 3.—Witnesses for the state in the Floyd Allen case today continued to tell of the shooting up of Carroll county courthouse. The prosecution is endeavoring to prove not only that the accused shot and killed Commonwealth Attorney Foster but that he and his fellow clansmen had previously conspired to murder court officers and jurors if he should be convicted of the offense for which he was about to be sentenced to a prison term when the shooting began. Indications are that the trial will run well into next week, as there are many witnesses to be heard.

For Victims of the Titanic Disaster Held at Halifax

HALIFAX, N. S., May 3.—Memorial services were held today for the victims of the Titanic disaster. The cable steamer Minia yesterday picked up two more bodies, Joseph Finney of Liverpool, England, and Thomas Mullins, a steward. The services this afternoon were attended by 100 seamen from the Canadian cruiser Niobe. Of the 59 unidentified dead to be interred, seven were women. Fifty-six were placed in one common grave at Fairview cemetery while the three others were buried in the Mount Olivet cemetery.

LOWELL BOYS

TO GIVE AN EXHIBITION BOUT IN HAVERHILL

Jockey Brady and Gardner Brooks, the well known local boxers left this city this afternoon for Haverhill. They will appear in an exhibition bout in that city tonight. George Quinn, the well known promoter, is to open a new club in that city tonight, which will be known as the Olympic. Upon seeing the performance of the clever Lowell boys at a recent exhibition he secured them to give the opening number on tonight's program. Brady and Brooks will box four rounds and will also do shadow boxing and illustrate different punches. Mr. Brady has negotiated with the manager of the Old Howard in Boston and expects that he and Brooks will appear in the Hub theatre in the near future.

STOCK MARKET

WAS WEAK AT THE CLOSE THIS AFTERNOON

Prices Crumbled Away In the Last Hour—Most Extensive Selling Movement of Some Weeks—Important Stocks Approached Lowest Price of Fortnight

NEW YORK, May 3.—The break in the negotiations between the eastern railroad managers and their engineers together with the unexpected demands of the firemen on the roads in that territory was reflected in general heaviness of today's stock market at the opening. Reading in the initial dealings made a maximum decline of 1 1/2 points and U. P. fell 1 1/2. U. S. Steel lost a material fraction with declines elsewhere. The only notable gain was Canadian Pacific which followed its rise in London with a one point advance here.

The undercurrents remained heavy during the first hour despite a one point rally in Reading and some recovery in U. P. and U. S. Steel. There was considerable pressure against Tenn. Copper, Rock Island pf., and Consolidated, each of which went down a point. This was offset by another movement to new high records in Amer. Can. com. and pf., and some recovery in American Tobacco from yesterday's weakness.

Disappointment was felt in speculative circles over the unexpected change in the industrial situation and this found expression in further selling of the standard shares in the railway group. Union Pacific was the weakest of these issues with sympathetic heaviness in Reading, Lehigh Valley, New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio, Louisville & Nashville and St. Paul. However the latter was more directly attributed to its poor earnings for March. Buying orders were executed in various specialties, including the copper and fertilizer issues. Amal. Copper was notably buoyant, rising to 83 1/2. Railroad stocks also made a better showing, but the most important shares still ruled considerably below yesterday's final figures. The rise in the coppers was followed by another drive against U. P. and Reading, which sent those stocks to the lowest prices of the week, with resultant weakness in U. S. Steel, St. Paul, Lehigh Valley and other important issues. There were rumors of a further breach in the controversy between the railway managers and their employees, for which, however, there was no confirmation.

The market closed weak. Prices fairly crumbled away in the last hour on the most extensive selling movement of some weeks. Practically every stock of importance then approached its lowest price of a fortnight. Support was almost altogether lacking. The general average at the end was from three to six points under best prices of the week.

A SAFE EASY WAY TO GAIN FLESH QUICKLY

Analogous Increase in Weight Brought by Pizzetta's Fortunate Discovery

Medical men, everywhere, have been commenting upon the remarkable experience of a well-known physician, that was recently recorded in a prominent medical publication. By administering a combination of standard, harmless, pharmaceutical drugs in a manner he had never used before, Dr. Horace Edwards succeeded in increasing a patient's weight from 114 to 151 pounds in ten weeks—clear gain of 37 pounds or nearly 1/2 lbs. a week. A large number of experiments both by physicians and by the people who desired to put on flesh quickly, have followed the publication of this case report, and have brought most remarkable results. Indications of the judicious combination of Fluid Saltogen, Calisaya and Cardamoms will in practically any case enable a person to gain flesh at the rate of 3 to 5 lbs. a week. The exact prescription used and recommended by Dr. Edwards was 2 oz. Tincture of Cardamoms, 2 oz. Elixir of Calisaya, 2 oz. Fluid Saltogen and 2 oz. water—all equally obtainable at the slightest expense from any druggist. Directions: Ask the druggist to mix all the ingredients except the Saltogen in an 8 oz. bottle and give you the Saltogen separately. When you get home add half the Saltogen. After taking three doses pour in the remainder of the Saltogen and continue taking as before. Dose: Two table-spoonsful twenty minutes before meals. The resulting increase in weight can easily be checked when the patient desires by merely stopping the treatment. Calisaya, Cardamoms and Saltogen are all standard drugs regularly carried in stock by the best druggists of this city. One firm, Hall & Lyon, states that probably not a day goes by that they are not called upon to fill prescriptions containing them. Concerning their use, a well-known medical man says: "Although as every physician knows, the above drugs are splendid for relieving indigestion, nervousness, catarrh, etc., they should never be used for these purposes in the combination outlined above. Except for the patient who wishes to increase in weight."

GREEN VS. HOSMER

Case Called to Trial in the Superior Court Today

The jury in the case of Katherine Burns of Woodstock, N. B., vs. William B. McCarthy, executor of the will of Margaret Fingean, which came to a close at superior court yesterday afternoon, reported a verdict in favor of the plaintiff this morning in the sum of $956.33. The suit was brought by Katherine Burns for the recovery of alleged wages due her by the late Margaret Fingean.

The next case taken up was that of Katherine McNamara vs. the R. & M. railroad company. The plaintiff sued to recover for the death of her son, Thomas Fitzpatrick, who fell from a platform at the round house in Howland street where he was a coal shoveler on the night shift. In this case the jury rendered a verdict for the defendant company on order of the court. John P. Vaher for the plaintiff, and Trull & Wier for defense.

At the conclusion of the latter trial, the case of William J. Green vs. Chief E. S. Hosmer of the local fire department was called. In this suit Chief Hosmer is charged with conspiracy, and the ad damnum is $4000. It was brought about as a result of Mr. Green who was a coal fireman being discharged by the chief. The greater part of the testimony was taken up with the reading of the testimony offered by the chief and several other witnesses at the trial of Green vs. the City of Lowell, when the former sued the city for alleged wages due him. Jackson Palmer appears for the plaintiff, while the defense is in the care of Duncan & Robbins.

The first witness called was Mr. John J. Green, of 35 Bartlett street, father of the plaintiff. He testified that in the fall of 1907 he met Capt. Burns of the High street fire station, who asked him to work against the election of James B. Casey, who was candidate for mayor. In September of the same year he again met the captain and asked him when he would pay his son. He said the latter said he would fire him. Then witness said he threatened to bring the matter before the authorities. The captain then replied that he would make it hot for his boy if he did. Continuing, witness said that on March 2, 1907, he again had a conversation with the captain and told him he certainly was making it hot for his boy. "I told you I would," replied the captain. Witness said that after considerable talk on the question the captain said he would fire his son out of the department with the assistance of the chief. Mr. Burns said when his boy received his discharge letter he went to the chief for an explanation on the matter, but the only reply he received was that Capt. Burns did not want his son in the department. He then related in part what occurred at the hearing given his son by the board of engineers relative to his discharge, when the following charges were brought against the plaintiff: violating rules of the department; neglect of duty; malicious detrimental to the department and refusing to go to several fires.

On cross-examination witness said he was approached by Capt. Burns in 1905 and was asked to work against James F. Miskella, who was candidate for mayor, and whom the captain said was opposed to the chief.

Green's Brother Testifies
James B. Green, brother of the plaintiff, was the next witness called. He said he was with his father in the latter part of 1906, when the latter met Captain Burns at the corner of High and East Merrimack streets. His father asked the captain when he would pay his son, and the latter replied "None of your business." He said the father then threatened to bring the matter before the officials, to which the captain replied he would fire the son. He also stated he was a witness at the second hearing before the board of engineers.

Miss Sarah E. Wyman was next called to the witness stand. She said in the fall of 1907 she was in a store in Belvidere when Capt. Burns entered. A clerk asked him about the Green case. Capt. Burns replied: "The chief and I have fixed him all right. He is down and out and I don't see why the Greens are throwing away money."

The other witnesses heard were the plaintiff, Mr. William Green, and the defendant, Chief E. S. Hosmer. The case was this afternoon adjourned till Monday morning.

photographs are being taken of the bodies which will be buried. These will be included in a book that the steamship company will circulate through all the ports in which the Titanic found her passengers. Every train leaving town since Tuesday had two or three extra passenger cars attached to handle the mourners and the bodies they came after. Tuesday night ten bodies went to New York. Wednesday that of Isidor Straus went away, and so did that of John Jacob Astor. The latter goes direct to Rhinecliff, accompanied by his son, Vincent.

NORFOLK JACKETS
The Norfolk jacket has appeared again and will probably emphasize the popularity of the plaid jacket with its loose belt. Last year the jacket was worn in dark green, blue and in scarlet with white serge and white linen skirts. This year it is part of the suit. It also appears in summer ratings.

LOWELL STILL WINNING

Pop Rising Shines

There were about six hundred fans at Spaulding park yesterday afternoon to witness the second game between the Lowell and Worcester teams. But for the fact that there was a strong wind blowing across the diamond undoubtedly the attendance would have been much larger for the game yesterday was such a close one and Jesse Burkett is star attraction himself.

Prior to the opening of the game it was learned that Urquhart, a pitcher for the Lowell team, had been loaned to Haverhill and that Warwick, another pitcher, had been sent to Richmond, Va.

Berkel who was injured while sliding home last Friday, received an X-ray examination yesterday and it was found that he was suffering from a torn ligament.

First Inning
Lowell scored two runs in the first inning but the visitors failed to send a man across the plate.

Flaherty was the first man to bat and he fled to Miller. Jacobs followed Wilson was benched and Madden went in to pitch for the visitors. Bouttes hit to Jacob and was out at first. Miller struck out and McCune dropped the ball on the third strike but managed to throw the ball to first in time to get the runner. Lavinne sent a grounder to Madden and was retired at first.

Fourth Inning
Crum struck out. Burkett was the next man to go to bat and he singled to left field. McCune hit to Cooney who tagged second, getting Burkett and threw to first for a double play.

Wolfgang struck out and Nye went out on a fly to McCune. De Groff sent the ball to left field for two bases. Cooney was third out on a fly to Burkett.

Fifth Inning
Gunning hit to Nye and was out at first. Madden went out in the same way. Flaherty fled to Magee.

Magee was first out for Lowell, flying to Linderbeck. Rising sent the ball to right field for a two-bagger. Bouttes slammed the ball to right field scoring Rising. Miller fled to Crum. Lavinne fled to Burkett.

Sixth Inning
Jacobs was the first man up in the sixth inning and he fled to Magee. Linderbeck struck out. Aubrey went out. Cooney to Miller.

In the latter half of the inning Wolfgang received a base on balls. Nye sacrificed. Wolfgang going to second. De Groff went out Jacobs to first. Wolfgang going to third. Cooney hit to Jacobs who threw to first and he dropped the ball and the runner was safe while Wolfgang scored. Cooney was thrown out while trying to steal second.

Seventh Inning
Crum drew a base on balls and Burkett fled to Miller. McCune struck out. Crum stole second. Gunning fled to Magee.

Eighth Inning
Madden hit over second and beat the ball to first. Flaherty hit to Wolfgang who knocked the ball down but he could not recover it in time to get the runner. Jacobs fled to De Groff. Linderbeck fled to Bouttes. Aubrey hit to Cooney and Madden scored. Crum hit to Cooney, who threw Flaherty out at second.

In the latter half of the inning McCune was taken out and Carrigan sent behind the bat. Magee drew a base on balls. Rising made his fourth hit, singling to right field and Magee went to third. Rising stole second while the pitcher had the ball in his hand and when Madden threw the ball Magee came home. Rising stole third. Bouttes hit to Jacobs who threw to first but Gunning dropped the ball and Rising scored. Miller hit to the pitcher who dropped the ball and the runner was safe. Lavinne singled to left. Wolfgang fled to Flaherty. Nye fled to Burkett and Bouttes scored on the throw in. De Groff hit to the left field fence making a home run scoring Miller and Lavinne ahead of him. Cooney hit to Flaherty and was out at first.

Ninth Inning
Burkett singled. Carrigan struck out. Gunning fled to Rising. Morris went in to bat for Madden. He got a three-bagger to centre and Burkett scored. Flaherty singled to right and Morris scored. Jacobs singled to right. Linderbeck went out on a fly to Rising.

DIAMOND NOTES

Another one.

Pop Rising was the shining light of the game yesterday. He was strong in every department. His best work was at the bat, where he connected with four hits, three two-baggers and a single. Added to this he stole three bases. In the field he made one of the features running catches of the game.

De Groff was also there strong with the stick. He made four hits, including a home run inside the grounds, two doubles and a single. The home run was his second in two days as both were inside the grounds.

Gunning on the initial sack for the Busters put up a tough game, and to think that he was once a big leaguer. He went to Worcester from the Red Sox.

In the second inning Jesse gave Wilson a call for leading passes, later he called Madden, and still later he was calling everybody. He took it hard.

The catching of Lavinne continues to be of the apple pie order. He is throwing accurately and is also hitting well.

As a result of his two home runs, De Groff will be well supplied with Bull Durham. For each effort about he got a check calling for 72 five cent packages.

To date there have been six home runs made on the Lowell grounds. Of these Lowell got four and Lynn two. They are all smoking it.

Lowell and Fall River at Spaulding park tomorrow, at three o'clock.

Rube De Groff, Lowell's right fielder, has quite a record in baseball. He played with the Troy team in the New York State league for quite a while, was with the St. Louis Nationals and the New York Americans, the Jersey City club, and then dropped clear down to a class D league. Now he is back in pretty fast company.—New Bedford Times.

Haverhill has a Jack Barry and a Pat Barry. Both are pitchers. They both worked against Lowell yesterday and looked more like Donohue Barry when the champs got through with them.—Worcester Post.

Lowell has knocked the cover off the ball recently. Something must be done.—Exchange.

Jake Bouttes is playing a great game for Lowell this season and it would not be a bit surprising to see Jake go a few notches higher next season.—Exchange.

Lowell seems to have the very same disease as last year, and that's hitting the pill. The doctors' best prescription or it is good pitchers.—Exchange.

Lajoie Now Leading the Batters in American League

Larry Lajoie now tops the American batters with a percentage of .405. The Naps' great second baseman seems to have hit his stride earlier this season than last, and local experts believe Ty Cobb will have to go some to beat him off. Larry is also playing the same old sensational fielding game at second station. Lajoie has one remarkable record which no other player can show—he hit .329 per cent on no less than three occasions in 1896, 1905 and 1909, and hit .355 per cent in two different years, 1903 and 1906. Last season he hit .355, and, judging by the way he has started out this year, he will eclipse his batting feats of 1911.

YOUNG PLAYERS NEED NERVE AND BACKBONE

Nerve and backbone are essential in the successful young ball player. Ability is often rendered worthless by timidity. It takes nerve to stand up under reverses, and only players with nerve can ever hope to make good in the major leagues. It's the fellow who keeps trying and does not lose confidence in himself who eventually makes good.

The young fellow who strikes out or makes an error and merely grits his teeth and makes up his mind to get even when the next chance comes always has a chance, but he who under such circumstances hangs his head and loses heart hasn't a chance.

There is not the slightest doubt that it is the lack of real nerve and self confidence which is responsible for so many failures among young players who get a trial in fast company. Simply because they do not start off at the pace they set in the minors they consider themselves outclassed, and once under this impression there is no chance for them to make good. Grit counts for more than a good arm and eye.

The manager of the Union grounds will like to meet the manager of the Riverbides at the Bowldway at 7:30 Friday night.

The Mystics will play the Cubs Saturday afternoon at Mystic park at 2:30 o'clock.

The Mt. Groves and the Lincolns will meet at Lincoln park Saturday and a good game is anticipated as the Mt. Groves have struck their stride.

The Manhattans and the Bleachery A. C. meet Saturday and a fast game is expected. The game will be called at 3 o'clock on the South common.

The Lincolns will play the strong Mt. Groves of Pawtucketville at Lincoln park next Saturday, and a good game is expected. McDowell and Reynolds will be the battery for the Lincolns, while the Groves have secured two new men for their battery and have not announced it as yet. The game will start at 5 o'clock.

The Billing Stars would like to play any team under 12 years. Our lineup is as follows: A. Taylor, capt. and 1b; J. Decker, c; W. Reardon, p; J. Barrett, 2b; J. Mahoney, 3b; P. Smith, ss; J. Pearl, rf; S. Barrett, lf; J. Ganley, cf; C. Mahoney, mascot. Send all challenges to A. Taylor, 43 Sutherland street.

The Watson Blues will challenge any 12-year-old team in the city for a 25-cent ball on Saturday afternoon, May 4; our lineup is as follows: R. O'Malley, c; J. Gray, p; W. Murray, 1b; J. Gray, ss; J. Gallagher, 2b; W. Sullivan, 2b; J. Donohoe, lf; W. Coursey, rf; J. O'Malley, cf. Will play on any grounds with the exception of the South common. The Young Cadets are preferred. Send notices through this paper or address John Gray, manager.

EDDIE FLYNN WINS

Beat Young Clancy in the Fifth Round--Young Boyle Also Won

Eddie Flynn of Lynn gave Young Clancy of Boston a decisive beating in the main bout at the Lowell Social and Athletic club last evening. The bout was scheduled to go 12 rounds, but ended in the sixth, when Flynn sent in a left to the solar plexus that sent Clancy to the floor, while referee Billy Gardner counted ten.

The bout was one of the best that has staged at the club this season. At last week's meeting Flynn lost to Clancy, when one of his seconds stepped into the ring, violating the rules. In that bout Flynn was the aggressor. Last night, however, Flynn was determined. As the round ended Flynn sent in left to the kidneys. Flynn started off in the third at a fast clip and made several swings that Clancy cleverly ducked. They exchanged good ones to the face and Flynn sent in heavy left to the jaw and the round ended. The fourth was exceptionally fast and in this round Clancy shaded his opponent. Clancy sent in two good lefts, but Flynn came back with three stinging lefts to the head and both clinched. Flynn came tearing in with a left to the stomach, and Clancy came back with right to the body and shot up a left uppercut. He tried to slip over another left, but Flynn ducked nicely. In the fifth Flynn gave a great exhibition of ducking and side stepping and he also delivered many telling blows. Both went in fast and clinched. Clancy sent in lefts and Flynn came back with a right and left to the body. They clinched. Clancy sent in another left. When he pulled away Flynn sent in right to body and left to the jaw and Clancy went down for the count of three. He got up just as the bell rang. In the sixth and final round Flynn showed to great advantage. He had his man going from the start and when Clancy would try to land he displayed clever footwork. When the round was one minute old, Flynn sent in the blow that ended the contest. As he lost the ring he was loudly applauded.

The semi-final between Young Boyle of Lowell and Young Colburn of Boston, scheduled for eight rounds, ended in the sixth when the boy from the club realizing that he stood as a target for Boyle long enough decided to take the next train home. The bout was all Boyle and the Lowell man beat his man in every round.

The first preliminary between Young Keather of Lowell and Terry O'Rourke of Lawrence was very lively and went the limit, 6 rounds to a draw. The other preliminary between Young Doyle of Lowell and Young Fitch of Boston, ended in the first, when the Lowell boy sent his man to the mat for the count. Billy Gardner acted as referee.

OUTFIELDER BOB BESCHER

Is the Fastest Man in National League

Bob Beschler, of Cincinnati is the fastest man in the National League. Last season the crack outfielder of the rotte, 9 Oak avenue, or through The Sun before Saturday.

The Meteors would like to challenge any eleven year old team in the city. Our lineup is as follows: R. Battersby, c; W. Hall, p; W. Gary, 1b; J. Cunningham, 3b; H. Hall, ss; L. Convery, 2b; John Madden, rf; J. Flannery, lf; T. Harrington, cf; James Madden, sub; J. Beecher, sub; W. Normandy, sub. Dan Cunningham is our mascot. We would like a game for Saturday morning. Address all challenges to Walter Hall, 22 Langrange street.

THE PLUMBERS WON ON BRUNSWICK ALLEY

At the Brunswick alleys last night, the Plumbers took two strays and the total from the Middlesex team. Griffin and Hessian were tied for first place, with totals of 290. The score:

Plumbers—Hesslan 230, Quirk 252, Weldon 257, Shepard 267, Burns 251; total, 1320.

Middlesex—Sabre 260, Flint 242, Dexter 256, Griffin 290, Bordenau 245; total, 1293.

LEITCH KNOCKED OUT

He Was No Match for Billy Papke

NEW YORK, May 3.—Billy Papke of Keenaw, Ill., former middle-weight champion, practically knocked out Billy Leitch, a former New York policeman, in the second round of what was scheduled to be a 10-round bout, at the National Sporting club here last night. It was Leitch's first fight as a professional. Both weighed in at 153½ pounds.

The moment the men squared off Papke rushed Leitch to his own corner and drove a hard right swing to the head. Leitch fell to one knee and grabbed the ropes to steady himself. He got up, but Papke was after him, and shortly before the bell Papke again floored him with a right swing.

Leitch was still groggy when the second round started, and after he was knocked down four times his seconds threw up the sponge.

Reads led his league in stolen bases, and this season he has started off well and says he will duplicate his feats of 1911.

"Safe and Sane" Aviation Hereafter

No more the aerial spiral dip, the reverse turn, the daring glide, the untimely shutting off of power and the other stunts in the air which have caused the deaths of 150 aeronauts in the past three years. No more unnecessary taking of chances, no more the tempting death that has no place in the legitimate work of the aviator.

Some of the leading aviators, American and foreign, have decided then. They will still brave death every time they go up in the air, since this is inevitable, but they will no longer countenance and encourage the things which have sprinkled blood on every page of the otherwise bright record of aviation. As Walter Brookings, one of the prime movers for "safe and sane" aviation, said recently:

"Some weird author in a current magazine says all air men are fatalists; that we believe the game will get us sooner or later. And so we are—just as much as the rest of humanity. Most of us prize our necks as much as people in general. We need them in our business and propose to protect them."

The recent death of Calbraith P. Rodgers, the transcontinental flier, brought sadness to the hearts of aviators, among whom he was well liked. It carried conviction to the minds and hearts of many of them that something must be done to stop the needless slaughter of brave men. So some of them were called together at a meeting in New York by Walter Brookings, an aviator who cannot be accused of want of courage, and were asked to pledge themselves to further the movement for greater safety in the air. Among the men interested in the plans are the Wrights, Glenn H. Curtiss, Captain Thomas Baldwin, Bud Mars and Frank P. Coffey, the hydroaeroplaneist.

It was brought out at the meeting that the veterans of aviation, men who followed closely in the footsteps of the Wrights when they astonished the world something over three years ago by remaining aloft for a full minute, are still alive, while the younger generation of air men—queer that this should be written correctly when the science and art of aviation are so young—have gone the way to sudden death. Johnstone, Hoxsey, Molant, Rodgers, Rols, Day, Schriever, Gilmour—the list is a melancholy one.

The Wrights fly no more, or seldom go aloft. Glenn H. Curtiss teaches others how to fly. J. A. Drexel, society aeronaut, has curbed his desire to be the world's leading aviator. Paulhan has had enough, his friends say, while Trahan-White, the big Englishman who won prizes at the great Belmont park meeting in 1910, figures little in the news nowadays. They are not afraid, but they have passed the stage when they take foolish chances.

Upper—The Late Tod Schriever, who was one of the most daring aviators (with crutches). Lower—Overturned monoplane.

Not long ago Howard Gill, one of the you swung around at so steep an angle that the spectators could see the sky between your planes that you were straining the machine far beyond safe limits. And you would always reply: "Well, I get away with it, Wilbur, and the crowds fall for it great." "Yes, but I know better now," said Brookings.

and hence it is necessary that the members send in the post cards without delay, in order that provision can be made at breakfast for all. The knights will attend the 9:45 mass and will meet at 9 o'clock, at Lincoln hall, proceeding to the church where seats will be reserved. Special music will be rendered by the K. of C. choir under the direction of Mr. James E. Donnelly. The entertainment program at the breakfast will embrace solos by Miss Katherine L. Mullin, the talented soprano, who has been heard at previous K. of C. gatherings, with pleasure. The St. Peter's bonjo and mandolin club, will also give several selections, as well as James E. Donnelly and others.

A STORY OF A SHIRT

One of the greatest sensations of the day will happen at the KING CLOTHING CO., Saturday at noon, when this clothing house will give every customer who calls at the store a first class shirt; that is, a regular 50c shirt for 10c, no more, no less, while they last. The object is to get acquainted with the working people and to help demonstrate what can be purchased with that 10 per cent raise in your wages. It will be the first clothing house to give this useful souvenir to its patrons. All that one has to do is to call at the store at noon, ask for a shirt, drop a dime and get 50c worth of value, and this will continue, as long as the special stock of shirts lasts. The shirts are now on exhibition in the King Clothing Co.'s windows, and no one can purchase one before 12 o'clock Saturday noon. Nothing like this has ever been heard of in this city before. It is the proper way of getting acquainted with the people. So do not forget the sale and time of sale. There is no string of any kind to the souvenir sale. Come yourself and bring your friends at 12 o'clock.

GROWS FIVE INCHES OF NEW HAIR IN THIRTY DAYS

Both men and women, inclined to baldness or dandruff, will be interested in the following simple home formula for hair and scalp treatment, strongly recommended by a reader who states that from its use, in thirty days, she grew new hair five inches long.

Bay Rum 6 oz.
Lavender de Composee 2 oz.
Menthol Crystals ½ dr.
These ingredients are all staple, standard and inexpensive pharmaceutical products kept by any well equipped druggist. Let the druggist mix them for you, or you can do it yourself at home. Allow to stand half an hour before using. Apply night and morning, rubbing briskly into the scalp with the finger tips or a medium stiff brush.

This preparation is not only a wonderfully rapid hair grower, but it quickly stops dandruff, itching hair and itching scalp, and although it is neither a stain nor dye, will restore natural color to gray, streaked or faded hair in nine cases out of ten.

Inquiry develops the fact that this prescription is frequently filed by Hall & Lyon in this city, and by other prominent central city druggists, and we are led by their statement that it often makes hair grow with amazing rapidity, to warn lady users not to apply to the face or where hair growth is not desired.

AN INCREASE REPORTED

In the Value of Goods Exported

WASHINGTON, May 2.—The estimate that a billion dollars' worth of manufactures will be exported in the current fiscal year, made by the bureau of statistics, department of commerce and labor, seems likely to be justified. The official figures show for the 9 months ending with March 75 million dollars' worth of manufactures exported, these figures being 74 million dollars in excess of those for the corresponding period of the preceding year; and as the exports of manufactures in the year ending June 30, 1911, were valued at 907 million dollars, the figures at hand seem to clearly indicate that the total for the current year will pass the billion dollar line.

That the total exports of the year will exceed 2 billion dollars in value is equally apparent. The figures for the 9 months ending with March are 1711 million, against 1595 million in the same months of last year, indicating for the full fiscal year a total of approximately 2½ billion dollars. Manufactures, raw materials for use in manufacturing, foodstuffs, and miscellaneous articles form, in the order named, the articles contributing to the 2½ billion dollar exportation of merchandise indicated for the fiscal year which ends with next month. Comparing the exports by great groups in the 9 months ending with March, 1912, with those of a like period in 1911, manufactures increased from 658 to 750 million dollars, of which latter sum 432 million dollars represented the value of manufactures ready for consumption. In the same time manufacturers' raw materials decreased from 622 to 615 million dollars, while foodstuffs increased from 287 million to 339 million dollars. Should the rate of exportation maintained in the month of March continue during the three remaining months of the fiscal year, manufactures would show for the 12 months ending with June a total of 1 billion dollars; crude materials for use in manufacturing, 850 million; foodstuffs, 450 million; and miscellaneous articles, a total of 8 million, the gains in comparison with the preceding year being approximately 100 million dollars in manufactures and 55 million in foodstuffs, while raw materials for use in manufacturing may show a slight loss due to the lower prices of cotton in 1912.

Ten great classes supply about 70 per cent of the manufactures exported from the country. Stated in the order of their value in the current fiscal year so far as elapsed they are: iron and steel manufactures, copper, refined mineral oils, wood manufactures, leather and leather goods, cotton manufactures, agricultural implements, cars and carriages and chemicals.

Iron and steel will show for the fiscal year a total export of over a quarter billion dollars, against 251 million in 1911 and less than 100 million in 1910. Nearly all its constituent items participated in the growth of approximately 20 million dollars indicated for the year's exports. Structural iron and steel in 9 months showed a total of 72 million dollars, an advance of 2 million dollars over the like period of 1911; wire, 8-2-3 million, an increase of 1½ million dollars; builders' hardware and tools, 13 million, an increase of a half million dollars; machinery of various kinds, including electrical, metal-working, mining, shoe, engines, sewing machines, cash registers, typewriters, adding machines, etc., 53 million dollars, against 74½ million in the 9 months of 1911; sheets and plates of iron and steel, 13½ million dollars, an increase of 5 million over a like period of 1911; and tin plates, 4 million dollars against 1-1-3 million in the corresponding period last year.

Of copper and copper manufactures, second in rank among manufactures exported, the 9 months' figures are 83½ million dollars, against 77½ million last year, indicating that for the full fiscal year the total will be over 110 million dollars, compared with 104 million in 1911 and 41 million in 1910. Refined mineral oils in 9 months aggregated 73 million dollars in value of exports, against 65½ million last year, suggesting for the full year a total of 95 million dollars, against 92-2-3 million in 1911 and 66 million in 1910. Of wood manufactures the 9 months' exports were valued at 65 million dollars, or about 2 million dollars in excess of last year's corresponding total. This would indicate for the complete fiscal year a total of 59 million dollars, against 57½ million in 1911 and 44½ million in 1910.

Of leather and manufacturers thereof, valued at 44 million dollars in the nine months, against less than 30 million last year, the year's exports will probably aggregate 69 million dollars, as compared with 53-2-2 million in the fiscal year 1911 and 29½ million in 1910.

Other important articles of manufacture showing increases compared with 1911 and preceding years include cotton manufactures, with a probable total export of 50 million dollars in the fiscal year which ends with next month; agricultural implements, 40 million dollars; chemicals and medicines, 25 million; naval stores, 25 million; automobiles, exclusive of tires, 20 million; other cars and carriages, 20 million; paper and manufactures thereof, 20 million; scientific instruments, 13 million, and India rubber, 12 million dollars. The foregoing classes together with the more important items discussed in detail will aggregate fully 500 million dollars, while the remaining 150 million dollars worth of exported manufactures will embrace a wide variety of articles, such as clocks and watches, motor boats, lamps and chandeliers, musical instruments, trucks and valises, phonographs and graphophones, photographic goods, oil cloth, paints and varnishes, soap, twine, etc., etc.

NORTH CHELMSFORD

The annual May party and dance under the auspices of the St. John's Ladies' auxiliary was held in the town hall last evening and it was a great success. Many were present from the surrounding towns and Lowell and all had a most enjoyable time. A conference between Louis H. Cushing, superintendent of the Lowell & Fitchburg street railway, and a special committee of citizens was held in the town hall yesterday afternoon. The purpose of the conference was to see if it was not possible to have certain privileges restored which had been withdrawn, to the detriment of a large number of residents of West Chelmsford, most of whom are employed in Fletcher's quarry. The subject was discussed at length but nothing definite was decided.

RECOUNT PETITION

Filed in Nearly All the Cities and Large Towns in State

BOSTON, May 3.—The filing today of petitions for primary recounts may well well into June the issue, Chicago and Baltimore conventions. By the secretary of the state of the Before the primaries were held, Secretary of State Langtry stated as no time limit was set for returns by the city and town clerks it might be June 1st before he could complete his official canvass of the vote. It is expected that the light vote polled for the democratic candidates, a trifle over 30,000, will be easily tabulated but the republican vote ran up to 175,000. The primary law provides that city and town clerks must make their returns "forthwith" but makes no other mention of time. The state election law gives the clerks ten days to make returns and the tabulation is usually in the hands at the state house at the end of three or four weeks.

STREETS ROPED OFF

To Prevent Picketing and Parading Near the Mills

CLINTON, May 3.—Although 200 or more striking weavers assembled near the Lancaster Gingham mills today in an attempt to induce other operatives to join their ranks the management said that more looms were running than on yesterday. About 450 weavers are on strike for higher wages and because one of the leaders in previous strikes was not reinstated. Ropes were stretched across Green street before the gates of the mills to prevent picketing and parading on that thoroughfare. Stationed inside the ropes were a number of policemen who allowed only the operatives desiring to work to enter the enclosure. Outside the barrier a crowd of about 200 strikers gathered and shouted.

After the mill gates had been closed the strikers paraded through the main street of the town and finally held an outdoor meeting. They were addressed by Dennis J. Callahan, an Industrial Workers of the World organizer. While Callahan was talking a patrol wagon loaded with police officers, drew up at the edge of the crowd and ordered Callahan to disperse the gathering. The crowd obeyed the instructions after announcing that another meeting would be held later in the day. There was no disorder.

HELD UP TWO THIEVES

Chelsea Patrolman Bravely Cowed Two Desperate Criminals

BOSTON, May 3.—Cowed by the menacing barrel of a revolver in the hands of Reserve Patrolman William O'Connor of the Chelsea police department, two alleged professional thieves, both of them desperate, were forced to stand against a wall in Cohen's junk shop at 167 Second street, Chelsea, yesterday, while the policeman, telephoned for assistance.

Although one of the men is said to have declared that the officer could not take both, and signaled his companion to begin the attack, O'Connor held them until the arrival of more police.

The men were Thomas Gately, alias Thomas Norton, aged 32, of 25 Kennerd street, Boston, and Frank Hawkins, alias George Dalton, 31, of 25 Randal street, South Boston, both said to have criminal records.

According to the police, O'Connor, who was not in uniform, saw the men enter the junkshop and seize a coil of copper wire. Without hesitating a moment, he followed them in, and confronted them with the evidence of their guilt. The men showed fight and made threats but O'Connor was obdurate. One of the alleged thieves is said then to have remarked that the policeman could not take both of them, and gave the signal to his comrade for the attack.

O'Connor refused to be intimidated, however, and drawing his gun and club from his pockets, he informed them that he was going to make two arrests. At the point of his revolver he backed the crooks against the wall, and while they gazed into the muzzle of the revolver, O'Connor called police headquarters and the patrol wagon was sent to the junk store.

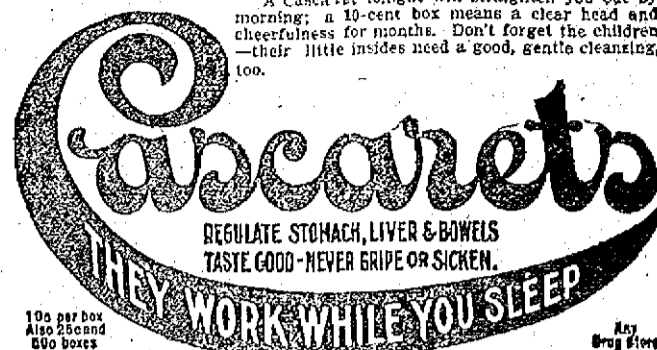

FOR SICK HEADACHE, SOUR STOMACH, LAZY LIVER OR SLUGGISH BOWELS

Turn the rascals out—the headache, the biliousness, the indigestion, the sick, sour stomach and foul gases—turn them out tonight and keep them out with Cascarets.

Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never know the misery caused by a lazy liver, clogged bowels or an upset stomach.

Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse and regulate your stomach; remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and that misery-making gas; take the excess bile from your liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. Then you will feel great.

A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning; a 10-cent box means a clear head and cheerfulness for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleaning, too.

CLASS OF 10,000 PLANNED BY BIDDLE

PHILADELPHIA, May 3.—Anthony Drexel Biddle hopes by January, 1913, to have the largest bible class in the world. The membership of his class is now 3400 and he plans by an aggressive campaign to increase it to ten thousand in the next eight months. The chief summer activity of the Biddle bible class will be the establishment of a week-end vacation home on the estate of A. J. Drexel, Jr., at Lansdowne, which is now being remodelled for the purpose. Mr. Biddle has installed tennis courts, a gymnasium and a baseball field, and will have dormitories to accommodate fifty men and ten women. Ten cents a night will be charged for lodging and the price of meals will be correspondingly low. No person will be allowed to sleep on the estate more than two nights in one week.

DENIES RESPONSIBILITY FOR MASSACRE

PARIS, May 3.—Muhai Hafid, the sultan of Morocco, in an interview at Fez, forwarded in this city in a special news despatch today, disclaimed all responsibility for the massacre of French soldiers and civilians during the revolt of the Moorish troops, April 17, and he insisted on his devotion to France. This attitude toward the French republic, the sultan said, was evidenced by the fact that he always had resisted the repeated solicitation of the Germans and Spaniards subsequent to the Panther incident at Agadir.

Muhai Hafid complained, however, that he had been despoiled of all authority. He never had been consulted even regarding affairs relative to his own family. He advised the French to go slow in winning over the Arabs. If they were treated with gentleness and liberality, he declared, they would make marvellously efficient corps of the French army.

Vassar's Famous Daisy Chain May Have to Go

VASSAR DAISY CHAIN

Life will assume a grayer tinge, there will be less warmth in the June sunshine, less perfume in the June roses, with the passing of the Vassar daisy chain. The decree, stern, but perhaps not irrevocable, of its passing, means the elimination of a joyous feature of American life, which is only too poor in those elements of outdoor enjoyment which lighten the burdens of existence in some fellow countries. With the New Orleans Mardi Gras, the flower festivals in Pasadena, San Diego and other California cities and a few other affairs of the sort the Vassar daisy chain has helped to lift from the American people the charge of "taking their pleasures sadly." Its passing means a distinct loss to American outdoor life.

For half a century, ever since the foundation of Vassar, the famous women's college at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., the daisy chain has been carried in annual procession by a score of the prettiest members of the sophomore class as a part of the ceremonies of class day, Tuesday of commencement week. On the day before class day all the members of the sophomore class rally forth into the fields surrounding Vassar and gather the daisies to make up the monster chain.

For each member of the graduating class a foot of the chain is woven, and the mass of daisies in recent years has generally been over 200 feet long. Marching proudly down the line between rows of thousands of visitors to Vassar for commencement week, this score of pretty members of the sophomore class, chosen for their beauty and grace, have always been the observed of all observers. They have been chosen by committees composed of the presidents of the senior classes, the presidents of the sophomore classes and the chairmen of the day committees.

But, alas, it is said the daisy chain has been marked for extinction. No more may it be carried in triumph over Vassar's greenwards. No more may a score of maidens bear the distinction of "the prettiest at Vassar." Vassar is proud, very proud, of its half century record in scholarship and the number of young women it has turned out with trained minds, stores of knowledge gained by hard work and bodies fitted by systematic, careful, thorough exercise and the best of advice to bear the burdens of the world.

Vassar seeks no distinction based on the fairness of face and form of its students. Therefore, runs the chain of logic, since the daisy chain confers on Vassar unsought fame as the home of pretty girls, the daisy chain must go. Hence these tears, as some one said in Latin long ago.

Besides, Vassar thinks the selection of twenty-four maidens as representatives of the sophomore class in the past has led, perhaps, to the reflection, that the rest of the class was not equal to the fortunate few in personal attractiveness. That is not fair, since every one knows that all Vassar girls are uncommonly beautiful. But they are human, and it is natural for envy to ramble in the feminine heart when another is preferred solely on the score of beauty.

To this argument the reply has been made, "Why not let the entire sophomore class carry the daisy chain?" But here arises again the objection that Vassar collectively (not individually, of course!) seeks no fame based on the beauty of its students. To let the entire sophomore class carry the chain would, it is said, emphasize before the world the assertion that the thousand Vassar girls have among their number an unusually large proportion of Ithobes and Dianas. And official and studious Vassar wants to avoid that reputation.

Last year there came near being no daisy chain carrying at all. It rained the day before, and pretty frocks were ruined by the hundreds. The weather man threatened to be unkind on the great Tuesday, but he fortunately recanted in time, and the chain was carried in accordance with custom.

According to one report of last year's ceremony, "there have been other class days at Vassar, and hundreds of beautiful sophomores have carried the daisy chain before the departing seniors, but even the alumnæ conceded that nothing has ever been so effective and entrancing as the exercises held today on the campus. Forth from a cloud gloomed sky broke a flood of sunshine as the daisy chain was carried through a line of 2200 persons by twenty-four fair maidens in the sophomore class. The daisy chain girls fulfilled all the traditions of Vassar for beautiful women and walked down to the platform amid the smiling approbation of the thousands. No sectional lines are drawn in selecting the bearers of the chain. There are 278 members of the class from whom the twenty-four have been chosen for this year's distinction. New York and New Jersey share the honor of contributing four daughters each to the line of beauty. Wisconsin, California, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts have two each, and the other states with one apiece are Virginia, Ohio, Connecticut, Montana, Michigan, Maine, Iowa and Missouri. Last year's daisy chain was upheld partly by a young woman from Manila, but she was not a Filipino, but a girl of American parentage.

THE ANNUAL RECEPTION

Was Held at Elvin's Dancing Academy

The 21st annual reception of Mr. and Mrs. Elvin's dancing academy class was held last night at the hall in Dutton street. The interior of the hall was decorated in an artistic and attractive manner and as usual there was a large attendance.

The affair opened with a grand march, about fifty couples participating and at the conclusion of the march general dancing was enjoyed.

The committee in charge of the party was as follows: General Manager W. F. Elvin, floor director, John P. Healey, assistant floor director, Martin Kennedy, Harry Clay, Leo Maxey, Daniel Bell, David E. Cornfield, Olyvia Porter, reception committee, Frank Dixon, Joseph Russell, Arthur Brunette, C. P. Dorge, Alex. McAsken, Elzeur Landry, Herman Allen, aids, Charles Armstrong, Joseph Lee, Harry Watson, Harold Williams, Martin Hinched, J. J. Gilley, John Osborn, Philippe Girard, Roy Peters, John Griffin, Thomas Spencer, William Kelley, James Daley.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The committee which has charge of the complimentary anniversary dance which is to be held under the auspices of Division 5, A. O. U. M., met last night and made final arrangements for the party. It is expected that there will be a large attendance at the affair.

Knights of Pythias

The regular meeting of Lowell lodge, Knights of Pythias, was held last night. There was a large attendance and considerable routine business was transacted. The relief committee stated that Brother E. N. Patterson was off the sick list. The death of Brother Chas. M. Dalton was reported and it was voted to send resolutions to the family and to appoint bearers to officiate at the funeral. It was also voted to work this rank of paper for S. H. Hines and Wameit lodges on May 16.

The Grand Army

The regular meeting of James Garfield Post, No. 33, was held last evening in G. A. R. hall. One member was admitted into the order by reinstatement and on application for membership was received. General orders for Memorial day were read. Mrs. Lestina E. Parker, delegate to the department W. R. C. convention held in Boston, in April gave her report. The verse will present a flag to the Eliot church, May 12. Arrangement was made to observe Memorial day, May 26, and flag day, June 14, also the water service to be held in Tyngsboro, June 9.

large attendance of members, and much business was transacted. A communication was read from the grandmaster naming Sunday, June 24, as Memorial day of the order and a committee was appointed to make arrangements for the occasion. The committee is made up of Past Grandes Fleming, Cress and Balcom. Degree Master Perry announced a rehearsal of the first degree after the next regular meeting May 8, and hoped the whole staff would turn out. This degree will be conferred on the 15th and any Odd Fellow who has not witnessed this degree as put on by the present staff should not fail to attend. Those who have seen it will no doubt be on hand again.

A committee has been appointed to look after a collation that will be served after the meeting on the 15th.

The Owls

Lowell Nest of Owls, No. 1225, held its regular meeting in Elks hall

Thursday evening. There was a large attendance and J. Walter Bowers presided. Dep. Supreme President A. H. King and Treasurer David Flanders of Waltham, Mass. were present.

President Charles W. Richards of the local nest was in attendance after an absence of several months on account of a serious illness. He was accorded a rousing reception. Messrs. King and Flanders were very kindly received by the members.

SALISBURY BEACH FIGHT

The municipal board did the right thing in voting to indorse the movement to make Salisbury beach a state reservation. There are probably one thousand cottages or more on that beach, and they have been built by people who had leased the lots on the assumption that they could renew their leases on reasonable terms. Until recently no lots were sold on Salisbury beach as proprietors or supposed proprietors could not give a title. The beach was originally set apart under a grant from the British crown for the commoners of New England, and it was only by ingenious political wire pulling that the right to sell was secured.

It is understood that the syndicate owning the beach will insist that every lessee must purchase his lot as soon as his lease expires. He must purchase also at the price the proprietors see fit to demand. Very few of the cottage owners are willing to do this. They regard the price asked as exorbitant, and that explains why they are before the legislature asking that the state take over the beach and deal fairly with them. There is no doubt whatever that the state can renege itself for all the expenditure necessary by leasing lots to cottage owners. The beach has become popular, but it requires to be improved. Some improvements were started last summer, but they moved slowly and something is required on a larger scale. It would be very unfair to compel the owners of cottages to purchase their lots at an arbitrary price. Many of the present owners purchased the cottages assuming that they could have the leases renewed on reasonable terms.

The cities of the Merrimack Valley, including Lowell, are interested in this beach and favor the proposition to have the state take over the property and improve it for the benefit of the people of New England.

THE STATE HIGHWAY TO LOWELL

As it is now apparent that the bill to appropriate money for completing the state highway between this city and Lawrence will become law, there is an important consideration that should receive very serious attention. It is that of deciding upon the course to be followed by the highway from Bridge street to the car barn on First street. It is very desirable that the First street hill should be avoided, as that is a most dangerous portion of the road. On one side there is a high hill on which there is usually a landslide to the roadway every winter while the other side marks the brow of a precipice. This route would be very dangerous to automobiles and other vehicles. The road could be directed along the river bank from Indian Orchard to the Central bridge on the new made land belonging to the Locks & Canals company. This would afford a level road bed along the river, and while it might be more expensive than the course over the hill, still the advantage to be derived from this route would more than compensate for the additional outlay.

It is to be hoped that the Locks & Canals company will do their part to make this route available, and that the county and highway commissioners as well as the municipal board of Lowell will sanction the movement, and use their influence to have this course adopted.

The proposition of the board of health to have girls at school taught how to take care of babies may be well meant. But the girls at school have to learn something more urgently needed at the present time. Who would teach the girls if the subject were introduced? Few are qualified except the mothers and trained nurses. The girls should get this instruction at home not at school. The board of health should endeavor to have the mothers instructed in the art of feeding and caring for babies. They are the persons directly responsible. They should all be trained in the art, but unfortunately a very considerable number of them is not. Can the board of health do anything to enlighten them?

There is talk of organizing a strike in the Lowell machine shop. No doubt the men who work there are entitled to higher wages, but in spite of that fact it is well to remember that the "Big Shop" has not been prospering of late and that a strike at this time might close it up indefinitely. The out-of-town agitators do not know this and perhaps do not care. In this case it would be well for the employees to be cautious and to investigate before taking any step that might close up and ruin an industry once the best in our city but that unfortunately for some years past has been struggling for existence.

We believe the grammar masters should be glad to be relieved of the supervisory duty imposed upon them. It was an interference with their school work that should never have been proposed but, for the policy of making somebody else do the superintendent's work. The principals have plenty of work to do in their respective schools without going about the state to visit teachers who seek positions in this city.

If the pay of wireless operators be increased in proportion to the importance their business has assumed in the light of the recent disaster, they will be the best paid officials on the ocean liners. It is time they were advanced above the status of mere office boys. They carry a great responsibility and should be men of brains and experience.

City Treasurer Stiles says the $15,000 of public hall money has not been spent. The discussion has gone so far orally and on paper that the municipal board would be justified in asking to see the cash.

Champ Clark must be well pleased with the vote he received in the Massachusetts primaries. He is popular as a democrat, but the real question is whether he could beat either Taft or Roosevelt.

At one of the most important meetings of the year, it might be expected that every member of the municipal board should attend.

SEEN AND HEARD

Physical beauty manifests itself in various forms and sizes and is restricted to no particular division of the animal kingdom. So, at least, believes a gentleman living in Parker village, who, in an advertisement in the "For Sale" column of a daily paper, informs the public that he will sell some "handsome" young pigs. Now, with all due respect to the gentleman in question, we rise to remark that we believe he should have selected some other adjective to describe the physical appearance, prepossessing though it may be, of his infantile porkers. For be it from us to engage in any controversy with him as to his privilege to style his pigs "handsome." He has the right, of course, to speak of them as even beautiful or fascinating or bewitching or ethereal or charming or comely or enticing, or lovely, or elegant, or pig. This fact, we admit, is as plain as the nose on our face. But, in using that particular adjective did the owner of the pigs, while preparing the advertisement, pause to consider that in calling the animals "handsome" he might offend the grammatical taste of some prospective customer? Such would be not at all unlikely, for though a man may be interested in pigs it does not follow that he is uninterested in adjectives. The word "handsome," as distinguished from "pretty," implies culture and gracefulness. Thus, it may be that an unusually well formed pig, one with a most agreeable countenance, might, by an elastic use of the adjective, be termed a "pretty" pig, but we defy any man to show us one that properly may be designated a "handsome" pig. Should this adjective gradually creep into common use as a means of describing something sleek and fat, imagine the feelings of a refined young woman when she is told by some well meaning admirer that she is handsome. An icy glance, instead of a complacent beam, will be her silent answer. However, there are exceptions in every case, and there is an exception in that of the "handsome" pig. It is this: Though the pig can never be called "handsome" in the whole, he may, if properly prepared, be termed "handsome" in the part. This statement, no doubt, sounds rather ambiguous. Well, we mean that "handsome" may be properly applied to him when his left leg is brought to us at dinner, done to a turn. Browed to a charming complexion, adorned with spruces of green, and exhibiting all the culture known to the professors of cookery, then and only then may Mr.

ALWAYS SUSPECT YOUR STOMACH

Do Not Be Fooled by Misleading Symptoms.

If your digestion is out of order you may have symptoms that will mislead you into thinking you have heart disease, kidney trouble, some nervous or blood disorder. Better look to the stomach first. It is here that the blood gets its nourishment. If the digestion is disordered, the blood will be out of order. Poor digestion fills the blood with poisons. This impure blood poisons every tissue of the body. The dyspeptic awakes in the morning with a dull, heavy head and is irritable, melancholy, and dizzy because the brain, nerves and muscles have been poisoned from the stomach.

Mrs. W. F. Raullard, whose address is R. F. D. No. 1, West Kennebunk, Me., says: "I tried two doctors and both failed to help me. I had a bad stomach and did not think I would ever get well. My stomach would pain me severely at times, which I believe was due to gas forming on it. Sometimes my food would cause four stomachs. My liver was torpid. I had palpitation of the heart and if I walked fast my heart would beat rapidly and I would get all out of breath. I had hot flashes all over my body. I was extremely nervous and if excited would tremble like a leaf and have no control over my actions. Towards the last when I was so sick, my head ached over the eyes affecting the sight. I had frequent spells of weakness and would have to lie down and rest. I had neither strength nor ambition and did my work indifferently. I lost greatly in weight. I had been sick for several years when a friend recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People because they had helped her and I began to take them. It is wonderful how they helped me. I soon felt better and was so pleased that I continued their use until I was cured. I am willing to tell anyone of my cure and have recommended the pills to many people."

A new edition of the booklet, "What to Eat and How to Eat," is free on request. Send a postal for it to day and begin to cure yourself by following the directions it contains.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

Pig Be termed "handsome."

There is still considerable speculation as to just what the wireless signal "S. O. S." is when rendered in words or a phrase, despite the fact that it was explained by Marconi himself when he testified before the senate committee which is inquiring into the Titanic disaster.

They are simply arbitrary letters in the international code used as a signal of distress, and they mean that the vessel from which they are sent is in serious trouble and in need of immediate assistance.

They were, it appears, selected because they are the easiest to make and the most easily distinguishable. The characters used in making the letters are three dots, and in making the letter O three dashes, so that the S. O. S. signal is, according to what is called "Continental Morse," but which American operators refer to simply as "Continental," three dots, three dashes and three dots.

The same letters in the American Morse characters would be three dots, dot space dot, and three dot space dot. The S. O. S. signal superseded the C. Q. D. and was agreed upon at the international convention regulating wireless, which was held in Berlin shortly after the Republic disaster, the United States, by the way, not being a party to the conference up to the present time.

The letters C. Q. D. formed a Marconi general call, an order for every one within hearing to pay heed, and with the D. added meant danger, and for every one to keep out and not interfere with the sending of this signal, and the information which was to follow.

The letters C. Q. D. in Continental Morse are made up of dots and dashes as follows: Dash, dot, dash, dot; dash, dash, dot, dash, and dash, dot, dot.

In the American Morse the same letters are: Dot, dot, space, dot; dash, dot, dot, and dot, dot, dash, dot.

The S. O. S. signal, either in Continental or American Morse, is less complicated, more quickly and easily made, and more readily detected, when sent according to either system, than was the C. Q. D. hence the change.

Of the two systems American operators on land and wireless prefer the American Morse code, because it is so much faster, and competent operators have no trouble whatever with its spaced letters, which is one of the objections raised against it. It certainly is more musical, if there be any music in either, and in this respect, in the sound to the ear, it compares with continental. If time music does to a lively march.

Wireless operators must be able to send and receive by both systems before they are given a license.

MAJOR ARCHIE BUTT

It's mighty good to think of him upon the steamer's deck Face front to death with head erect and pistol drawn to check The rush of terror-maddened men, that women might be saved, It's good to think of Major Butt, and knowing what he braved It ought to make you love the Stars and Stripes a little more Than you have ever loved the red and white and blue before.

Your eyes are dim with tears today, you knew and loved him so, And yet above the pall of gloom, and shining through the woe His figure stands in brightness still. If you but look, you'll see Him measuring full length up to the man you knew he'd be: No trace of weakness in his soul, no coward spirit there. But ready to lay down his life, a little babe to spare.

It's good to think of Major Butt, with pride your cheeks should throb, Faster your pulses ought to throb at mention of his name: The spirit of your nation was the spirit he displayed As face to face with death he stood, unmoved and unafraid: And though you sadly mourn for him, your hearts must still rejoice That forced to choose 'twixt life and death, his was no coward's choice.

It's mighty good to think of him, he died as well became The spirit of America, and worthy of the name: And though you mourn him, as a friend, his death should make you feel The flag of freedom is the flag of manhood that is real: And though your breasts with grief are torn, and though your hearts are sore, It ought to make you love the Stars and Stripes a little more.

BILLERICA

The county commissioners are to hold a continued hearing in the town hall at Billerica on May 4 at 10 a. m. on the petition of the board of selectmen relative to the repairs and alterations of the Concord river, which spans the Concord river.

At the first hearing before the commissioners the selectmen stated that the repairs and alterations referred to were in the form of a new concrete bridge over the river at this point and the town requested aid and assistance from the county commission and the Bay State street railway. At a later hearing the Bay State company offered to pay for one-third of the proposed new bridge, if wide enough to accommodate double tracks.

The cost of the proposed new structure is estimated at $21,500 for a bridge 48 feet wide.

The Oakland Campers held their first social Wednesday night at Thiamas Tabot hall in North Billerica. Owing to the popularity of the members of the club there was a large attendance, and the affair proved to be a grand success both from a social and financial standpoint. Miner's orchestra furnished music for dancing and the party was in charge of William J. Morris and John J. O'Brien.
